Although many people have contributed to the production of this year's yearbook, Alex Lisman deserves special recognition. Alex not only designed both the cover and most dividers, but he also took on the difficult task of heading the photography section. He spent countless hours in this role taking photographs and organizing the construction of a dark room under the guidance of Mr. Peter Gardiner. Thank you.

HEADMASTER'S FOREWORD

A Headmaster's Report is written at the end of June after the hectic end of year activities which include four closing ceremonies. The Headmaster's address given at such ceremonies tends to summarize the school year and provide suitable material for the yearbook. I attended and spoke at each of the four ceremonies, and, indeed, being present at Junior, Middle and Senior School prize giving and the Grade 12 Graduation Ceremony is to attend four occasions each with a different focus and atmosphere. When I became Headmaster for the school year 1994/1995 my previous experience of life at S.M.U.S. had been centered almost exclusively on Senior School, so that there was much to be learned about the other two schools. Weekly visits to Junior School prayers and Middle School Chapel services soon brought about the realization that S.M.U.S. is a large and diverse community with differing needs for the various age groups.

The Junior School is "an amazing institution" if I may borrow the title of the book about St. Michael's School, written by its founder and first Headmaster Mr. Kyrle C. Symons. The Junior School represents the foundation of education at the school. At the Junior School family values are stressed and Mrs. Gaye Stone as Director and her highly professional staff can be well satisfied with their efforts and their contribution to the school at this formative stage of student development.

The Middle School now enjoys a magnificent facility and this year some excellent progress has been noted. As a Headmaster visiting mainly through Tuesday morning Chapel services it was the music which provided me with the signal that there is no shortage of talent. The highlight was probably the choir participation in the well published and much acclaimed David Foster Concert in December, an occasion which not only exposed our S.M.U.S. talent but also provided a memorable experience for the participants. I was sorry that Mrs. Marilyn Levitt decided to resign after seven years of devoted service as Director of the Middle School. Marilyn was totally committed to the Middle School and contributed much to its success. She deserves the highest praise for the job she did as Director. Very best wishes to Mr. Cliff Yorath as he takes on a one year appointment as Director of the Middle School. Mr. Yorath has been Deputy Director of Junior School so he makes a welcome acquaintance with many of his former students.

Moving to the more familiar Senior School, it has been a fine year as academics, athletics and fine arts continue to flourish at a high level. The university placements at the Grade 12 level suggest that S.M.U.S. students continue to gain places at interesting and varied post secondary institutions across North America. I congratulate Mr. Peter Tongue on his fine leadership and direction. I have known Peter for ten years now and share very similar philosophical and personal views, and so it was an excellent situation for me and, I hope, for Peter.

In some ways I remained in Admissions, for it is vital to recruit outstanding young people to S.M.U.S. My travels in Canada took me to the Interior of B.C., to Alberta and Toronto. In the United States I visited Seattle and Portland but this was really to maintain contacts with Alumni. The Alumni represent a vital part of the S.M.U.S. community and I look forward to further contact, not only as Director of Admissions but also in conjunction with Mr. Bob Snowden and Mr. Chris Spicer in their respective jobs as Headmaster and Director of Development where communication with alumni and potential new students is so important.

Particular thanks to the 1995 Grad Class and best wishes for the future. I wish Bob Snowden well in his new appointment and thank the S.M.U.S. community for the loyal and positive support I received this last year. It was a privilege to be Headmaster for the school year 1994/1995.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Oxford defines transition as: "A passing or change from one place, state, condition, etc. to another."

School life is characterised by transition.

Passing from Middle School to Senior School, students receive the keys to the entire Richmond Road Campus and eventually the city - and experience the responsibility which accompanies this freedom.

And as they pass from S.M.U.S. to the universities of their choice, each one holds a passport to the adult world.

The Graduating Class of 1994/1995 has been acknowledged and praised by the Faculty, for hard work and leadership. Parents are rightfully proud of the accomplishments of their daughters and sons.

On behalf of the Board of Governors, I congratulate these young women and men who are entering the period of transition to adulthood - independence and self-directed, lifelong learning.

"Pursue the pleasures that go with learning and make the soul fine with no alien but rather its own proper refinements, moderation and justice and courage and freedom and truth . . ." (Plato)

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

Producing a yearbook takes a lot of time, effort and attention to detail, but it also requires great patience and the ability to compromise. Your task is simple: produce a yearbook that reflects all aspects of school life. This task is easier said than done, as it is impossible to please everyone. At the beginning of the year, the yearbook crew sent out a questionnaire to all students to determine what changes needed to be made in the upcoming yearbook. The majority of students had three wishes: more candid, more colour (though they didn't like the idea of paying more for it!) and a better grad section. The yearbook crew set out to fulfill these wishes and have done so with much success. The crew, which met each Wednesday after school, consisted of Ivy Lam, Andrea Leung, Maggie Pang, Abraham Chan, Kyle Kirkham, Janice Lee, James Townley and Alex Lisman. This crew spent endless hours slaving away in room 36C and are to be commended for their efforts. They were both dedicated and efficient at finishing the task at hand and deserve much recognition.

Special thanks are also due to numerous staff members whose help was greatly appreciated. This group included: Mr. Hyde-Lay, Mrs. L. Winter, Mr. Spicer, Ms. Roth, Mr. MacKay, Mr. Skinner, Mrs. Skinner (for reminding Mr. Skinner!), Mr. A. Jones, Mr. Hannah, the Accounting Office and Mrs. Cook. Thanks also to Ailsa Lenk, for always making time to answer my questions and helping to collect the grad write-ups, and to Heather Hughes for all her help.

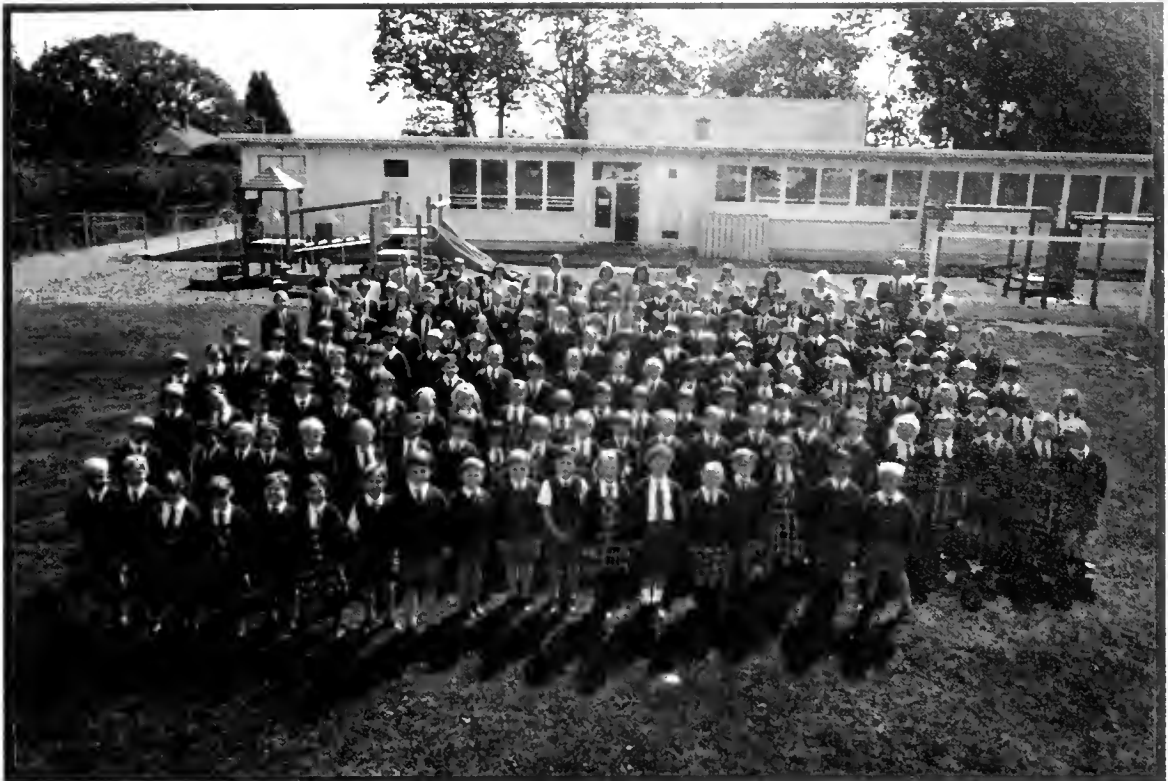

Many thanks also to Mrs. Nason for finishing the Junior School section on time, to Mrs. Richards, whose contribution to yearbook over the years has been endless, to James Townley and Alex Lisman, who designed the dividers, to Kyle Kirkham, who collected the advertising and who was responsible for financing the extra colour this year. Thank you all for your time and effort. To Mr. Smith, Commander Williamson and Mrs. McLeish, thanks for your support during those stressful times!

Lastly, I would like to further thank Alex Lisman, who headed the photography section and designed the cover, for all his help. Alex, unlike many people I have worked with this past year, came through when needed. He completed all tasks without having to be reminded and played a key role in the decisions that were made. Thank you so much Alex! Finally to everyone who contributed in anyway to the production of this yearbook, Thank you!!!

Director's Foreword

On the eve of the summer holiday, recalling the events and successes of the past school year poses a challenge! The summer term ended on a cheerful note with students anticipating their summer activities.

This year has been a truly positive one, and due to the outstanding group of students, the dedication of the teachers and the trust from the parents, the school seems to have run almost like clockwork. I say almost, as I certainly cannot claim we are perfect.

In addition to the academic programmes which the staff approach through multi media, the students have been exposed to a variety of educational experiences: Victoria Symphony, Vancouver Opera Touring Company, visits to the Art Gallery, Maritime Museum, Fort Langley, Sidney Spit, Thrifty's, CFB Equimalt, Goldstream Park, Safety Village, to name but a few. Several dramatic performances were presented, starting with the Annual Christmas Concert, followed by the Grade 4 "Magical MythteryTour", the Grade 5 French Cultural Evening, and the Grade 3 English Japanese play. Several students participated in the Victoria Day Parade, pulling the Dashi and beating the drums.

The school has received two wonderful gifts from the Parents' Auxiliary: the new climbing apparatus which the children adore, and more recently, a complete new sound system for the gymnasium. We deeply appreciate the effort and time that the members of the Auxiliary devote to raising funds to enrich the school life.

Again this year, we have been grateful for the parent volunteers who give their time so willingly in ways too numerous to mention.

This June, we pass on 40 students to the Middle School, almost fifty percent had entered the school in Grade 1 (a record year of Lifers). All the Grade 5 students will form the core for the Middle and Senior Schools as, although they don't realize it, their example will have a profound influence on the new students entering the school in the later grades. This is an exceptionally fine grade of boys and girls and one that we would love to keep. We will miss them but believe that in their future, they will make an outstanding contribution to the school.

The end of a school year often brings about change, and this June we pass on Mr. Clifford Yorath to the Middle School. We wish him luck in his new endeavour and are only sad, in that our new students may have to wait awhile before they will learn his amazing brown paper bag trick!

I am indebted to the entire staff whose loyalty, creativity, energy and undying enthusiasm make the school the success it is.

I would like to thank all our parents for their continuing support and last but not least, our students as they have contributed their heart, soul and mind to a truly smooth year.

My Best Friend

We like taking walks up and down the beach,
Especially in the summer when the sands turn pinky-peach.
We both like the hot a lot better than the cold, and when Timber picks a fight, I have to put the fight on hold.
I scold him when he's been terrorizing poor
Lemuixe,
And when he keeps on doing this, I feel like
I have the flu.
He comforts me when I'm feeling pretty sad,
Even though he's a rascal and 50 percent of the time bad.
But we're still friends, my dog and I.

We will be friends forever.

Why Leopards Have Spots And Ravens Are Black

In the time before time, Raven and Leopard were best friends. They ate together, played together, they even slept together. They played together every day. Then a horrible disease came and killed Raven's parents, but the same disease killed Leopard's parents. Raven who was very mad threw mud at Leopard. Leopard who was just as mad as Raven covered Raven in mud. For you see they both thought the other had caused the horrible disease. The mud's black colour never came off. So that is why Leopards have spots and Ravens are black.

How The Dog Got Its Bark

Once, in the days before Christ, there lived a dog who belonged to a very poor couple who had a daughter, Laramis (their daughter) loved to play with the dog who she loved so dearly. But there was just one problem, they could not communicate with each other for the dog made no sound except for the crunching of leaves under his feet when he ran.

This was a big problem because Laramis nor anyone else knew of his feelings. The only thing he could do was to pull away if someone was bothering him.

One cold day in winter when Laramis was playing with the dog, he suddenly collapsed. Laramis was very worried that her only friend would die so she called for her mother and father out to bring him into the house.

Once the dog regained consciousness he started to cough. Since the parents were poor they could not do anything about it. The cough would just not go away even when his illness had passed. And so, when he mated all the puppies were coughing and it was later called a bark.

Middle School Director's Foreword

(Speech delivered at Prize Day, June 16, 1995)

Madame Chair, Headmaster, Honoured guests, Board members, Parents, Faculty, Students and friends of St. Michaels University School. Welcome to our Annual Middle School Prize Day ceremony. It is customary on this occasion to summarize the events and achievements of the past school year and that will be done this evening by Mr. Wilson and Mrs. McCue. The headlines somehow gain a little more credibility when delivered by someone who works at arms length from the epicentre. It also provides me with an opportunity to hear about the highlights rather than speak or write about them myself.

During the third term, as Prize Day becomes more imminent, I begin to ponder the question of a Prize Day speech. A favorite pastime of our dear secretary, Ms. Booth, is to fill my in-mail slot with an immense volume of advertising and propaganda which she believes might get a reaction from me as it enters file thirteen. A few weeks ago, a brochure crossed my desk which garnered a second look and to Connie's surprise, I filled in the order card. I received the volume last week - just in time, I thought. The title "School Administrator's Public Speaking Portfolio" with model speeches and anecdotes. I checked the index and on page 161 found a speech entitled, "Communication between educators and the public" with specified audience as educators, faculty, adults and students. It read as follows: "As I look out upon this solid group of participating, on-line, hands-on educators, actively engaged in the contingencies of employing structured techniques of cognitive development to various strata of developmental groups within the contingencies of real-time extrapolation of the successful manipulation of resources, I perceive the variety of social interaction which allows for peer group assumption of maturity levels current with affective developments and interactive with goal oriented progress within the framework skill-manipulative orientation and perceptual computations." I had two recurring thoughts:

If many among you understood what I just said, then I have been misplaced in this job for 7 years. Secondly, if David Penaluna were still at the school, I would not have used this introduction because he would have explained it to me.

In fairness to the authors, this prepared speech did go on to ask forgiveness for the little joke but at this juncture I closed the book, repackaged it for shipping before my 30 day free trial period had expired and determined to expose you to my personal brand of rhetoric once again.

This has been a difficult year for all concerned at Middle School. I have always believed that old adage "time flies when you're having fun" but I have discovered that it moves at a pretty good clip when the road twists and turns. With maternity leave, teacher resignation and bully proofing to name a few the students have been faced with more than the usual challenges this year. But as I thought back over the past seven years, I was reminded that since the inception of Middle School, we have been survivors. Any institution which has packed up lock, stock and barrel and relocated as frequently as the Middle School has in as short a time span, (on two occasions in mid-year) and continues to attract share holders has got to be on a solid footing. How could we be anything but resilient? That is one of the delightful characteristics of young people - they adapt much more readily to change and weather storms with far less structural damage than we adults.

And that brings me to my decision to seek a different educational career path next year. I chose to be a teacher so that I could devote my time and energy to working with young people and I wish to do that fulltime again.

This was also a time to take inventory at Middle School, to look at what we have and what we have to offer. We have a facility which takes a back seat to no Middle School which I have visited in Western or Eastern Canada. We have a faculty who devote endless hours to offering the best and most varied programmes to the students and they are not content with the status quo but continuously seek to improve programmes and methods of instruction. They extend the students in Math, English, Science, Socials, Foreign languages as well as Art, Music, Drama, Physical Education, Computer, Library Research, Environmental Studies, and Current Events. I have never been a salesperson but I have thoroughly enjoyed marketing this package to prospective youngsters and their parents.

I have been gratified through this job in so many ways and leave it with no regrets. Quite the contrary - I have had the pleasure of meeting and working with hundreds of student and adult members of our school community. I have had support and trust beyond what any administrator could hope to receive, and your well wishes following the announcement of my recent decision are certainly appreciated. I have made mistakes, I haven't always pleased everyone but that's what life is all about. We take risks and we learn from our achievements and our errors. I have chosen to stay at St. Michaels University School, not because I fear a tight job market nor as some of our Grade 8 students happily suggested following the announcement, that I had won the lottery, but because I, like you, believe in this institution and wish to see it thrive and grow into the 21st century. My experiences on Strategic Planning, Long Range Planning, the Executive Management Team, the Task Force on Governance, the Teachers Certification Committee along with the day to day operation of Middle School have presented opportunities to discover, to be challenged and to look at diverse areas of this schools increasingly complex operation. I hope to put these lessons to good use with the challenge of the new Career and Personal Planning programme to be implemented this fall. In the interim, I will offer unconditional support to Mr. Cliff Yorath as he takes over the reins at Middle School and endeavour to make this transition as smooth as possible.

Under 13 Soccer - 1994

In October, 15 boys, 2 coaches and 2 parents set out from Victoria to participate in the 19th Annual Canadian Independent Schools Boys Under-13 Soccer Championships hosted by Upper Canada College in Toronto. Before the tournament started, the S.M.U.S. contingent had the opportunity to visit Niagara Falls, tour the N.H.L. Hall of Fame, ascend the CN Tower and stand on the glass floor 1850 feet above Toronto, play Q-Zar, and experience the wonders of the Ontario Science Center. In addition, a most interesting morning was spent at the McMichael Art Gallery in Kleinberg, Ontario.

As a team, the S.M.U. Boys far surpassed all expectations of their coaches. Led by their captain, Scott Brown, the team made it to the semi-finals of the championship round and eventually finished in third place out of sixteen teams. An outstanding accomplishment indeed! Throughout the tournament the boys never gave up, worked as a team, and forced their opposition to play their best. They proved themselves to be fine ambassadors for our school!

The Junior Girls' soccer season began last June when we selected the team of fifteen, started practices which continued twice a week through the summer, established a fundraising strategy and played exhibition games against Glenlyon-Norfolk school, our own Under-13 boys, and two community teams. On September 27, our preparation complete, we departed for Toronto to participate in the nation wide I.S.A. tournament that we had all been working toward.

Our week in Toronto as guests of The County Day School was fantastic - meeting and staying with the billet families, touring the Toronto area, meeting Canada's celebrity runner Charmaine Crooks, playing in the tournament, enjoying the closing ceremonies, the good-byes. It was a truly wonderful experience.

In the tournament, the girls lost their first game to the eventual winners (The Country Day School) 2 - 0. But we went on to win all four remaining games allowing only one other goal and earning the Division Championship (with medals and a banner to show for it).

On our return to Victoria the parents were waiting "with outstretched arms", and the girls erupted into their rally cheer - the creation of Ms. Roth:

*WE ARE SMUS, FORGET THE REST!
WE PLAY SOCCER; WE'RE THE BEST!
KICK THE BALL AND SHOOT TO SCORE!
SHOW THE OTHER TEAMS THE DOOR!
WATCH OUT WHEN WE'VE GOT THE BALL
ALL THE OTHER TEAMS WILL FALL!
NUMBER ONE IS WHAT WE ARE.
WE ARE SMUS AND WE'LL GO FAR!*

It would be remiss not to thank all the parents for their support, particularly, Delphine Cummings for her work on our handbook, Leslie Machan for organising the letter-stuffing fundraiser, Candy Reed for assuming the role of treasurer and Dr. Stephen Smith who was always there to assist with coaching. A final thanks to Kathy Roth for getting us to Toronto and back, and for inspiring us with words and leading our cheers.

Next year, we host the event. We will need lots of support. See you there!

A small but determined group of runners put up with rain, snow, sleet, and, I think, even hail during a very successful X-Country season. Training twice a week and racing once, we have enjoyed some excellent individual and team performances. The highlight of our season came in mid-March as we headed to Courtenay for the Island Championships. Congratulations to all those who ran so well and to Brian Moss for finishing an outstanding fourth among all grade 8 boys on the Island!.

Track & Field

As always we had lots of interest during the track and field season and once again there was ample opportunity for the athletes to take part in several different meets. Our grade 6/7 team performed brilliantly at the All-Schools relays as well as at both the VISAA and ISA Meets (all held at U.VIC's Commonwealth Track). Our grade 8 team did equally well at the Junior City Meets and those athletes who qualified headed to Port Alberni for the Island Championships. After a very tiring 18-hour day the team returned back to Victoria after some personal best performances. Thanks to all those who took part in the meets and congratulations on a fine season!

The grade 8 rugby team had an outstanding year in the I.S.A. competition. The team went undefeated, winning all eight league games and finishing the season with a thrilling 21 - 17 win over St. George's. I would like to thank Mr. Charles Burnett, who worked hard at making this such a successful season.

I would also like to thank Ms. Rees and her assistant Mr. Neil Allen for all their work with the grade 6 and 7 rugby teams. Both teams were very competitive in the I.S.A. Rugby Festival: grade 6 won their division and grade 7 came second. Well done!

This year's swim team enjoyed a great deal of success at all grade levels. The team was involved in four meets over the course of the season and performed most excellently at each one. The highlight of our season would have to be our repeat as winners at the Victoria Elementary Novice and Championships Meets held out at the Commonwealth Pool. Both are very prestigious meets in which twenty-one other local schools are involved.

I would like to thank all those swimmers who participated as well as the parents who braved those early mornings to get their children to the pool on time. Special thanks to Richard Wey for all his expert coaching!

The Spring field hockey season is short and sweet, but we had a very enthusiastic group of grade 6 and 7 girls and boys play over a 5-week period. The team played very well and improved a tremendous amount only losing once in league play against a powerful side from Gordon Head Elementary. At the fun season-ending festival held at Lansdowne School we again met Gordon Head in our final game with both teams undefeated. It looked as though it was headed for a tie, when, with less than one minute to go, the squad popped a beautiful goal past the sprawling keeper for the 1 - 0 victory! Thanks to all those who came out and played. It was great to have so much fun in a co-ed setting.

Time flies
With the passing of the seasons
The whisper of the willows
The whistling of the winds

The seed is planted and with much help
it grows and blossoms
until it is large and ripe

it is taken away
to be on its own

Water

Gushing in rivers of life,
It swims with the moon
Flows with the rocks,
It runs with the wind.

It supports and loves,
But it is a powerful dictator.
Harsh in its abundance,
Untame in its freedom.

It changes in journeys,
Of winter and spring.
A constant in life,
A constant in change.

Far Away

I feel so far away from here
My home I left,
I miss it dear
I miss my friends from long ago
Once I lived
So far from here
The mountains so high and the ocean
So near
I can hear the waves upon the shore
The more I think I miss it more.
For one to live so far
Away from their home they want to stay
But they must leave for now,
Not to know how their life will change.
So I really miss my home,
And I wish to return Home.

Growing up

Days full of confusion,
mystified by tears,
Standing in wonder,
thoughts all a blurr.
Hopes for tomorrow,
filled with great sorrow.
Getting older and wiser,
But still feeling small.
Dreams of a life,
treasured by others.
Education at its fullest,
But wanting to learn
even more.
Friends so important,
Facing trials and falls.
Never knowing what's to happen,
facing a new tomorrow.

Love is always there

when you are feeling scared or sad,
Love is there to help you.
When you are happy and glad,
Love is laughing with you.
When you are feeling tall and strong,

When you keep someone from doing wrong,
Love is beaming with you.
If you help someone find their way,
Love is there to guide you.
When with love you forever stay,

One in a million

When you think you're just part of a crowd
Play with your life and play it loud
For this you will be called a freak
But if you don't you won't be unique
Never forget this gift you're to get

Be yourself you might be surprised.

Growing Up

Growing up is sad,
Growing up is fun,
Growing up can also go too fast.

Growing up is meeting new people,
Growing up is learning new things,
Growing up is knowing the people,

Growing up is reaching new goals,
Growing up is finding new ways,
Growing up is looking back at how you once were.

Earth

As I look into the horizon,
I see a mountain,
Its jagged edges caress the sky,
I am at its mercy.

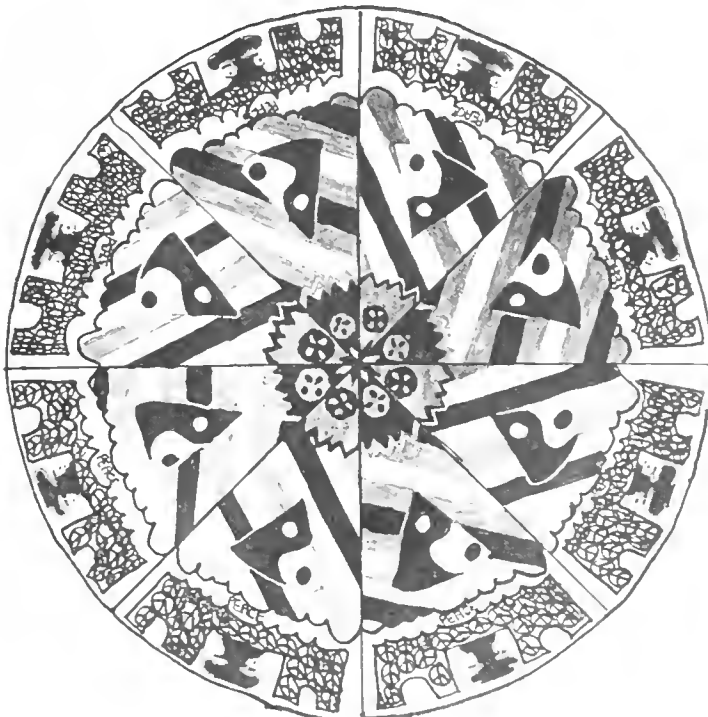

I am surrounded by earth,
I look North South East and West,
But all I see is earth,
I am trapped.

I walk up the side of the mountain,
With every step I take,
I know I am one step further,
To reaching the top.

I reach the peak,
My heart soars,
I breathe deeply,
And look down.

The mountain is at my mercy.

A Time to Remember

A fading memory, a forgotten place,
A picture remembered, an expression on a face.
A very small moment, captured
in time,
It stays with your heart, but fades from your mind.
An emotion you felt, a story recalled,
A moment of happiness, a person you saw.
They'll stay with you now,
They stayed with you then,
You'll never forget how,
where and when.

Middle School Orchestra

Middle School Programme

Strings: The string orchestra students had an active year of study, rehearsing and performing. The Grade 8s accompanied the traditional hymns of Remembrance Day at Junior School in November. The Grade 7s played at the Christmas Bazaar and in the same week an ensemble of Grade 8s performed alongside the choir at the Ocean Pointe Resort. At the Evening of Art and Music, one highlight was a performance of the Pastorale from Corelli's Christmas Concerto. Also, the Lafayette String Quartet (from U.Vic.) gave a concert and workshop to the students in February. This was a memorable day for everyone. The Grade 8 quintet, attired in French Impressionist costume, added eloquent sounds to the French/Art Evening at the Junior School! Music Festival participation this year included the cross-grade string group presentation of a piece written by Vivaldi. This was a successful musical choice and the students performed it again at the Prize Day Ceremony. A visiting artist of note in the final term was violinist Martin Beaver. He played for the students, talked with them and taught them in a rehearsal format during the course of the afternoon. It has been a fine experience to work so intently on musical scores, especially with this year's graduating class. M. Smith.

Concert Choir: The concert choir were invited to appear with David Foster in the finale of his show at the Memorial Arena. Our rehearsal with David Foster, televised by CHEK T.V. at the Middle School, set the mood and expectations for the show. The show, attended by 5000 people, was broadcast by C.B.C. television just before Christmas. The choir combined with the String Ensemble for the performances of "Gloria" by Vivaldi and Bach's "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" at our Carol Service and were invited to perform at the Ocean Pointe Resort. In the third term, the choir performed "Can you feel the love tonight" and, at Prize Day, "Say it with a Song."

Honour Band: This extra-curricular group of 55 selected band students represented the school at the Greater Victoria Performing Arts Festival, where they were awarded a "Very Good" rating for their performance of the Chorale Prelude "For the Beauty of the Earth" and also, "Excellentia Overture". Our annual pilgrimage to the Junior School culminated in a rousing performance of "The Sounds of Sousa" under the baton of guest conductor (much to the delight of the Junior School students) - Mr. Cliff Yorath!

Brass Ensemble: The quintet (J. Andrachuk, R. Bodrug, H. Orr, A. Hutchison, E. Goldstein) performed at the Carol Service and at Ocean Pointe Resort. The students also gave three performances in Chapel and scored 90% at the Greater Victoria Performing Arts Festival.

Stage Band: The band consisted of 26 students, who attended early morning extra-curricular rehearsals. Concerts included the Evening of Art and Music, the Christmas Bazaar and the Middle School Open House.

Visiting Groups: The trombone section of the Victoria Symphony ("Four of a Kind") provided an educational and stimulating performance in Chapel. The entire school attended a performance by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Brian Jackson, at the University of Victoria. Soloist Jonathan Crow did a sterling job on the last movement of the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto. J. Reid.

Grade 7

B.R: A. Robertson, Mr. Alford, M. Lin.
F.R: E. Woodward, J. Randle, M. Wilson S. Holberg,
A. Marshall.

Grade 8

B.R: Mr. Goodwin, B. Coleman, M. Henri-Bhargave, R. Greenwood, A. Larsen, E. Grant, S. Hayes.
F.R: C. Reid, R. Sheng, M. Boyd, C. Wilson,
C. Callendar.

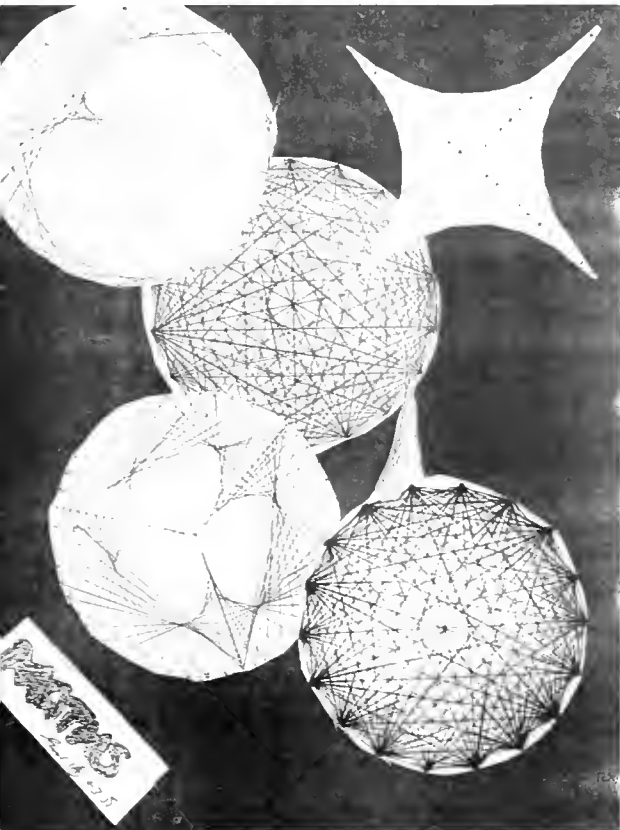

The mathematicians had a very successful year and the Grade 6, 7, 8 students are to be congratulated. In grades 6 and 7 the team was 10th in B.C. in the CNML, and 1st in B.C. in the Gauss competition. This included two perfect scores for Scott McBride and Angela Marshall.

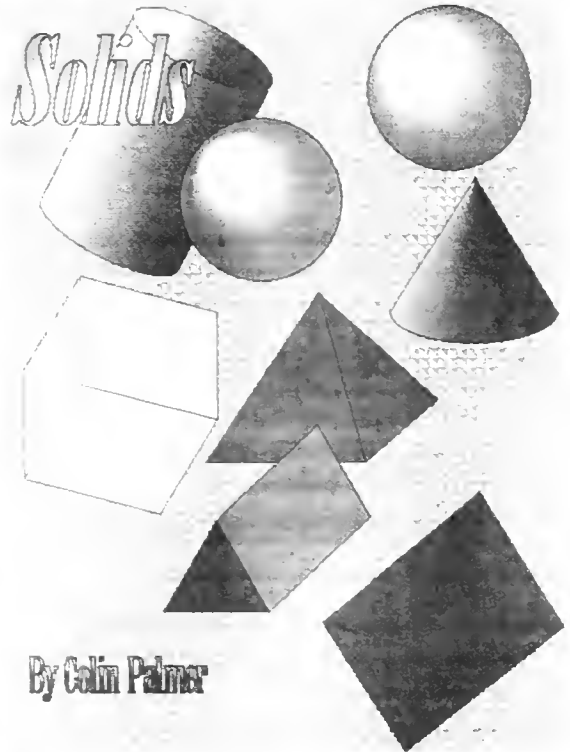

In Grade 8 Rebecca Sheng is to be commended for a perfect score in the Gauss contest and for being outstanding in the ATPAC and CNML. competitions.

Mathieu Boyd was close behind Rebecca and is also to be congratulated for some high scores.

DIRECTOR'S FOREWORD

Madam Chair of the Board, Board Members, Honoured Guests, Faculty, Students, Parents, Alumni, Friends of the School, Ladies and Gentlemen. It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the Senior School grade nine, ten and eleven Prize Day Awards. As Director of the Senior School, it has fallen to me to address you today, while Mr. Rob Wilson will have a similar opportunity at the Graduation Ceremonies next week. This suits me very well, for it provides me with the opportunity to Roast the retiring Rob Wilson without riposte. I hope the English Department appreciates the alliteration. To roast, by dictionary definition is, to cook by exposure to open fire or nowadays usually in an oven or in the sense I prefer, to expose the victim (for torture) to fire, ridicule, banter or chaff. I think that today I'll stick with the banter. Rob is well known for his own ability with words, on the cutting edge at times, but even he was struck for words early on in his role at School as Headmaster back in September. He walked into my office and said, "Well Peter, I've been intimidated for the first time in my new job!" I assumed that he had had his first meeting with an upset parent on his way into school, but in fact he had just given his first address to the Junior School. He said "I was petrified of stepping on one of those Kindergarten kids, they're so small. I asked a question in the assembly and they all put their hands up to answer. After I received an excellent reply, I continued my talk and realized that all of the hands were still up. I wasn't sure whether they were waiting to answer the next question or whether they all wanted to go to the bathroom." Rob recovered from this early trauma and managed to put all aspects of his job into a global, school perspective. It was with some reluctance that Rob took on his position for one year, and some members of the community had some concerns. I would like to go on record as saying that the leadership that Rob Wilson has shown in the school had led us to one of the most productive, but perhaps more important happiest and most comfortable school years in recent history. Rob, Thank you. What will he be remembered for? He has certainly left his mark with the staff and students alike, as it has been ordained that next year the school year will be one week longer. Mr. Wilson will be remembered?

This will enable the Prize Days for the whole Senior School to be combined, something that many of the teachers have been yearning for. I hastily add not to save them two trips to the University Centre but rather because they feel that the younger students no longer have role models to emulate as academic and school award winners, as well as not knowing where the Grads are all heading off to next year. To whet your appetites, therefore, let me describe some of the major awards given to Grade XII. The Ker Cup is awarded to the top student demonstrating scholarship, athletics, leadership and character and is the premiere award. The Nation Bowl is the Citizenship Award to the student who has best demonstrated all the qualities that you would look for in your most supportive person. Someone that you would like as your next door neighbour.

The Groos Salver is awarded to the student who has made the biggest contribution towards Outside Community Service, and this year we have a new award, the Brian Dyer Award, for a major contribution to community service within the school. In addition, there are awards given in all academic disciplines. The sporting trophies for Best Female and Male Athletes and most Sportsmanlike athlete have already been awarded at the highly successful and most enjoyable Athletic Banquet two weeks ago. In addition there are trophies for Music, Art and Drama. In other words, all facets of the school are represented in these awards.

Back in October, the school underwent a Ministry evaluation to ensure that we were meeting the requirements for accreditation. There is always a sense of amusement when the men and women from the ministry come for a visit, although there is a serious side to it. In the final debrief, I asked the Chair of the Evaluation committee what the trademark of this school was, in his opinion. He said that the teachers had a real inner pride in their subjects and that somehow this seemed to be transferred to the students so that it was not something that was imposed from the outside but something that grew on the inside. This real passion for all areas of school life is what makes this school so successful. Sometimes these passions clash - usually at my office door. It is inevitable in a school that is so busy and productive that teachers want their time quota to create the best results possible in all areas of endeavour.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my colleagues for their dedication, commitment and passion as the school could not be successful without them.

Much success has been gained academically this year and although there were some concerns expressed about the present graduating class two years ago, they have come through with flying colours.

In September the Grad class will be spreading their wings across North America to fourteen different Universities in Canada and just as many in the United States.

Last year, I described this year's grad class as diverse, enthusiastic and involved and this they have certainly been. They have been central to much success in many areas. Ten sporting teams made Provincial Championship Finals with once again, seven finishing in the top ten. The senior girls field hockey team led the way with a third place finish following a sudden death shoot out loss in the semifinal. They retained the Island Championship, however, for an unprecedented ninth consecutive time. The sports season was characterized by close encounters and narrow losses, often by a one point or one goal margin. Nevertheless, much was accomplished and I am pleased that most students in the Senior School played for a sports team at some time during the seasons of play.

The fine arts programme continues to flourish with the awarding of 'Laureate' colours for the second time. The Art Department, inspired by last year's Chapel mural, has continued to impress with outstanding exhibitions and, not to be outdone, this year's Art 12 class will be presenting its own mural to the school, to be displayed in the Library next year.

The music has at times been breathtaking. We are blessed with a wonderful string orchestra and choir supported by a selection of fine bands and creative musicians capable of writing their own string quartet, bass ensemble and full band music.

The pinnacle is perhaps the musical, when musicians, artists, actors and dancers combine. This year 'The Gondoliers' was a most challenging show extremely well performed, and it is most satisfying to see the students performing with such grace and aplomb as well and clearly enjoying the experience.

Similar excellence was seen in the grade XII production of 'The Love of the Nightingale', another difficult piece, superbly presented.

The grade XI's followed with two demanding plays 'Playing for Time' and 'Our Town', very well performed under difficult conditions but accentuating our needs for a good performing arts facility.

A final lead that the grade XII's have shown this year is in showing appreciation for the work that their teachers, mentors, coaches and peers have done for them. A simple Thank you is all that is required and yet it is so often overlooked. This year's Grads have said Thank you and it is much appreciated.

Joel Whitehead, who came to replace Hedda Thatcher on a one-year contract, is the only faculty member to leave the Senior School this year, perhaps an indication of the good year it has been, but I would like to add my appreciation to Margaret and Colin Skinner who have decided to take a one year leave of absence to enable them to recover from what has been a long intense run of teaching and shows throughout the school year and summer season for as long as I can remember. Our best wishes for a wonderful, relaxing year.

We are all very much looking forward to the arrival of our new Headmaster, Mr. Bob Snowden, and having met him over the 'Hoe-Down' weekend, the staff feel very comfortable and confident that he will do a fine job. He is taking over a very impressive and productive school, and I for one look forward to a great future.

I started in the position of Director three years ago, when the present grade XI class were in grade nine and I am very much looking forward to working with them next year and seeing them gain much success over the course of their last year in the school. Thank you.

Mr. Peter Tongue
Director of the Senior School

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Honoured guests, ladies and gentlemen, members of the faculty, and fellow graduates:

I am extremely honored to represent the S.M.U.S. graduating class of 1995, but I regret that since I have never graduated before, I am in a state of emotional shock and don't know how to express in words the thoughts that must be going through the minds of such dramatic, individuals and wonderful people that have been my family for the last four years.

But I think that it is fair to say, we are all overwhelmed in our excitement. Overwhelmed, first of all, with the incredible amount of knowledge we have acquired that we are soon going to have to learn to apply to the real world. We know how to find the height of an image in a convex mirror. We can recount the Schleiffen Plan in our sleep. We know what a juxtaglomerular apparatus is.

Honestly, we have been given a phenomenal education, and this we owe to our teachers. I remember a composition assignment in elementary school that said, "Write about a teacher you admire". And back then kids always said, "What admire a Teacher!" But now we could write a book on them, the never-ending cesspools of devotion and knowledge that are our teachers. Thank you for teaching us about the world.

Next, we are overwhelmed because we know that over the last four years we have unintentionally learned about life.

Yes, something hit me the other day when a friend was driving me home after an intense math study session, after the last day of classes. A typical thought, a thought I'd had countless times before, flashed through my mind of walking to Spanish class and peeking into Ms. Roth's English class on the way, just to see who I could see in there and it was such a routine frivolous image but I realized, I would never do that again: It's all over.

The biggest thing in a young person's life - school is over. Nothing this huge has ever been accomplished before in our lives. We are about to go through the most significant transition period we have probably ever experienced.

I think we are just starting to realize that when we look back on our high school years, we're not going to remember the definition of a derivative, and we're not going to care whether we got 95% on a chemistry exam, and we're going to realize that making the top ten list, or getting a French prize or making the rugby team isn't what all this has been about. What we're going to remember is the comfort of talking with friends in the quad at recess, blasting the Carmina Burana from a green tent at the top of the gym during the grad sleep out, the times we've stayed up in each others' rooms crying and laughing. We've learned that after you take a bio exam you celebrate with cheese cake and coffee, brewed on a bunsen burner and sipped out of a 500ml graduated beaker. And that one thing you must do in life is travel around the world - Mrs. Skinner insists she didn't use logs or calculus once during her journey.

Right now I would like to make a presentation to the school from the grad class. Last year, Mr. Jones' Art 12 class donated an incredible mural to the chapel, and this year the Art 12 class is proud to present "The Library Mural". A few months ago our art class had a contest to design a mural that was to fill a big empty space in the library. By a landslide, we chose Johnny Chao's design, and now I will ask Johnny Chao and Ailsa Lenk to unveil the masterpiece. Johnny chose the image of St. Michael himself to represent us, and the mountain of books behind him is acutely appropriate for the Barker Library. On behalf of the entire grad class, the Art 12 students are honored to leave this mural to the future graduating classes of SMUS, and we hope that St. Michael looming down over the kids from a high wall will be very inspiring.

Now, parents and houseparents, who have supported us here, you have given us an experience we are proud of and you have watched us grow into stronger people. We thank you for your encouragement and care. We love you.

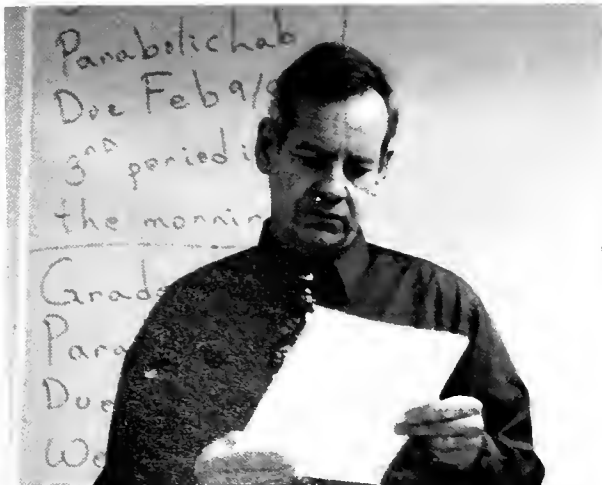

And grads, I hope we will all thank each other now so that we never regret that we didn't. We made it. The biggest thing we've ever known is all memories now.

I will leave you with a quote that my mom, who gave the valedictory address for her class of '68, has given me:

When we come to the edge of all the light we have known, and take a step into the darkness of the unknown, we can be sure that one of two things will happen: either there will be something solid for us to stand on, or we will learn to fly . . .

Jennifer Appleton

One upon a time, a girl named Jen (known also as pooppy and apples) experienced a number of awesome memory filled years - twelve, one after the other. Her favorite memories include: BBall trips, Senior FHockey B.C's, 16th birthday with buds, Lenny Kravitz concert, Summer of '94, 1st Grad car rally, B.C.P-C.P-P.B. max, Shaq-Rouge, tequila night, the garage, Spring break '94, years with L.W and L.Y, Mexico '95, dwarves, boys basketball, J. River, skinny-dipping, TC's office, midnight-highway, Sam's Deli. She thanks all her friends for being there along the way, especially: KE, KG, SO, AW, JF, EB, and her mom and dad. Jen looks forward to the next stages in her life but will always remember those special twelve years.

Tim Arthayukti

Timmy began his presence at SMUS in Grade 11. As quickly as it began, it ended. It has been as good as it gets at St. Mikes. The good times and the bad times, although mostly good, are now history. Parties at various places with various people in and out of SMU. Fun crowd! Thanx TA. When the great times came his way, Timmy would be there to enjoy the ride. He leaves with good academics and fond memories (Kravitz Concert). Great moments with guys and gals. To my friends, you know who you are, it's been fun, see ya kids later.

Jong-Taek Ban

Wonder of wonders a miracle of miracles! J.T is finally done with high school. A small Korean boy came to SMUS in the fall of 1991. He was a little older than anyone else but J.T did not have any problem fitting into his new environment. J.T was a rather quiet boy until he went on the Japan music trip. After that trip, he was not the J.T we used to know. He went nuts! (in many ways). If one wanted to find him during school, he or she would see him running between Challenor, School House and his boarding house with his books and trombone. He was everywhere! He even had an interest in musicals. In H.M.S Pinnafore, he was only a chorus, dancing and singing in the corner of the stage, but suddenly he became a tailor in Fiddler on the Roof singing his title song "Wonder of wonders miracle . . ." In Gr. 12 he became a king (a fake one) in the play Gondoliers. Though he is only 5'8, he has managed to become head boy and has charmed the entire school. You will be truly missed by all. Good Luck!

Emma Batey

High school, Hmmm . . . the chicks, the juice, the boys, Gr. 9 Halloween was smokin, Pouge and Fairhurst we love U2. Benny (of B.B.B.A.T.M.T) became a mermaid. "Is my pony tail straight?", Wex, safe tripping C.C, "The moons full and the pavements not cold." The bustop, bush and store. Some people call me a spacy cowboy, titanic woman strikes again! Mute Grover, the toad, the puppies, Summer on Hornbey with Grover and Bob. Getting down Mt. W (do not let me make direct eye contact with the snow!) Getting married at Cicconnis, you smell like a H.H. All nighters with 'O' and P.B (big dew commin' atchew) "You've gotta start on the inside and work your way out", thanks Im. To Bisc, 'O', J.S, S.O, E.K, D.F, M.G, A.W, K.E, J.A, A.G, Spud, N.G, Im, B.N, Sperry, C.P, R.P, J.F, M&G, and big sis' Lish thanks for dancing in a ring around the sun. I ate my broccoli and rode Casey Jones train. All the worlds a stage keeping playing my friends . . . Bye love Ems.

Philip Bazzard

Philip "Pip" Bazzard came to SMUS in Gr. 8 as a skinny blonde rascal from the outer edges of Salt-spring. With his good manners, great academic ability and excellent athletic skills, Pip's future was bright at SMUS. However the temptations of boarding life proved to be too strong and Phil lost his focus. A member of the Boulton buds, Pip was a true boarder throughout his years at SMUS. He was always true to his friends, offering his food, dorm, intelligence and anything that was reasonable. A valuable member of all sporting teams, Pip was predominantly regarded for First XI soccer and the Dogs of War rugby. Bazzard with fellow Salt-springer R.I, proved to be too much for local cricket chaps as they destroyed all opposition. In Gr. 12, under the guidance of R.S, B.D, E.F, R.I and S.C, Pip ended a long quest and proved he was a man. Pip will always be remembered for his 20/20 vision and amusing but logical reasoning. Cheers to Pip. Your Bud, Ryan

Neal Bhagwanani

I don't have much to say about this school but I am glad I am finished. I look forward to next year because I can finally wear what I want and grow some facial hair without being bugged about it by someone with an English accent! I would like to thank J.W, J.D, C.C, C.R and of course Bacards for all the slammin times. On a serious note I would like to thank CBW and especially the BCL for always being there for me. Thanks to the Els who passed the 60 with me. Just remember an apple a day keeps the doc away.

Gabriel Borzoni

Gabe became a smurf in grade 8. He was originally shunned because of his Ralph Lauren-free wardrobe and love of neon colours; but was eventually accepted as he learned the twisted ways of the school. Gr. 9 = downward spiral = underneath a bridge with D.S. and B.G. ('nuff said.) Gr. 10 = turning point = debating + great greenhouse experiment with D.C. and Pinafore prancing. Gr. 11 was somewhat more interesting (you guys are SO selfish!) Gabe had a prestigious role in "Fiddler" (Man #1), and probably is best remembered for wailing "Duckling, Duckling" and "Who wants to kiss a corpse?" in O.C.G. In Gr. 12 he discovered his secret passion geology, found friends in fellow Geo-Trio members A.V. and G.D. Gabe is following the masses to UVic where it is rumoured (not true) that he will pursue a geo-degree. He will miss: Orbo, Il Duce, and all the lunch hour b-timers. He would miss the rest of you too, but you're not going anywhere. Oh Well.

Duncan Calver

Few will decorate themselves in the future. I like Kiwis and Donuts for dress. Sometimes crazy, always eccentric, usually passive. Ahoy Capitaine! I was n'eer a murderer. About 90% of fish in a school will actually follow, 9.1% think. 0.9% think and lead, think I'll just kick my feet real hard and see where I get with Moby Dick! So long, Armstrong
"True Hunting's over, No Herds to follow. Without game men prey on each other. The family weakens, by the bites we swallow!"

Alexander Cameron

Sacha, from Victoria, has learned to practice two characteristically Victorian virtues, playing soccer and drinking tea during cricket intervals, and to cope with the schizoid tendencies associated with being a day student living in residence. Next year Sacha intends to study Fine Arts at UVic. He wishes to thank all the people that made his time at SMUS memorable.

Sheila Campbell

Sheila began her academic career at SMU with such intense ambition that she fainted in the hall and awoke in the arms of a knight. In grade 11, her intensity subsided somewhat, however her accident prone side shone through. She ended up costing the chemistry department the equivalent of a bomb's worth of plutonium because of everything she broke. Some of Sheila's fondest memories came from the many sports tours she has taken part in. She was mortified when JN decided to tango with a waiter at Earls. Later, for revenge, Sheila washed JN's hair in the sink, left soap in her eyes, and shoved her into the hall wearing only her underwear. Sheila was an ace player on the field hockey team, we have just one suggestion: take into account the weather conditions before you run to score the goals. NEVER let Sheila drive, she still isn't sure about her lefts and rights. JN remembers White Spot at 5.45am in pyjamas. Sheila's only regret drove a yellow Honda Accord.

Barbara Carr-Harris

Baa (or Bus) came to SMUS in Gr. 7 until Gr. 9. She then took two years, Gr. 9 and Gr. 10 out to experience public school life. Due to a mishap in Gr. 11 she made a narrow entry back to SMUS for her Grad year. It almost happened again at the beginning of the year with R.J, A.L, D.W + A.I but A.M and gang saved the day. She then took to camping in Peanut in a field with S.G, R.M + S.E. Tammy, A.H, C.H, D.W, A.C, J.Z never forgot how full that fridge was. A.H and C.H, G.M.C.B forever (off the continent is Best-Italians + Russians) A.L stay away from brown bunnies and coughing. J.E trances are often bad situations, and twinkies taste bad anyway: R.M never eat squires again. Popcorn, no time "May I put my arm around you again?" Oh my Boo bea Funckin. Don't be silly put a . . . Why you laugh? What's up what's up wit you. James Wool is good too. Don't let him wait for the bus next time. So you love . . . Never think of me like a mento. Barb is going to London next year on the SWAP exchange. Keep in touch guys . . .

Kelvin Chan

Kel (aka Kelvin, Calvin, Chelvin, Kelvin plus hundreds of other variations) came from St. Andrew's to join the big happy family at SMUS in Gr. 8 along with Ernie and Josh. His decision was a tough and sometimes reluctant one, but one he wouldn't regret, thanks to the company of A.V. His many controversial debates over his endless supply of milk (from cows, Kev), Kelvin's excessive obsession with grape juice and his philosophy on where the "light syrup" in fruit cups come from never failed to arouse even the most intellectual brains. His main claim to fame in his career at SMUS involved a tennis ball and a toilet bowl. Use your imagination. He will always be remembered as one of the founders of "The Hole", along with E.S and K.L, which has attracted a considerable number of members since its initiation, and continues to grow. He wants to say a loud salutations to all that have crossed paths with him, and to those that haven't - silence . . . Later Bud

Johnny Chao

Johnny, a participant of the Duke of Edinburgh award, has the greatest artistic talent SMUS has ever encountered. He is involved in a diversity of volunteering for both inside and outside of the school. Johnny is the pet to many faculties of our school. To our surprise, Johnny is good in tennis and badminton, unlike his usual habit in class: sleep, since he knows everything from last year. Johnny often makes people wonder, "What is he doing in our school?" since he skipped twenty grades already: is he trying to become a threat to our top scholars. If you ever wonder why the watermelon in Brown hall runs out immediately after 5:00pm you should ask Johnny. Special thanks to C.C, N.C, S.W, B.G and most important S.T & M.H.

Wayne Chen

Wayne was dumped straight into the old Harvey House when he first came to SMUS from Taiwan as a shy, but well-mannered, little grade sixer. With hardly any knowledge of the language spoken here, he managed to live through his first year in the same room with seven roommates ranging grades four to ten. At the same time, his famous line was "I don't understand!" Eventually, Wayne picked up English to an 'understandable' extent and was awarded prefectship in grades 8, 11, 12 for his leadership. After Harvey House and ATCO experience in Gr. 9, he ended up in Symons House, rooming with the head of house J.T.B, for his last two years at boarding. He'll always remember late night feasts and tetris contests (to decide who's got the dishes) with J.T. Wayne perfected his badminton skills to an unreachable stage by applying the "no look" technique from his favorite other sport, basketball. However, in Gr. 12, hanging with M.C has become more popular than obsessive basketball evenings. Wayne'll miss his seven long years at SMUS: pillow fights in H.H, feeling "so-o-loan" while J.T talks on the phone, and being fond of M.C. Everytime we walk by the couch in Winslow's foyer, we'll always remember him.

Conroy Cheng

Conroy is from Hong Kong. He came to SMUS in Gr. 9. He enjoys playing snooker with J.W, A.W, B.C, B.L. He will always remember: "10" . . . "25" . . . "Yum!" . . . "ZZZ!!!!". He can be found in his bed . . . sleeping right? . . . this "King of Hooky" managed 6 more long weekends than everyone else, including a pre-springbreak, one-week holiday to Hong Kong!!

Steven Choi

Steven arrived at SMU in December, 1993 after suffering for three years at South Delta. Originally from Seoul, Korea. Steven followed in the footsteps of brother, Eddie who graduated in 1993. He joined the "Korean Roller-Blading Society" with JY and TK and played sweet notes on the sax, with Mr. McKay's swinging band. He has kept BC Tel in business for 3 years (don't tell his mom!) calling his soulmate KA in Seoul and has a well-earned reputation as "the Harvey House cook" (only after midnight). Steven departs for U. of Western to join Eddie and study Commerce. He will miss Mrs. G and her advice, Golden Bamboo's food, and the camaraderie of Brown Hall and plans to bring #1 son back to a reunion (That's commercial planning!) We know you'll have a great future, Stevie!

Wooje Choi

Wooje, the 4 foot Korean wonder arrived at SMU in Gr. 9. With his patented Kimchi smell & little man charisma, this refugee from the metropolis of Seoul Korea quickly adapted into the boarding life. Knowing little about the language & ways of the Canadians, little man was quickly taught the essential four letter words and perverted outlook on life with late night sessions with J. Yang. Wooje has come a long way since his boat ride across the Pacific to freedom, from a little silent boy, Wooje transformed into a loud obnoxious punk and sucked his way to Head of Barnacle House. Although Wooje only weighed a respectable 120 pounds his inner strength was showed on the rugby field with his gruelling tackles. The greatest power is not physical strength, but comes from the soul and mind of the beholder-Sa-boo Kimchio His giggles will be sorely missed by the many close friends which he has made during his stay at SMU. Good luck in whatever you do.

Vicky Chu

Vicky, (known to some as Fu), will graduate despite numerous threats to her life; Physics class especially. Her injuries include a bloody cut to her head from a rock, a sprained ankle (those darn steps), strained neck muscles from skiing the wrong way up, and a couple of lumps on her head from Mazuch's yellow van throughout her years at SMUS. Vicki likes to ski; or maybe we should say she likes to torque from a vertical position to a horizontal position, consume much kinetic and potential energy and create much sound energy while travelling down incline planes with  $u = 0.00$ . We are all waiting for Vicki to design t-shirts for PWHAT and PHWJEEC clubs. Memories will definitely include ADC and maybe even Bert and Ernie, let's just hope she doesn't find herself lost behind buildings again . . . And don't forget about SD at the car rally. Brrr . . . We love ya . . . LoNg LiVe 10rD kRishNa BuNs!!

Andrew Crawford

Andrew emerged from the depths of the public school system and came to SMUS in Gr. 11. He feels as though these last two years of his scholastic career have been two of the more interesting ones. He fondly remembers the trips up to Whisler, hot tubs with superstars, snowmen X2 with T.S and "tree" skiing with J.Z. Sleeping on the kitchen floor and J's were also nifty additions to his experiences at SMUS. Crawf doesn't have any spare time because he's too busy with his hobbies. This skier/surfer is a world renowned car dust artist (R.M.), he feels his somewhat endless array of excuses keep the data centre entertained. "Punpkins and Mailboxes" in Seattle with D.C was one of Andrew's favorite extra-curricular activities over the last two years. Andy hopes to just hang around in Victoria next year up at UVic, he will eventually become a successful something or other.

Erin Cristal

Scottsdale, Arizona. Hollywood, here we come! Loft. What is it with them tight clothing? Pencils in pockets. Sunchips with Glass door. It's Xmas on our planet. Mustard shoes. 3lbs of bulk honey. Peaches. I think I am going to go get wet. Saltspring. Night-swimming at Balmacara, water rugby. The boat. Copius quantities of dilute water. Tuesday night. Space girl. Boys who fall upstairs. Little boys. Is that an apple tree? Football in the dark. You're our favorite. No more handmade clothes. Cream-cheese and toast. Teens in Togas. Trek down Bear Mt. June is jammin month. 2-in-1-nights. I don't go to Madison High . . . Brutal. $5 call to Tai Kwan Do. Are you ready? Just me and another guy . . . Tu _____ esté cuelga. The chair. Super-bon. Carmanah. John's. Coffee. Erin has 6 holes. The backseat of a Volvo as an afghan, no doubt. Mazeltov; lechain.

David Crothall

As a wee nine year old he entered this place that was to be his home for the next eight years. As he matured he developed a great and long lasting relationship with his pal John (JD). One night, while out with his good pal John he found what was to be the next best thing to John and its name was Fu. One night, Dave, Jake, and John were out having a gay old time when a fat little piggy on wheels pulled up, he made them blow and Harvey House fell down. So after eight years at SMU Dave really only learned one thing "trust John".

Bawo Daibo

Bo Jackson will play football again. The world is mine and  $E = mc^2$ .

Graham Daniel

Gram fled Uplands Elementary School and landed here at SMUS in Gr. 7. Throughout his years at SMUS, Graham has entertained us all musically with his trombone, and athletically on the soccer and rugby fields. To date, Graham has provided us with his chipmunk smile in all of the yearbooks, and if all goes well this grad photo won't be a disappointment to us. By Gr. 12, Graham was an elite member of the annoying yet intellectual "Geo Trio" including A.V and G.B. He also travelled with the group of fine young men A.M, A.Z, G.H.G, S.D who always headed aimlessly in any direction which eventually ended up heading in the right direction and could often be found running around like maniacs, "sir what?" Oh well Gray, keep the smile, it will be your success. Graham will probably end up doing something that has 'Geo' in it. See you at the car lot Gray!!!

Sarah Danzo

"Red sky at night; green light; farmer take flight" - M. Springer

Sarah, Jice, Dadada arrived at SMUS in Gr. 5 disguised as a tall fat kid with pink plastic glasses. After establishing a wide circle of no friends, she pursued her academic career until Gr. 8 when she bonded with C.T during a social studies project. The summer after Gr. 10 brought a trip to Europe with H.F that altered her psyche - "Hannah, why is everyone staring at us?" By Gr. 11, the ladies emerged with A.I, H.F, O.R and A.V and there was many a midnight soiree - watch out for happy men in pink shirts and phallic vehicles. Sarah will always remember cheap thrills, french videos, 80's dancing in Helen, Gumpy, baked cheese, Gabés hand, buttercream, and the Ronco food-dehydrator. Next year she will probably be found making abrasive remarks at Vassar, Queen's, or McGill.

Scott Duguid

Scott, Scooter, Doogs. 5 years ago this young gentleman left the looming metropolis of Eston, Sask. (known for the tremendous traffic) and joined the loving society of SMUS. Throughout his years at SMUS, Doogs was known for his shyness and digging deep canyons with his feet. Scott was also a part of a wandering gang which included: A.M, G.H-G, A.Z, G.D, a fine bunch of young men who patrolled the campus to make sure everything was still in order. By the time Gr. 12 came around, Scott was definitely the King of Relaxation, and never seemed to miss an ounce of sleep during all those spares. He could also be found lying on the floor in many different houses silently sleeping, dreaming of sugarplums, and why he was lying on the floor. Scott's future right now is in a big ball of dust. So whatever he does he'll definitely make sure he gets enough sleep. From all of the wanderers, keep wandering!

Indira Dutt

I would not stand as I do today if I missed out being with the greatest artists, eloquent, elaborate dreamers, enchanting lovers, true philosophers, dynamic musicians, intriguing actors and actresses, beautiful women, children. It's all about soul, their's are precious. Thank You. For my purpose holds to sail beyond the sunset, and the baths of all the western stars, until I die and then into an internal eclipse. Tennyson and me.

Karen Edgell

"It's my life!" my favorite saying when I was younger. Another favorite was "Gots gum mum?" Can't live without it. Basketball is another thing I can't live without, with a name like Shaq Rouge there is pressure to rip down the hoops. I will always remember the inspirational people in my life including: Griff, Howard Dell, Shef, Goob, M. Neufeld, M. Cordle, M. Cook, Ms Poland, B. Westcott. Especially mommy and daddy, thanks for everything. To my brother and sister for not only coming before me to break mom and dad in, but for showing me the ways. Lil'Edge the name was given to me by the original Edge who taught me how to party in Mexico. To Jenny-poo "Why can't this be love?" takes it all back to the "good times" the "bad times" and the "b-ball times" I will always be there for you, thanks for being there for me. To all my buds at Mt. Doug, especially Sanjai. Never forget Kate Green and Krista Hall, hikes through Mt. Doug park, Jordan R., pards! Cheers to all my SMU girlfriends and guyfriends. Remember: "Imagination is more important than knowledge" - Einstein.

Natasha Eichenlaub

Into a bolt of blue Natasha at SMU, I don't recall a moment when we weren't testing the limits and looking over the edge. We met a pear, some magic and balance and soon we found each other stuck to the ceiling. We all shared the same joie de vivre, seeking to try and answer all the questions and question all the answers. Our strong bond soon became known as the los boarder beetches. New people came and we increased in size. And AnuRu risking life and limb to break the barriers. Natasha is a teacher of courage, strength, virtue, talent and gentle beauty which she possesses. Wonderful way of smiling and making you appreciate all the spring around you. She lives inside every fairy's heart singing and dancing and charming an audience. Her strength and wit move along a familiar page it will make her successful. All those who graced her path, know words don't justify the spirit. Friend, Poet, Dreamer, Believer To me; She is my North, my South, my East, my West, my working week, my Sunday rest, my noon, my midnight, my talk, my song . . . Thank you for the Pink Stars and Angel Wings.

Sebastian Elawny

Contrary to popular belief, Seb was not Saudi and did not ride a camel to school. Seb had a very eventful year and will finally graduate (hopefully.) After learning the true meaning of Head Girl, Seb's life was never the same. He has fond memories of watching women with Mr. Peach, and partying with Todd and the grade 7's. Seb has broken yet another record in getting rid of another roommate this year, and he now has the windowsill to himself. Thanx, The Coyote

"My old man used to tell me, before he left this world, never chase women or busses, you always get left behind." The Marlboro Man

Jorina Elbers

A former Claremonter, Jorina arrived at SMU 3 weeks into grade 10 -- instantly acquiring the nickname "Ice Ice Baby". Once she finally got out of the "ice age" it was refined to Jo. Jorina has contributed to school life with her roles as Yente the Matchmaker in "Fiddler" and as the Duchess of Plaza Toro in "The Gondoliers". Although she may have been a prefect don't ever take her to Claycoot -- she just might get you lost. She will never forget "double Skinner" with the Math/Calculus class, AP Biology, VC, CT, AL, BCH, RI and most of all RM (no matter how hard she may try). She's off next year, perhaps to UBC or UVIC along with half of the Grad class of '95. "I read something that was posted on the billboard of a gas station out in Booney Land that pretty much sums up what I've learned over the past couple of years: Experience is what you get when you don't get what you want. Good Luck All! We're outta here!!"

David Fairhurst

Basically, this lifer spent his first years at SMU as a fat kid with an afro. His considerable bulk kept him afloat en route to numerous aquatic accolades. The pounds soon melted away as his weekly allowance shifted from Twinkies to B-times. Along with the Middle School he discovered romance and excelled at rugby. His affections were fiercely sought after until his acquittal and then came the downward spiral into sin and debauchery. He achieved "warrior" status by using his Velveeta to carouse with tarts as he reached the senior school. Dave gained his nickname, "Smeg", by virtue of the substance between . . . well, anyway. Much to the chagrin of his friends, Smeg tied the knot during the summer after grade 10 and did lots of push-ups on week nights. In the off season he played soccer, basketball and 1st XV Rugby in his two senior years. Dave, being a gambling man, made "the bet" with EK and MG and was down 2 to 1 to EK (Papa) at press time.

Hannah Farrell

Hannah's a good bird at home, but long-haired music has led her astray; it will do her no favours. In truth, her music is not shite (it's the caffeine that keeps her up at night). She has no pot of rouge, but the palms could use some washing. Never lose sight of beasts and kicks. We "both born with the gift of laughter and a sense that the world was mad". "Society is a mess thanks to men" (Moz). Love, Anus. L'homme en noir, Robert, Mireille, Marie-Laure, and Rossy will keep their fists beating in the air with the aid of jellybeans and diet coke. El ano proximo, Hannah estará en la selva con los tigres, covered with hope and vaseline unable to fix the broken machine. Whips, Chains, fishnets, plastic dolls, rubber ducks, Gumby. "Dead moon girl molasses rot black strap is she pretty on the inside, from the back". -- CL

Alyson Farvolden

Alyson came to SMUS in her second year of Gr. 12. She decided she liked it so much she'd do it again. Alyson came with her cowboy boots and jean jacket all the way from cowboy country CALGARY! YEE HA! Within the first few months she was "buckled in on the highway to SIN" A.H. soon discovered that Alyson was O.O.C. and she didn't like brief encounters. A.H. and A.F. spent many a night at John's bugging Mark. "MORE COFFEE." And the ritual "Let's get it on". The infamous nickname PEDAFILE that A.F. received from A.H. for her collection of little boys. 103 with E.C. rocked the house. Many a boy on the phone or at the window kept them highly entertained. Casanovas. Aly's of bar music and car rally parties will be forever remembered. Watch for BIG AL at the next mechanical bull riding competition near you. 95-?? BERMUDA baby here I come! WATCH OUT! It's been a slice . . .

Joanna Forbes

Jo, aka Juana, arrived at SMU in Gr. 2. After she met me, things were never quite the same. The middle school brought an assortment of adventures - BMB, TM, HF & the sexy Lexy fan club, 1st principle office visit, Gr. 8 grad, JM - neighbours, sweats & the laundry room. Gr. 9 was where it all began - Jo's wonderous FHockey & soccer careers, SD, AH, party at Jo's. Gr. 10 brought D, D&D. Gr. 11 was mostly composed of dinners at CG's with the girls, KT, New Years at Whistler, camping on Saltspring, meteorites with MN. Gr. 12 memories include car rally-fun, fun, fun (right Aides!?), trouble at the 80's dance (look! here comes the policeman), Espion adventures with AT (D'accord), La Fleuve, Roots (AW saves Jo), spy mission with AW (Jo almost kills Aides), biking adventures -falling, skiing with SO & the B.C's. Jo is my life long buddy and I know she will be missed by all - Luv Steph. To all my buds: A.T, S.O, A.W, K.E, J.A, K.L, H.F, J.M, M.G, J.M, A.W, O.S, E.B, V.G, J.O, S.G, L.Y, E.K, D.F, J.Y and anyone else, keep up the adventures!!!

Euan Frew

Euan, "Frew", came to SMUS in Gr. 10 from the booming matropolous of Nanaimo. (In Indian it means "fast flowing water".) All the newly acquired friends, R.S, P.B, B.D, R.I, D.C, S.C, J.Z, and R.M made him quite at home at this new found home. (Thanks). Frew was a proud member of the Boys, 1st XV rugby and XI soccer teams, and even tried his hand in a little b-ball. He'll never forget the late night escapades with the boys to Tolmie and other places, that led to his becoming the assistant Head of House and proud Bud. He would like to send a special thanks to his pride and joy (A.B) for making his graduating year at SMUS a really great one. THANK YOU PEOPLE!!!

Jessica Fric

When Jessica returned after a summer playing saxophone at Berkeley college of music, her greatest talent had been refined and cultivated and she talked funny. Jessica spends more time at work in her Datsun than at SMU. But what is graduation compared to the sheepskin seat covers, 300 air-fresheners and butter in the glove compartment? Jessica's accomplishments include being the strongest member of the Marshall Hatton fan club, the Josh fan club and the non-exclusive PWHAT club. She uses her much coveted Lap top almost as often as she drinks lattes, and dreams of pineapple, Kramer hair and Mia. Jessica held her 3rd birthday party in grade 12 and will always be remembered by that infamous, brilliant quote: "Now I want to go camping!"

Ainslie Gainer

Ainslie came to the institution for her final year of secondary education. She enjoyed going for nice walks through the park. Ainslie would like to thank her roommate Emily Scarfe for making her year much more enriched. She would like to say hi to Angela, Gwen, Alison, Ryan and Jason. You're a liar and a slave, D.C (Mad Hatter). S.C you're the cheshire cat. "See you guys, I'm going bowling with Erik."

Jamie Genge

Jamie, aka Gengee, came to SMU in gr. 8 and soon had a day with his name all over it. Spring break '93 started a new trend - not quite a life but close. Gr. 11 started with J.G, S.L and a lot of other people who knew how to have a good time. It ended with N.D, N.W, and a butt print on top of a car (It must have been the musicians!) Fiddler was cool, and Jamie will always remember the unlikely duet of "Miracle of Miracles". Tech crew was a two year day job (or was that jay dob?), but usually ended up somewhere around midnight with some pizza and fruvous with C.H, Tugs, A.Z 'n' guys - I'll always know you . . . Gr. 12 is stress, and car rallies have a way of ending up in a ditch, know what I mean? You're all awesome, and I'll be expecting a certain few of you (you know who you are) to end up at my house after every reunion.

Stephanie Gill

Stephanie aka Little Miss Sunshine or Step-on-me to SMU in '93. During those yrs she was involved in Fiddler, Our Country's Good, Miracle, Gondoliers, The Love of the Nightingale. On occasion Steph can be seen around campus lending a hand and a cheery face. She will not forget the friends she has made: S.N remember "Drop dead?", S.C party hardy in England, plays with A.T and a certain exciting night in March - "We almost died!" "Aah! It's the commissioners! The van was bleeding!" If we made it through that we can make it through anything. Fate! Sunshine yellow dresses, dancer, Enigma, Cats - we will see this girl's name in lights. To A.M, S.D, G.H-G, G.D, A.Z, D.S don't ever forget the car rallies and crazy van rides! A.P spanish with H.F, E.C and K.O, BML "Haagen Daaz" + fetal pigs: too much of each is bad! B.C.-H. How's Herbie? Huuughhh! Gr. 12 was great "but we wanted variety!" Steph leaves with a quote from her favorite movie: "Why are you smiling?" "Because I am not left-handed either!" To all her friends I love you guys! Good Luck!

Vinider Gill

Vinnie arrived at SMUS in the fall of '83, little did he know he would be serving a life sentence. He tried for parole but failed miserably. In Gr. 1 he was condemned to solitary confinement at lunchtime with cell mate O.S. Other mates sentenced to life with the "sexual chocolate" were M.G, O.F, A.L, N.J, M.P. It was during the early years that Vinnie fell in love with b-ball and developed the left-handed runner a la Jeff Malone. Vinnie met Roy in gr. 10 but, got better acquainted with him in grs 11 + 12. Vinnie is expecting to meet Roy's cousins Norton and Frosty in the near future. Some of Vinnie's memories include: doubles with D.F, lunchtime BT's with E.C and M.G, b-ball with the boys, posing naked and dancing on the Black Tusk, Roy. Subs and theatre with J.M, McD's with A.W, all the lovely ladies, and slammin' times with the Apna boys. Thanks to everyone else who made SMU memorable . . .

Scott Gingles

I came, I was, and I left. The memories created here, good and bad, will last me a life time. For a Northern B.C boy, from Terrace, my experiences and memories here are worth their weight in gold. To all who have been a part of my life here, friends, enemies, and acquaintances, I would like to say: FAREWELL. This is probably the only chance I will get to say thank you to the important people like soon to be politician Adnan Sohail for his constant preach, Karen Edgel for her always bubbly-loving personality, Mark Hau for his "can't lose" relationship advice, and Ole Schmidt for showing me the ways on Mayfair lanes. As my former captain (Sweet Pea) once said, "This is the real world now, and I go to work!" Take life as it comes, live it, relax once and a while, have fun with it and perhaps we shall see each other again . . .

Mischa Greenwood

Have I been understood?
- Nietzsche

Elliot Ha

Elliot is from Korea. He entered SMUS in Gr. 10 and has spent the last three years in Barnacle House. Boarding was one of the most unforgettable experiences he had at SMUS. He was a fair and generous prefect who enjoyed(?) his duties. He played the flute in concert band for three years (yet his play did not improve!!!) He will always remember the three years he spent at SMUS and especially the people he met while in Victoria.

Christina Haldane

CRAZY HALDANE - porta party - helicopters don't fly to Sidney Spit - cake acrobatics - locked in the closet - are you ready? - nice one - grr tiger - put your foot in the crack- livin on the edge - Nelson & Allen - How do the french kiss? - breaking bottles - bongo drums - the mens movement - jammin - big bear mountain - the many b's - green day while slow riding - pink razor - the brown beast on Tolmie - big shooter - crushed cans - ren & stimp - no mo handmade cloths - the ultimate she/male - are you there god? - 1250 baby - stop genius - gondorary - micra machines - bath oils - cherry docs - LBB & GMB - didly - right ripped - parlor games - coffee talks - rodent - fern gully - up in smoke - Rocky - the power house.

Allison Harkness

Allison, Gr. 10. Eventually the gang was established (C.H, T.S, A.H, E.C, S.M, E.S) and the cheese held them strong. Gr. 11 brought rock climbing: "People are trying to sleep around here!" and our ski trip at the Delta with Nelson and Allen. Finally Saltspring "Jammin" and Fern Gilly became a regular. Summer with E.C and jam free evenings upstairs at C.H without E.C Also the Big French Red Bottle. Allison will never forget CB's with J.S and penmen. And what's with the last names? (HArkness! Haldane!) Gr. 12 holds many memories of car rallies in the Warren Buick and Grad Ski Trip at Wild-Wood Lodge. Allison will always be found driving in search for some GMB!!

Marshall Hatton

Anything that happens, happens. Anything that, is happening, causes something else to happen, causes something else to happen. Anything that, is happening, causes itself to happen again, happens again. It doesn't necessarily do it in chronological order, though. After his older brother left the hallowed halls of Barnacle House, Marshall thought that SMU would be ready for him. He packed up his bags and migrated south with the birds in the fall of 1993. He is the only "true" Yukoner in the grad class who has wrestled bears and has lived in the freezing cold North. RM and SN chickened out some time ago. Somewhere deep within the confined room of Mr. Peaches French 11 class AW, JY or SG shortened his last name to 'Hats'. For some strange reason, everybody liked this new name and kept it for him. Though Marshall's time here was short, he wishes all the grads the best of luck in the future. He also leaves you with these words of advice, "Things could have been worse . . . And remember, tomorrow is another day!"

Mark Hau

Mark, aka "Ma how", is a Duke of Edinburgh participant who enjoys playing soccer, golf and basketball in his spare time. He still manages though to spend time with a certain group of friends: F.I, M.L, J.L, W.H, C.L and finally W.H AGAIN!!! Remember our 'Asian express' on the soccer field, studs, stereos and lots of cars! How would we get through Chemistry without each other!! We piece together each other's puzzled ideas into a huge picture, usually still missing a big part (but we managed to do well). Next time when you see a convertible 325 around UBC, along with a Black Eagle Talon, go up and say hi to Mark, he will be more than happy to race you. Good luck to my best buddy, you deserve all the best. Special thanks to S.T, J.C, K.L, J.W, W.W, S.G, J.O, J.T, B.G and Pip.

Geoffrey Henwood-Greer

Henwood left his disastrous years at Willows Elementary and was planted in SMU along with K.W and S.C five years ago. While being brought up at the Middle School, he was known only as 'Sinead'! As Geoff entered the Senior School he continued roaming the campus quietly and innocently, until he was corrupted by four young men: A.M, S.D, A.Z, G.D and with them, Geoff became a part of the notorious quintet! Geoff will also be remembered for his poetic and wise mind, his intelligence, his mysterious illness, and of course his athletics, unfortunately Geoff had to turn down a starting position on the Blue Devils due to a previous commitment with 'Basketball Canada' but because he loved the school so much, Geoff decided he would run the door for the team with A.M. A quote, oh so cherished by Geoff is "Art is useless" - Oscar Wilde. He will dearly be missed by the notorious five, and his other friends: I.D, D.S, D.M, etc . . . Geoff will most likely win the lottery and become the richest and friendliest baggaman! Good sense buddy!

Jeff Hodgson

I came to SMU from far far away, more far in fact than anyone else. I came from Edmonton, Alberta. Actually from Namao, but people usually say "huh" if I say that. I came to SMU only for one year, grade 12. I'm glad I did because now I know many, many more good people & lots of neat things, like there are 60 seconds in every hour and stuff like that. I'm also very interesting, I can't really explain why because it would take too long so just take my word for it. There's one thing that I always say when people ask me if I am glad I went to SMU -- "Yes, I am happy I went to SMU."

Jonathon Horsman

Jonathon is from Nanaimo, B.C. After being at school only one year he was elected as Head of Harvey House. Jonathon has played rugby for the two years he has been at the school. Next year Jonathon plans to further his education at St. Mary's College in California. He wishes the grads the best of luck in the future! Keep in touch guys and see you at our ten year reunion!!

George Huang

"Sh . . The math wiz is thinking!" George arrived at SMU in Gr. 10 and was immediately known for his "sound of silence." Although George didn't speak much throughout his years here, his reticent personality enabled him to make a whole bunch of really good friends. In his years at SMU, George mainly spent his time with his pals: J.L, J.T.B, T.H, A.L, T.C, S.H, E.Y, P.H, D.L and S.L when he could spare the time from C.L. George managed to clean up several academic awards each June and could generally be seen in the gym, a constant companion of the thirty-second clock, during basketball season. His most colorful memories are J.L's distinctive laugh, J.T.B's cunning giggle, and A.T's Indonesian game. George is planning to go to UBC next year. Hopefully, a lot of us will be seeing him there again.

Atarah Humphreys

Atarah escaped from the school of bearded women with T.S in Gr. 10 and found herself at SMUS. She quickly met the people soon to be known as the "gang." She went on many trips in the few years, camping at Sidney Spit and Saltspring, "Jammin", Hawaii with T.S twice in one year, and who could forget Penticton, the dust is so dusty there. Once she started driving everyone scattered from the roads. The stunt driver was curb jumping from day one and smoke show were coming from the baby blue beast. The rabbit proved to be useful for getting around. A few trips to "Smugglers" were much needed. She spent many a night at John's Place drinking her free coffee, VIP! She's going to miss all her friends next year, and there definitely will be a huge phone bill! A few last words from the wise, always release your "P.U.S.E", sing the french version of Tears in Heaven, remember Quarter pounders are much better than small fries and at all times avoid brief encounters!

Tom Hung

Tom, from Taiwan, has been a border in Bolton House for some time now. This year, Tom has enjoyed being part of the Economics Club and a scorekeeper for the basketball teams. Next year Tom intends to study commerce at either the University of British Columbia or the University of Western Ontario. Tom has been a great friend to many and he will be sorely missed. He will no doubt succeed at whatever he ends up doing. Best of luck, Tom and take care!

Wendy Hung

SMU has been blessed with Wendy's charms ever since her arrival here in Grade 10. The innocent (!) girl from an all-girls' school in Hong Kong took to the dashing MH immediately after coming. Not knowing what lay in store for her during her next 3 years. She entered Timmis House and was a regular neat freak. Yet, the rebel she was, stayed up to about 3am every morning. With all these outstanding traits, she became an almighty prefect in her Grade 12 year. Wendy also took part in the Gondoliers, she was accepted in both Prima choir and BC Youth choir. We cannot forget her contribution to SMU scorekeeping and she is one of the recipients of the Duke of Edinburgh silver award. Wendy promises never to forget all the housestaff and teachers who have helped her accomplish all this, as well as those she will leave behind, AT, WG, MP and of course MH. She will miss AV, SG, JO-T, JT-B, and all the grads. How's it going? GJ. Best of luck to you all!

Richard Ingle

The guy who can't get caught:

At Denny's 3:00 am in the morning, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Boarders Home Brewery, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Stumbling in late at night, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Riding in the Bawo mobile, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Climbing Hotal Douglas, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Cops hunting us in Oak Bay, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", Reassuring Drunken friends back to the dorm, "Don't worry I'm Head of House", doing naughty things on Mystic beach "Don't worry I'm Head of House"

P.S Mrs. Jones thanks for the Welsh cakes.
done by Anon . . .

Alexandria Inkster

I enjoy getting my kick with H.F, O.R, A.V, S.D and Grumpy. I love cheap thrills, tasty treats, fun and games, cavorting and gambling, petroleum products, ice cream (watch out for glass), and artistic representations of mayonnaise (the country scene), roaring mollusks, meat, shellac, dink. It has been tough, fighting off oh-so-many shifty glances, phallic vehicles, girly-girls, the occasional "Hey gang!", fat in the eye, and Bison's wild and crazy antics in a certain AP physics class. However, I do enjoy being surly or lingering in the shadows, especially in the company of det (that beautiful blonde!) Woke up this morning with a taste of bacon. Clockwork orange. One cream please. Freaks. Mr. Pink. Little blond boy. Hey lady. You wanna buy some . . .? No Mireille! Praise the Lord! I Love you, my girls (and Gumpy says . . .)

Ryan Jenkins

This is me. Not the best picture but it will do. Well during my year at SMUS I managed to: play soccer, rugby, get decent grades and have some fun while I was at it. All in all it was a pretty good year. The parties were pretty whack but then again so are the people. So as I depart I will end this spiel with this. It was long stretched out and still proves unused but I'm sure glad I have my education.

Richard Johns

Richard 'Dicky' Johns arrived at St. Michaels in Grade 6 and quickly became known for his English accent, soapstone carving and soccer skills. His warm friendly personality gained him many friends. Richard played Basketball and soccer for the school as well as helping out with volunteering. Richard participated in the shortest car rally ever as well as a disastrous Karaoke show. He'll always have great memories of excursions to S, M.S, la verité and the Soda shop in Vancouver. Although Richard knew how to work hard in school, he always had time for A&W, warm fuzzies and giant = poolgames. Thanks to all my friends past and present at SMU: K.T, A.L, J.G, K.L? C.L, S.T, J.W, M.L, K.C, E.S, K.W, C.L, A.L, B.M.L, J.C, I.L, A.L, J.L, A.M, S.D, G.H-G, A.Z, G.D, E.F, D.M, A.C, B. C-H, K.O, H.F, G.D, R.B, D.M, J.S, S.S, B.L, R.M, M.P.

Gethin Jones

Gethin Jones is finishing his 12th year at SMU. It all began in Grade 1, a time all the lifers will remember as a time of thigh-high shorts during cold, snowy winters. An all around student, Geth devoted much time and effort throughout the years to basketball, soccer, and 1st fifteen rugby coming away with a bad knee that sidelined him in his last year. On the artistic side, he's sung base in the choir since Grade 8, performed in numerous drama productions, and even made a valiant effort to play violin and piano (both of which ended tragically). Academically, Geth pulled his grade up for the year that counts, claiming that the first eleven years were just a warm-up. His dad thinks otherwise. Jones' last words go to the lifers: D.F, M.G, V.G, N.J, A.L, M.P, and O.S. "Thank God we survived!"

Nick Judson

After 12 years at SMU I have to say that I've enjoyed my 'time' here. (hm . . .) On the other hand leaving is going to be a big relief. I have 12 years of memories to look back on, but I'm really going to miss riding high in Pachuk's (rhymes with . . .) big yellow van. Good luck to all Grad 95's, especially Ole, Dave, Mischa (will physics and calculus ever be the same?), Mark, Vin, Alex, and Geth. Will somebody please tell Mr. Laidlaw that the word is probably, not probably.

Iris Kam

SOO DESU KA! Iris "chicken legs" Kam-HUNG has been a boarder at SMU for 3 years. During this time she has managed to master an erratic schedule -- sleeping during prep and staying up all morning to study, guzzle mass quantities of Coke, and think about Marten. This last year has been especially hectic, what with water and pizza fights with Archie, the Scholah and her "good friend". Despite attempts by B.P. to hide the entertainment centre in her room, Iris overpowered the cute one and enjoyed herself immensely. Thanks to S.N. for 2 wonderful years of roommateship. And to Mr. B, for the tape . . . and the mud. Apologies to J.N. for invading her space and eating all her food (although it must be stressed that this was done in her best interests.) Kudos to E.Y. for elaborate PDA shows (thanks for the help over the years). Some advice to Mushroomhead: try to stop saying OK and your life will be OK. M.C., M.P. and A.T. -- one more year to go. "Let's order Ming's" "Where's my page 4?"

Eric Kerr

Eric came to SMUS in Gr. 10 to receive a higher education. His presence was felt on the basketball court (he did have a career at one time), and on the rugby and soccer field, where he captained the 1st XI in his senior year and played on the 1st XV rugby squad. His favorite memories include: B-ball tournaments, Soccer B.C.'s (J.J.'s Roadhouse with Smeg, saunas with C.P. and D.F.), Rugby tour '94 (bringin' the Canadian bacon to the world, high price entertainment in London, thanks ladies!, public relations). His extra-curricular favorites were with "the sexual chocolate" V.G., Tim Hortens and Sweet Pea A.W., Popcorn chicken with J.M., tender moments with Ole, herbal science ventures M.G., deviant children D.F. (don't call me daddy!) the girls: Hot Buns, Shaq Rouge, J.F., S.O., J.A. and others. Lucky's with R.M., T.C. - for everything. Thanks to all my teachers. Eric's fondest memories will be long nights at the fox with R.B. & D.F.

Joon Young-Kim

Joon came from Seoul, Korea for his grade 9 year to become a member of Harvey House. Joon was well-known for his whirling side-kick and late night training sessions with his caring roommate "Rusty". Joon was also a hopeless romantic and made constant trips to visit his Vancouver mistress in between regular excursions to Mt. Tolmie and the park at lunch hours and breaks. Joon also took part in the Rugby tradition of SMU. His fondest memory will be of losing consciousness at the BC championships at Kamloops and the boys from Brentwood will forever hold his affection. Joon will never forget his 18th birthday when JT-B, EK, and DF presented him with an inflatable date at the Christmas Dance. She changed his life forever. "Vanilla Rice" will always be remembered as generous with his friends and losing his clothes with TS and at poker tables.

Tae-Kyun Kim

Tae arrived at SMU after a year in Vancouver at Point Grey. He has enjoyed boarding life and the friends he met here, especially JYK, JTB, JY, SC, WC, EH, YP and SY. Rugby, Concert Band & the fitness centre are outstanding experiences. Somehow he remembers a certain event in Harvey House that he has not lived down. (Forgive me, Mr. Jones) Tae will miss Mr. Jones, Mr. Burnett and Mrs. G, and of course the bus drivers. He will go to Toronto to New College and study Business Management. See you all at the Reunions!

Haruko Kiyono

Haruko Kiyono landed in Victoria, BC after having spent the first 15 years of her school life in the faraway and exotic city of Tokyo, Japan. After only 4 months in "Inlingua" school learning the basics of the English language she was tossed head-first into the fast-paced dynamic institution that is SMU. She spent her first fateful year in boarding with ML in Timmis House, and much of her grade 9 year was spent living it up with fellow ESL's in dimly lit Karaoke bars. Her relatively sane life was completely blown to pieces with the arrival of her fully caucasian, slightly unbalanced roommate AV in grade 10. Together they prospered after having memorized the Pizza Hut delivery number and flushed a total of three Siamese fighting fish in their 3 years together. Next year Haruko plans to return to her exciting homeland to pursue a career in art. I hope she'll remember us all when she's a rich and a famous artiste! Best of Luck Haruko!!

Ivy Lam

II DESU NE! Cottleston pie and Pizza. IKs toilet bowl water at 3am and Archie's impressive PK shows. Taina and Trevor and Fernie, followed by the Late Show with Liv G ("Run, Forrest, run!"). Jess' double-ended bed. Dancing by computer light in BP (she who defines cute) and ATs room. Cake, water, mud + grass, Pizza + coke. Camp TB with the breakfast club and noisy-Olga? KP (she who will not be distributed), MC (oranges for Stanford?), AY, AW, CL, ML, AT, JdH (cow woman), EY, and Eugen Weber. Josh (kai goh) and other people's wives. Alex will make the movie for my book. And finally, Ives' soulmate with the parallel twisted sense of humour (although perhaps not during the Sagat phase). "Ah! I have talked quite enough for today" said Lord Henry, smiling. "All I want now is to look at life. You may come and look at it with me, if you care to."

Alexander Lambert

Woody, Jonesy, CAJ, Hywel - my surrogate family. Woody - what can I say? I'm gonna miss you, man. Good Luck. Bones, you jammy git - keep luckin' out. CAJ - I'll miss ya (send baking) --HK!!! - 2 and a half weeks of fun in the smog. Yang, good to see you, man! A coke?! The ski trips - Hats! Sweet toque! Hot tub! J.T, you're an animal. C.G - dub-outta control. Seb (go Leafs!), thanx for the conversations. Timmy, the dip connection, stay cool. Frew, no shame! Jess - I dunno what to say. You're an individual & thanks for the hugs. Barb - Mt. Washington, grad memories. A.W - don't talk to strange dogs! Ole, Mischa (monkey beats) G, Tutu - good luck boys. K.E - you're awesome! Keep laughing! Hogdson - stay different. Rugby - E.K, D.F - thanks for making the bus rides a laugh. You've meant a lot to me. My only regret is that I only got to know you for a year.

Caroline Large

G.D - Watching 80's movies and eating chinese when she gets her way - Me at nice guy slev holding her handfuls of bulk candy Ailsa - Big time snub and laughter B.M.L. - Never in our lives will we ever again receive a welcome like that at Newman Fisk. And Graham of course! D.S. - For the record - there wasn't a bomb in my luggage D.M - Saltspring + Sarah McLachlan, maybe I'll give you my poster some day J.F - Ukrainian eggs and cookies - only four hours to get the yolk out - it's cooler here huh J.W - And when school becomes overwhelming I ditch it to see him - me loves you.

Andrew Lee

Andrew Lee will not forget his three years at SMU. His very first class was drama, where he enjoyed it at first, but his inability to act and grasp the concepts led him to quickly switch courses. Also that month, he was asked by BP (now gone) to share his sleeping bag during a cold outtrip night. His bitter rivalry with ES in Grade 10 came to an abrupt end when he and ES would then later fool around in Grade 11 History. Other fond memories of Andrew are: being JW's badminton partner, checking out the hole in CL's underwear, viewing naked girls on Willows beach and JL's intriguing laugh. Thanks also to KL, EY, and TT for making his SMU Life memorable as he seeks some career in someplace sometime next year. For sure, somewhere in Canada. "Maybe at a reunion, you will finally impress KE"

Michael Lee

Mike came to SMUS in Gr. 9 as a boarder. He is always enthusiastic in trying new things. Through his career at SMUS, he has accomplished a great deal. Especially in computer games, there is simply NOTHING he has not played before. He also plays badminton, attends the Video Club, and is an avid basketball scorekeeper. Although it's difficult to work on a huge variety of activities and concentrate on school work he still tries very hard and takes the hardest courses. His fondest memory is when a gorilla charged into his 18th birthday party, embarrassing him to all the people at the Keg! He will always remember doing gorilla stunts on the ground. And thanks to J.W, K.L, N.C, C.L., R.I, A.L, I.L, he will always remember the great memories he's had at SMUS. As to regards to his future, he plans to study chemical engineering at university "I'm going to blow up" he says. But believe me he's pretty tough.

Ailsa Lenk

There is one thing about our headgirl even her closest friends will never understand; How does she get such good marks?! Ailsa can be found playing Nintendo at all hours and perfecting her army crawl on Saturday nights. "The carpet looks better from down here." She is a founding member of the Marshall Fan Club and a strong leader of the PWHAT Club. Melba has been known to smuggle fruit across the boarder. JF says, "If you don't shut up I'm going to drop you off on the shoulder and leave you there." NEVER let Ailsa drive in American parking lots, even if "she's doing the best she can." JF's 3rd birthday party. London '94. Donkeys and sugar. PAT. Mayo. Honda Accords. Mix tapes. Rain. Guida. Kramer. Art class. We don't do that sort of thing!

Kevin Leong

"Benji", the man with the neverending supply of paper bags and grape juice (ughh!), came in Gr. 8 from St. Pat's. His unique personality created restlessness among his closest friends, especially since it was tradition (for him) to choose what Friday night movie to watch (what's wrong with the war?). Kev will always remember the hilarious and sometimes embarrassing moments he had with his friends: the countless lunches with Kel in the "hole", the time he sang with Josh and Dicky, the revealing car rally with C.L and A.L, the day he went to Ern's provincial championship, and his inability to lose in mahjong to M.H and W.H. His final year at SMU proved to be the busiest, due to his involvement in the Grad Committee and scorekeeping. He also participated in the '94 Science Olympics held at UVIC. Thanks to A.L and M.L (who were in his tutorial every morning), K.W, J.L, A.M, P.M who made SMUS life memorable. Remember Kev always follow Dorothy's advice: wherever you go for post-secondary, "there's no place like home".

Andrea Leung

Andrea is from Hong Kong. Although this is her first year and probably her final year at SMUS, she has enjoyed both her school life and boarding life. As an active A.V. club member, she has, by the end of her school year, fully appreciated the nature of video editing and ever since then she finds it loads of fun. She hopes to further her interests in Film Studies or photography in the future and would like to pay special thanks to A. Lisman and Mr. McKay for giving her all the possible opportunities to explore the art of video making. A pleasure to learn.

Adrian Limpus

I would like to thank everyone at St. Michaels for a terrific last year.

Jackson Lin

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Other people's failure is my happiness!" Jackson came to SMU in grade 10 and became one of the wierdest behaving people in school. Even though he suffers from a very serious mental disorder, he was always one of the top students in all of his classes. Jackson likes to take his shoes and socks off when he goes to friends' rooms. Jackson also enjoys singing with a tennis racket in his hands, and saying things that don't make any sense. BUT, he has a view, his ambition; to conquer the Universe, and when he does, he promised to make me the ruler of Africa (as if I really want to go there). He also wants to avenge on the 'Leuh Hao' for what they had done to him. Good Luck! Jackson, the greatest genius the world has ever had (so he says). Ha! Ha! Ha! By Patrick Huang.

Sampson Lin

Sampson came to SMUS in 1992 from Taiwan after a year in Vancouver. "Scared" and "lonely" was his initial feeling, but that's certainly changed. Sampson sometimes emerged from the "week-end sleep" to play B-ball in the gym with W.C, J.C and M.H but he always put academics first. He can always be seen with C.L, his "sister". Sampson will miss C.L's sweet smiles, the boarding life at SMU, tickling T.H and being on duty in Harvey House. Either U.B.C or S.F.U is Sampson's destination to study commerce. "It's too cold back East, and besides, I like Vancouver and to be with B.B" he says.

Alexander Lisman

Alex arrived at SMU in Gr. 1 wearing knee-highs and shorts. He is one of only a few "lifers" from the class of '95. In Gr. 11 and Gr. 12 while his hair grew into a curly monstrosity, he endeavoured to produce videos for the school. Along with the masters C.H, A.T, and D.M, Alex became an expert in video production and gained experience in audio and lighting. He will not forget A.M's face, G.A's wisdom, and the rest of those pesky "10's". Alex recognizes the importance of A.Z's closeup, the C.H walk, and hanging lights while J.G and R.W taunted him. He will pursue a career in the film industry as a film director/cinematographer. Thanks E.S, K.L, I.L, M.L, J.W, S.T, A.T, C.L, E.C, etc. "Go left, left!" -- K.W to R.J. Follow LAIDLAWANISM.

Christiano Liu

Chris came to SMUS in Gr. 8. He started of his first two years bitterly and was in bottom set of everything. For some time, he was under the positive and humorous influence of N.C, except his weird jokes. He continued to work hard and became the top scholar in Gr. 11. However, the heavy workload as the school captain does not take away his devotion to other activities: along with J.W, K.L, M.L and A.L, his karaoke singing skills impressed many people in Mandarin Place. There are also many fantastic memories as the years passed by: going for a naked swim with E.S, A.L at Willows Beach in freezing water and dancing outside McDonalds only with his underwear on . . . Although he is probably going to the States to continue his education, he will remember all his friends at SMU, thanks to: A.L, E.S, K.L, J.W, R.J, K.C, J.A, N.C, M.L, S.T, and others in the "gang of four" (A.L, E.C, J.T) for the wonderful memories. "Friendship is a thing that challenges and can last through time . . . it is something that will not be forgotten". It is also like an underwear: new ones are nice, but old ones fit better.

Britt-Marie Luckhurst

Britt-Marie Luckhurst dazzled us all with her talent and blunders. Her Elaine-like qualities included, a love and worship of older, "wise", bald men such as Jean Luc Picard, Sean Connery and Fraser. She will forever willow with Grillo and co. in a certain coffee house for the monopoly challenged. She will be an ophthalmologist and will season her life with acting, singing operatic versions of Hark the Harold . . . and constructing the world's first fetal digit cooking book. Her smile, laughter, excitement at the sight of blood and her Britt-Marieness will be missed. I will prove beyond a doubt, Pillsbury Dough Boy sacrifice, Swedish chef memories, "Captain, the ship is devolving." Loreena, sinead and Tori Graham. The rest is silence.

Robbie Lydon

From the first day of Grade 3 to the concluding days of Grade 12, Robbie has enjoyed a challenging and diverse education at SMU. However, this was interrupted for a period of four years due to the journey to reunite him with his roots in the "Emerald Isle". Robbie contributed to both the soccer and rugby team with reluctant enthusiasm. Academics flourished in a personal haphazard way. Then, suddenly graduation is around the corner and life about to begin. "This is my final word. It is time for me to become an apprentice once more. I have not settled in what direction. But somewhere, sometime soon."

GRAD CANDIDS

Ryan Macdonald

Ryan came south from a small hole in the earth Qualicum Beach for his grade 12 year. Quickly acquiring the nickname CGW, he became a chemistry. Together Ryan and S.E had many great weekends doing nothing or partying. It really didn't matter as long as they were together. This would describe us. (My quote) "Life consists with wilderness. The most alive is the wildest" Thorean. Anyone wishing to reach me my address is 3789 West Island Highway Qualicum Beach, B.C V9K 2C7

James Maciver

I came to SMUS in Gr. 1 just in time watch a cute little German utter his first words. I stayed until Gr. 8 when the hoops dream began. After a two year hibernation behind the tweed curtain (Hyde-Lay). I returned for Gr. 11 to find new friends and a brand new duck. To Jeremy - without you and the Bumble Bee, I would have been in trouble. To Ali - may you live in a land where there are no farces. To Kerr - I'll see you Sunday with a bucket of chicken. To Jassie - I slow danced with your mother. To Dave - get the fattest one you can! To Mischa - Kareem + Roy, Need I say more? And finally to Ole - I love you. "I don't mean to brag, I don't mean to boast but we like hot butter on our breakfast toast" - Wundamike (Sugarhill 1979)

Ryusuke Matsui

After Ryusuke had won the prestigious distinction of the "Biggest Boy 2 Tokyo" at the age of six, few challenges were left. So he left and came to SMUS to join Cameron House in Gr. 10. He won immediate notoiety with his rugby prowess for the Colts and then the First XV. "Tokyo Shaq" also tried his hand with the round ball and developed a surprisingly silky finger-roll lay-up. Ryusuke was a member of the U.K Rugby Tour '94. There in London he acquired the taste for expensive companionship (in the 10 Pounds neighbourhood). He decieved many through the years with his scholar-like study habits, only letting a few mates see his true wild nature. This samurai savage with some of the most distinguished drinkers. Ryusuke plans to return to Japan after graduation to attend university in Japan while featuring for the Kobe Steelers R.F.C. and drive ice cream trucks well into his twilight years. For all those following in his footsteps Ryusuke has only one piece of advice: saki before juice, nothing to fear!

Robert Mazuch

Robert came to SMUS in grade 4. In sports he lead many C-team rugby games to victory. However a nose injury in Gr. 10 forced his early retirement and pursuit of cycling and cross country. Many ski trips to Jackson Hole (N.J, A.C, D.C. . . . where is the shovel anyway?) and the grad ski trip will be remembered. Mr. Smith's calculus class - 'if you ignore it, it'll all go away'; school parking lot (A.C's); car rally; van; Pandora street; fires - R.L; In case of accident ingestion of antifreeze; "Roads?", "where we're going we don't need roads!" (B.W)

Samantha McKay

Samantha came to SMUS in Grade 10, narrowly escaping the wrath of the inbreds. She settled in quite quickly becoming an avid member of the "Gator Gang". While wrestling "Mother Banock" she managed to capture a Wildcat . . . (creamy!) which led to many Jam sessions. Often seen traveling in her red yaucht, Buckwheat would tune in the "Sweet Thing" and cruise with "me dad" in the back. Sam literally picked up tunes and dipped cones with AH and ES while running down the road, always eager to crush cans whenever the opportunity arose. She made a career of adding Ts and being a crafty menance to society. As AI once said, TSam, one day you will be the victim of SABOTAGE!

Keith Andrew James Middleton

For 5 years SMU has gifted with the presence of Middleton, and wise men predict that the entire faculty will weep on the black day that Andrew graduates. Milt'n will never be able to block from his memory: the 5 Crazees. All the parties ("Where are my pants"). Nirvana. Pink Floyd. Seattle. Mt. Washington. The many Chocolate Bars. Car Rallies + whipped cream. CB, Queen of the '70s. GNS. Winning a prize for being dramatic. Getting his van and discovering his alter-ego VAN MAN. All the femmes (gentle and violent). Playing the whinny beggar, and the Governor of Australia. Atlas' illustrious sports career (on and off the field). Moonlighting at the MacPherson. Andrew is proud to say that he has gone to school with KL for a really long time. Anyway, Middles will no doubt someday have saved up until he will own CKDA 1200. Andrew says thank you very much to: GHG, SD, GD, AZ, KO, DL, GB, KL, NE, DS, DM, ID and everyone else who has ever held a door open for him. Long live the man in the yellow hat!

Jeremy Mills

First of all, I'd like to thank all the wonderful ladies. Second, I'd like to thank all the marvelous men. Cameron, Ali, Jamie, Ole, Jassie, Scotty, Eric, Mischa, Warrior, Vinnie, Hayden, Peter, Junior executive, Dyer, Ibell, Millar, the Hunted, G's-up, Eags and Ian, your all astounding. To all my close friends, and to the rest of SMUS, I have only a few things to say. And that is Dream Big, keep strong, and don't worry because I've got a good plan. God Bless. I love you. - Mills

David Murray

9 years man, gotta get away but never forget. Oh villainy the cross-dressing and nudity was fun and the violence was better, show our passion to the world. Front row rugger, speaking publicly turns meatie to veggie, You're Going to Die in the Marquee, awakenings in Whistler and crazy accents, but a few. Flyboy, best friend - I love you more, ya tosser. Curly top, shocked the hell out of me, DON'T BE AFRAID TO BE HURT, love you. Flyboys's girl you and Trent were my consolation. Nutmeg boy and owner of the shack we will do it all together. Philomele, thank you for the dance and always listen with your eyes closed. Beautiful blue eyes - I miss keeping you up at night, don't ever forget. Blonde angel - No more fighting because we love, always, and I'll see you in Venice. All my friends, I love you - you are more important to me than anything. Lemmings(def.) we are not. A dream can be the highest point in a life, but so can waking up.

Sara Nics

Start slow, end with a bang. Aurum nostrum nom est aurum vulgi: We have agreed on 18 degrees. Among them, but not of them. Anyone ready to pick up psychotics at RHPS? Maktub. Drag tip #3 - NEVER wear Rhinestones with satin. Also, be careful wearing a sequines jacket or top in tandem with a long wig. Ignorance is not innocence, but sin. I will survive! Amore Vincent Omnes. Many more leadership late nights. Pomegranates. Pageantry Tattoos. Sara does not like to conform by seeming not to conform. Thanks to those who should be thanked and good bye to the rest of you guys.

Britta Norman

Once upon a B-time, there was a beautiful princess named Britta who lived in a kingdom called Lands-down, the princess got bored and decided to move to the ivory covered kingdom of SMU. By Gr, 11 the princess had been granted a royal chariot (don't leave foot prints on the bumper) and began her two years of shuttle bussin'. It wasn't soon afterwards that the princess was swept off her feet by a slick hair, chain wearing prince from down south. Only groceries + dead fish stood between them. Despite many absences from royal lectures due to her health, the princess plans to graduate which is believed to be the cure for her sickness. The Princess plans to get married and one day teach her subjects children. All her loyal subjects will miss her dearly. Never has a princess been more loved or respected . . . Good luck princess we love you

GRAD CANDIDS

Jeanie Norris

Jeanie's powers on the grass hockey pitch is nothing compared to her dancing in public places. Occasional Identity Crises have caused many people to ask her 'personal questions' but Jeanie (aka Julie) has risen above them all, prompting the exclamation; "Wow, you're big". Perhaps this and her tendency to wield a large stick and mayonnaise is what led to her selection as a prefect. I don't think it was (just) her skirt. Jeanie is a proud member of the PWHAT club, and one day hopes to be friends with the congenial OB rowing squad. If you can't find Jeanie kicking the tires of black RX7's, you'll probably be able to find her near the MOON. "Super-stomach" herself will someday be heard warbling in the kitchen of her own five star restaurant in Nanaimo.

Kerry O'Neill

Kerry came to SMUS in Gr. 8 as an innocent girl from St. Pat's. The innocence was soon lost as Kerry ventured on outtrips and ski trips with her new found friends (O.R, A.L, J.N); experiencing new foods (pasty spaghetti anyone? . . . anyone?) and finding out what REALLY happens between the hours of ten and eleven P.M (something to do with a mule par chance?). Alas, her first year was her last year at the middle school and Kerry found herself in yet another new environment. Her four years at the Senior School were filled with lasting memories and friends that will never be forgotten: O.R (G.A.G.A.N.A.N.A. - Need a hand?), A.L (Mule, Ostrich, Hot-Dog, Heave ho!, London), J.N (Mr. P's french class, History???, Yah! Roo!), A.I (How much is that Doggy in the window?), J.F (Smiley!, Ted, Gingerbread), I.D (The searchers, astrology, seashells), H.F (GO!), A.M (life long friends, D of E, Ballroom dancing), B.M.L (laughs!? Math help - thanks!) S.C (Pizza and surgery, Tarzan!). After four years of french class with Mr. Peach, Kerry feels she is now ready to practice her skill in France for a year, as an au-pair. Best of luck to the Grads, 'Parting is such sweet sorrow'

Stephanie Olsen

Steph came to SMU in gr. 5. An innocent smart little girl who was taller than all the boys. She soon met her partner in crime me (JF) and together we began our adventures. The middle school - HF, TM, DM-B, and her mischievous buddy JS. Gr. 8 grad with DF, Limo, JS & MG. In Gr. 9 she became with her bud forever Lindy. LW, AV and after school at Steph's. MF, ski trip, Lollapalooza, JO's party. Gr. 10 - 100 minutes, LY comes to SMU, JD - Steph's first love who goes adventuring - Lolla 2, Roots, Reggae Fest & Palm Springs with LY. Gr. 11 a new special man LM and buds AL and CG. Night time trips with EB. Silver Star, KE, JA and Aides arrive. Skiing with AL and CG. Gr. 12 - Car Rally (Thanks for driving Steph!) AW's green hair, vicious head injuries, the Jug. Skiing with Jo, Hawaii with Sperry-surfin' and cruisin'. 4 years of Field Hockey - BC's, PC 4 yrs, lunches with the girls. Aides-dancin', Spirit, bellybuttons. We've been through lots, ups and downs, smiles and frowns and through it all you still are my favorite tree hugger - Love Jo

Jassie Osei-Tutu

Jassie Henry Kannin Kafi Osei-Tutu arrived at SMUS in Gr. 12 from a northern B.C. city called Terrace. He took very little time adjusting to the SMUS atmosphere and quickly grew accustomed to the "war pig" stories told by Eric Kerr and Dave Fairhurst. Although Jassie missed out on athletics this year due to the limiting Gr. 12 transfer rules, he still had the opportunity to teach Ole Schmidt about the game of basketball. Jassie has learned a lot of valuable lessons this year from teachers, peers and especially from Hyde-Lay (aka JAM Packed!) Jassie plans to take his experience from SMUS and study at either McMaster or UVIC.

Mark Parker

- Cheers

Betty Peng

Naive little Betty arrived at SMU in grade 10 and was immediately wisked off on the Robertson, still suffering from a severe case of culture shock. However, everyone quickly took to her charm and cuteness. All except for her tutor, who never got to see her that year. Grade 11 was solely memorable for the "fire drill experience" with CL. In grade 12, Betty became the cutest member of the prefectship in Winslow House. She arrived earlier than usual that school year to take over the largest room in the house. It may be revealed, now that she has left the country to pursue post-secondary education in Japan, that Betty and AT stole a table from the physics lab to furnish the spacious room. No joke. That year, she also sported a myriad of different hairstyles, to the amusement of IK. She was also unwillingly drawn into a face painting war by JL, but has since recovered from the trauma. Special thanks to AY, S and C Lin, SP and JL. "Ah-Hsuan Gong Go, Yeah!" "I never grow!"

Chris "CP" Pollock

"CP" has been a fixture at SMU since Grade 3. Years at the Junior School and Middle School bring back memories of the back of R.M. head, 'Deeps', being a prefect, and many athletic accolades. Senior School, though, has never been the same since his arrival. He has set new school uniform standards and has left his mark both in the gym and on the rugby and soccer fields. Ghost tracks. 'CP' has represented the school on the Lower Island U-17, B.C. U-17, and Junior Crimson Tide (U-19) Rugby squads. Always a friend to be counted on, some exploits to be remembered include lunch-time skimboarding at Willows, "Where's the par-tay?", hoots of fun scoring bald chicks in Glasgow, camping, cruising, chilling with M.P., R.L., and M.B., strolling around London at midnight with A.B., R.M., A.C., and R.S. Then donating the last of their cash to some new-found friends. Mt. Tolmie sojourns - day and night, and his grad year being somewhat curtailed when he lost his licence hunting FOXES. 'CP' looks forward to university and returning to visit his supportive coaches in the future.

Karen Poon

Karen came to SMUS in Gr. 11 and took too many courses. Memories of Gr. 11 include midnight Chinese cook-fests with Maggie. Despite being a faithful resident of Timmis, she was constantly mistaken for a Winslower, perhaps having being drawn by her innate sense to eternal supply of food in C.P and J.N's room. In Gr. 12, for some reason, she was infallibly forgotten whenever it was time for Brown Hall. Unfortunately, she could not avoid being caught up in a Winslow water war and was the innocent victim of someones toilet water onslaught whilst in an otherwise deep sleep. However, she became a more willing victim in one of M.L's keung gan sessions. Although there is a self-proclaimed, plentiful supply of bread from the home, someone still insists on sifting through trash cans for food. Maybe she found the breakfast that Connie steals from Brown Hall every morning is not enough for her. Thus despite being an otherwise inconsistent person, she remains stubborn in her refusal to be distributed.

Leslie Preston

Leslie came to SMU on her loyal steed from the western steppes in time for gr. 11. She's a naive domestic rogue without any breeding but I think you'd be amused by her presumptions. Upon trading in her tarnished spurs for a kilt, she began to indulge in the SMU traditions of rum, . . . , and the lash. In her time at SMU she has found herself the life of many tawdry and pretentious parties. Eventually retreating to the jungle of 2nd floor to her beloved b____s. Despite communist sympathies she managed to become head of house to further her covert plan of world domination. However SMU reformed her and now our friend will return home to devote her life to God. "Any man who hates dogs and children can't be all bad -- sometimes a cigar is just a cigar!" - Sigmund Freud

Fiona Roberts

Fiona came from Vancouver to the welcoming arms of the Winslow girls who initially referred to her as "Mayuko's friend". That title was later changed to "Rich's girlfriend". Fiona does, however, have an identity of her own. After her T.V. debut Fiona decided she would go camping on the Thanksgiving weekend and came back with a cast. Since then Fiona has slowed down a lot and spends increasing amounts of time in Wenman. She hopes to go either to UVIC or Salmon Fishing University next year. BEEP!

GRAD CANDIDS

Oona Ross

Gumby says . . . Don't you condescend me man. Hey Kerry, are we all going to go in one big kayak? It's okay Han, the dummies come at night with their blue furry chairs and their diet cokes in hand. "I wish I was like you - easily amused" but only the gang will do for me. Must have boston cremes and Dick Richie but try not to get fat in the eye. Hey Ailsa your lights are on - No your lights are on. Who could forget the black cloaked, black tressed girl from the mountain and the green cloaked, blond tressed girl from the sea? Fun and games and cheap thrills for all. No girlie girls or bisons shall dip their toes in the Waters of San Fran. Thanks for everything gang. My fine friends, we will meet again and dance in our yellow sun dresses among the buttercups.

Anu Sahota

Anu came to SMUS in the 8th grade, I met her the following year and the moment we were introduced, we soulfully connected. I watched her explore her way through each year and each year she became more and more efficient in finding ways to unleash her views and ideas. I cannot say how beautiful an experience it has been to be part of her life, and to have been so close to her is a gift. Now she will venture off to discover the world: to gaze at its moon and to swim in its waters. Though all the time she remains a woman 'in whom the goddess shines' so beautiful and so profound. Forever Violet, Leah

Ernest Salcedo

"PLAY IT LOUD!" Ernest joined the SMUS community in Gr. 8 along with pals J.W and K.C. He was an innocent little boy until he met K.L, A.L, E.Y, J.C&J.T.B. In Gr. 10, he developed a strong worshipping for the Norse god Thor. The one time Colt's C captain, who managed one try in his short-lived Rugby career, also landed a place, which he secured for four years, on the X-country team. His acting exploits led to two performances in Chapel. Ernie will be remembered for his yellow Geo Tracker and his famous question to Cd'A in Eng. class. Memories from SMUS: Leadership weekend in Gr. 12, J.T.B.'s coarse language on the phone and modem, J.L's laugh, I.K's short but memorable quotes, the reactions of B.M.I, A.L and C.L during the play with the naked man, and the hole in C.L's underwear. Ernie entered the Blockbuster '94 World Video Game Championships which landed him a trip to Florida and international fame. Win one World Championship for us next time!

Emily Scarfe

Chemo, you're a babe in bells. Never forget the shed scenario; I'll always hold your hand. Marlbs in the bathroom; the b-o-y dilemmas ("Boys to do the dishes, Boys to clean up my room" . . .). New Year's '94 at the, um, "People's Pub" (EC) . . . Packing S.M's yaucht with 3 months of food for a weekend on Saltspring (with C.H, E.C, S.G, T.SC the A.Hs). Receiving the 3 omens on the way there, June is jamming month. Nico! "Know what Emily? I have a b . . .!" - just one of the guys, E.M. "Shendell! Where are you running?" - your big debut, along with y'know what MEI? and the Neck-Breaking car Hop. Pukerty Blues. Value - Queen (My whole outfit - Four bucks!) I will survive! (along with S.N&E.C). Frozen Olds Mobile. The jelly bean incident. The red beauties. West Coast trail w/ the Gator Gang and the "low tides". Eat the Mother Bannock, Eat it!

Ole Schmidt

Ole came to the school in grade 1 after scaling the German 'Wall' in a mad dash for freedom. He spent his youthful days at the Junior school being physically tormented by his peers, resulting in many trips to the chiropractor. As Ole reached the Middle School and entered grade 6, this "nifty bulkster" tipped all scales with his maximum weight. Even though women started recognizing Ole for who he was, Ole shied away and turned his attention to the hardwood. Throughout his increasingly busy life at the Senior Campus, you could find Ole either enjoying time in the gym shooting hoops or hanging out with "the boys". When Ole finishes his 12 year sentence, he will look back and remember not only the good times with all his friends, but also his success both in the classroom and on the basketball court. As for the future . . . Ole is depending on a Lotto 649 jackpot to send him into early retirement.

Ryan Sinclair

A frozen Ryan came from a frosty Winnipeg in grade 10. He was soon thawed and gently warmed, enjoying the friendly atmosphere of SMUS. Unfortunately the heat got too hot and Tomihaenae got badly burned, forcing him into a life of crime. In grade 11, Ryan suffered a life-threatening rugby injury and spent much of the year on the sidelines. However, he was able to play a couple of games as Captain Crunch for the Dogs of War, the ultimate XV. In grade 12, depending on what color socks he was wearing, Ryan could be seen menacing women in search of the legendary Bear-Lady who ate his Cornflakes. Ryan and his partner in crime, El Diablo, experienced an exciting twist to school life with the intro of the Sidney Wheelchair. Ryan will never forget the good and bad times with the chaps, SC, BD, PB, MP, EF and RI, the strangest grouping of friends of all-time. With his list of draft picks and heavy-weight championship, Rakki plans to attend UVic and eventually live a life of luxury and class. All the best and Cheers to the Old Dog.

Duncan Smith

Duncan Smith, the offspring of two burritos from a small planet in the G-7 system, began his life at SMUS five years ago. Although much of his time was spent sleeping on the bottom floor of Challoner, he still managed to get up each Friday and talk some poor sucker into going flying with him. If Duncan does not make it into R.C.M as a future CF-18 fighter pilot, his future ambitions include overthrowing the government and starting a new fascist state based on Brown Halls infamous asparagus quiche or he may move to Saltspring and open a small clam farm on the outskirts of Ganges. Duncan would like to thank: J.W, Z.X, K.S.F, K.A.J.M, G.T.F.O, I.T.T, L.T, U.2, R., U.L, E.S.Y, M.C.A., P.D.A, G.H.G, M.O.T, V.T.L, S.D, G.E.O, T.R.I.O, A.Z, R.A.N, K.K, A.E.I, O.U, H.E, L.P, M.E.A, F.G, O.P, P.C.W, U.I, P.H.D, P.H.D, I.H.A, T.E, P.M, S.S, D.N.D, K.J.W, K.L.M, B.O, T.T.D, M.G, M.V.R, Y.O, U.R, A.L, O.S, E.R, S and of course M, S.A.S, J.J? D.M, N.I, S.M aka L.K.M, I.N.I, T.I.A, L.S, S.U, C.K.X, F.D.R, H.R.H, and all the other little people.

Tim Stevenson

Tim (aka Sport, DIM) arrived at SMU in gr. 4 along with the other workaholics D.M. and R.M. (with whom he had many rivalries with). Other than always being mistaken for twins with M.L., the Junior school proved fairly interesting. The Middle school however proved more social (sweet parties) and gr. 8 was a blast. In the Senior school, sport will be remembered as one of the 3 (along with R.M. and N.J.) in the back of every science class known to man, poking fun at E.S. and J.E. In gr. 12 DIM learned just how fast word of mouth can travel when it comes to ones social life (did anyone not find out about that certain someone). Anyway, see you guys all next year at UVic, I'll be on a court somewhere, or studying for still more BIO/CHEM/PHYSICS tests. Good Luck and best wishes to Grad '95.

Tara Strong

Tara escaped the bearded women in Grade 10 and sought refuge at SMUS with partner in crime A.H. The gang was quickly established and there was never a shortage of fromage. After breaking her silence the mute became a strong player, aspiring to leave small fries for quarter-pounders. She quickly learned what being sick really meant and C.H told the not so happy camper "No, helicopters don't fly to Sidney Spit". Chaos erupted in Grade 11 in Squamish city of rocks. The peewee dance was adopted and obsessions with C.B's were frequent. A quieter tone was created after snowmen were built at Whistler with A.C. One road trip landed her in Penticton where Tara did some night-swimming while A.H noted how dusty the dust was. Grade 12 was a blur but standing O New Year's '95, SexWax 1250 Baby, and rebuilding snowmen on the "unofficial" Whistler Grad Trip must be remembered. Her words of wisdom: avoid brief encounters, don't stop at bus stops unless you're on the bus, and of course when life needs some spice go to Hawaii for some Jammin'.

Leah Sturgis

You've got a blister from everything you touch, good nutritionalists will give you same length of bone but you've no more than one generation away from poor white trash. Never mind the bollocks, we've got no feelings for anybody else, except for ourselves, our beautiful selves. If a ten ton truck kills the both of us, to die by your side, the pleasure and priviledge is mine. There's more to life than this because the moon is always female, so are sugar-eaters. Sad veiled bride please to be happy, handsome groom give her room, for she needs you more than she loves you. The bass was tinkling, but the notes were not sweet till you sung them. Send me the pillow - the one that you dream on, and I'll send you mine. I'll meet you at the cemetery gates, sister Mcguire. I love you. I adore you. Get out of the box godammit: Love, Anu

Agung Tandjung

Although English language problems made life difficult for Agung upon his arrival from Surabaya, Indonesia in 1992, Agung persevered. Agung is a pretty quiet individual and he enjoyed spending his weekends going to downtown, ten-pin bowling, and also occasionally, cursing his golf clubs on Uplands with S.T, S.D and Y.H. Agung spent the rest of his spare time listening to music and reading comic books. It was always good to have G.H for a roommate for 3 years. After graduation, Agung hopes to study business either in Vancouver or Victoria and will eventually go home to Surabaya, his home town, to stay. Agung has an affinity for Symons House and will be sorry to leave SMUS and his friends, but he threatens to return for visits.

Caroline Thomson

Caroline is like a mountain, with really white teeth. She has a pencil case that feels obliged to share many truths with the world. Her spirit of the west lives freely like nymphs in a forest named Ella. She is staid and stoic like that big mountain Arrowsmith. Her multitude of experiences includes a fast trek through the Stein Valley and hiking the Witness trail in Clayuquoct Sound before it existed. Caroline knits and sews more than any grandmother we know. And yet, she still finds time to pursue academic and social interests. Her elusive and mystic nature can be somewhat daunting, but if in doubt we may all assure she is superior to us. Ben is not a peach!

Surya Tjandra

I came to SMUS from Jakarta, Indonesia to become a boarder in Grade 7. Boarding was not fun in Grade 7 and Grade 8 as I had to share a room with six other people! bath together, eat together, a completely different lifestyle from what I was used to back home in Indonesia. As the new houses were built, however, boarding became MUCH better. I moved to Bolton House, where I will always remember the wonderful experiences and times. When it comes to pocket money night, J.J.G always on guard. Mr. & Mrs. C. who always helped when I needed help, Thanks for being so nice to me. While at SMUS, I learned several new things, how to play badminton and rugby. I was a member of the "Dogs of War", 2nd XV. I also learned how to play the trombone and was a member of the Concert band and the Jazz band. In Grade 12 I was accepted in the Provincial Honour Choir. I am hoping to study business next year at S.F.U.

Angela Tongue

"There's Rosemary, that's for remembrance. Pray you Love, remember" -- Shakespeare
Angela started Gr. 3 at SMUS as an English girl but entered Gr. 4 as a Canadian. Her junior school days were filled with horsechessnut wars, hockey cards, ACE and being squished by O.S, D.F sandwiches. The middle school for Ang holds memories of Vreau's brilliant stories told on the yellow bus, running around the pink hallways with magnet avoiding the door of hell, changing in the sauna, and polyester red ties. Gr. 9 was filled with fruits, penes, drawings and fun. Playing with Bags, Miss. Tennisball head and Vreau. Frollicking around in P.M.S Pinafore, Japan, dancing en vogue and drinking the purple. Gr. 11 and Gr. 12 became very busy filled with people, Fiddler, singing, Fairies, shooo, Gondoliers, experiences and adventures. To my fellow darkness espionage, be free. To everyone I have been with at SMUS thank you for teaching me. "By the means of music the passions enjoys themselves" . . . Remember take moonbaths and believe in magic.

Kevin Towler

Kevin has been with us at SMUS for six years, much to our grievance. He is a quiet person, most of the time. Occasionally he can be extremely loud, mostly when he's not being quiet. He has an uhh . . . unusual personality which can combine determination with skill, when he wants to. He can also be stubborn, underhanded and humiliating with his highly American sense of humour (my apologies Americans), but in the end he's just another individual and a unique person. Thank goodness!

Tom Tsai

Tom Tsai, the religious hero (Chung-Hao), arrived at SMU in grade 8. He has started going after many different girls since then. Finally, he met the right girl, Shirley Wei in his third year at SMU. Although Tom had been rejected by Shirley for "N" times, he never gave up. After three years of chasing, Shirley has finally become Tom's girlfriend in grade 12. "The End". In Tom's years in SMU, he has met many friends, enemies + "rivals". Thanks to . . . AL, JL, GH, EY, SL, SW . . . for their companionship all through the years. "Hopefull", Tom will be seen driving his BMW in UC Berkerley in the following year. (Berkerley? Dream on, Tom!)

Steve Tsao

Steve is very friendly and is always showing deference to everyone (especially to DH, BM, SW and MH + any girls). Singing is Steve's natural talent but he also has a defect: he sings all the time. He was accepted to the Prima Choir and is one of the male members who has shown a full time attendance to this time consuming commitment. Steve was also chosen to take part in the Gondoliers. Due to the reason that he is a diligent worker and devotes most of his time on school work, he only has time to participate in his favorite sports: soccer and tennis. Steve is looking forward to attend UBC because he will not need to squander his money on long distance phone calls with his many girlfriends. Just in case you may not be able to recognize Steve in the future, just look for the suped up Black Eagle Talon Tsi AWD around UBC campus. He could be the one who you will be racing against . . .

Amy Tseng

Amy, in all her innocence, came to SMUS in Gr. 10 from Taiwan. Not knowing how to react to all the strange people around her, she suppressed her inner fury at her roommate's excessive noisiness. She has since learned to forgive D.L., accepting it as part of her character and loving her for it. Winslow 93-94 was found to process a more liberal environment, in which Amy discovered a new sense of freedom that she embraced fully. Too fully. In fact, she hardly saw her room that year, determined to discover the full potential of downtown. Accompanying her on her mission were faithful friends A.Y, B.P and C.L. Realizing that she was carrying her hedonism to the point of ridiculousness and bankrupting, Amy decided to settle down in her last year. Therefore Gr. 12 was a year of serious hard work, only occasionally interrupted by entertainment by S.P in the form of a "squid dance" and "Gong go" from J.L. A constant topic of conversation with friends centered around "LO LO", "AYa AYa" and "Waves". Memories of SMUS will be cherished in Amy's mind: See you in 10 years!

James Upton

James came to SMUS shortly after the year began from somewhere up island (don't ask!!) to finish his high school education. He adjusted quickly to his new home ESPECIALLY with the ladies. James was involved in numerous activities during his brief stay including rugby and the Grade 12 play. He made a lot of friends and will be sorely missed next year. As for the future James plans to further his education and study business at Western University if possible. He would like to wish the Graduating Class the best of luck in the future and he looks forward to seeing everyone at the ten year reunion. Finally, he thanks everyone who helped him through the year!

Ann Valikoski

Ann came to SMU as a bright-eyed grade 10 student from the booming metropolis of Campbell River, B.C. Armed only with her violin, she finally emerged from exile in grade 11 as a first violinist. Ann was responsible for the founding of several obscure underground clubs during her time at SMUS, including the "I Brake for Asian Men" Fan Club with Fressica Jic, and how could we forget the illustrious "Geo Trip" with GB and GD in which she deeply frightened friends and family with her obsessive need to name and classify various rocks and minerals. With her grad year came a boost of status as she was appointed Head of Timmis House, in which she installed a fascist regime and reign of terror. Ann wishes to end her happy and productive SMU existence with a few parting words: Pork n' Beans! Trent Reznor! Mica Schist! Dominic Lives! Jesus Saves! Vive la Suisse! Au Revoir mes Amis!

Edward Wang

Eddie came to SMU in grade 9 from Bombay, India. In his four years here he has been a boarding student. He has learned a lot and made a lot of friends. He hopes to take over his fathers business when he graduates from the University of Guelph.

Adrienne Watt

Sitting on a bench . . . Doing NADA . . . See you when you're FAT and BALD. LATER CHUBBY!

Shirley Wei

Shirley, a girl of everyone's dreams, has the greatest driving skills and the kindest heart any girl can posses. She is quiet, shy and easy-going. However, one shall never even try to push her to her limit, as many of us has experienced, it is not considered a pleasure to get killed. Shirley loves dogs as well as fishing for cute guyz. She is proud of her ability to stay on the phone for longer than 24 hours per day (hmm . . . I wonder with whom?). Unforgettable moments on Mt. Tolmie, 7-11, midnight movies, Mosquito and Vampire cruises, most huggable, and Christmas 94' in Taipei (the awesome concert, #7 park, Stereo show, MTV, everyone we met). Best wishes for the prettiest girl and I will miss you, forever!

Allister Wilmott

Allister bounced onto the scene in gr. 10 bringing his skills and thrills. The "Sweet Pea" went to work on the court where he scared his opponents and dazzled the fans. The "GLOVE" always came up with the goods, stealing like a true con artist. The amazing ride of the Bobcat will always prowll until it reaches car heaven. Going for Snapple, laughing at the farces, hiding from the silent assassins, and going to work, will always be remembered. School was like a fantasy land and the pea would like to thank all the players. Ride the Snake little ones, and you will seek your existence. In the future, Ali will play ball and will make his living from his skills that will pay the bills. R.I.P.

Kristen Wilson

The eye is watching you! For many years Wils endured hard training at Willows in order to prepare for the day he would enter SMU. In reality Wils should still be there except for the fact that the teachers were terrified by the thought of another year with him so they gladly allowed him to proceed to SMU. At SMU Wils gave the appearance of being very calm and unemotional, but deep down inside burnt a rage that few ever saw. He uses this rage to excel at anything he so desired: soccer, Rugby, running, and Physics just to name a few. A day that Wils and Victoria motorists will always remember is the day someone made the mistake of giving Wils a drivers license. This new found freedom allowed him to have many exciting adventures with a few choice friends. Wils enjoys the fine musical talent of Rage Against the Machine and his personal favourite song: Bullet In The Head. Wils will no doubt some day live in deepest darkest Peru from where he will make fine computer programs and organize violent revolutions.

Joshua Wong

"Moshi, moshi!" Josh 'Ping Pong' Wong arrived at SMU in Gr. 8, with pals KC and ES. He quickly gained a reputation as having a witty (sometimes too witty personality, always looking for a chance to render himself a fool. Upon entering the Senior School, he immediately befriended MH and WC. In Gr. 10, along with KL, he bailed on KC for the Sayward Outtrip. (Being a responsible citizen, Josh made it up to KC by taping those movies.) In Gr. 11, he met IL and nearly began a promising career as a famous Chinese pop star, but gave it up to end the boring lives of KC, ES, and KL. Best memories: classes with AL, winning the inaugural SMU School Badminton Tourney, hanging with AW, BC, CC, and the '93 Tennis Provincials. Lastly, Josh will always be the #1 fan of LS and MR. Sayonara!!!

Russell Wong

Hopefully, some people will remember Russ Wong as a smart, friendly, and likeable guy. Sheila Campbell will remember him as the "Ex-President", but most will simply remember "The Dragon". In two short years of boarding at SMU, Dragon became good friends with Eugene, Gethin, Dave C., Alex L, and Duncan W., and many people have seen him around campus wrestling with Geth, Alex, and Euan. Members of the Grade 11 Senior Boys 'B' Soccer Team will recall one practice when Dragon ran up to the ball on a penalty shot, kicked his own foot, and fell flat on his feet. Okay, maybe he's not a star athlete, but he was First Tenor Sax in the Jazz Band, Senior Student Lighting Designer in Grade 12, and part of the chorus for both "Fiddler on the Roof" and "The Gondoliers", while being a prefect in Harvey House. For his last words to SMU, he wants to thank his teachers for, well, teaching him, Mr. & Mrs. Jones for making him feel at home, and their children for warping his mind.

Duncan Woodhouse

What a year it's been for me! I've seen many a mountain and many a tree. The songs that I've heard like Lunch lady land, have made me laugh like the Valentines band. Gondoliers was cool, the skiing rad and the Hong Kong sevens was smeggin well fab. I've been to the Jones' for many a cuppa, there's many a quarrel on socca and rugga. Many a person, many a sight, it makes me sorry to get that last flight. Cheers. Duncan Woodhouse "Woodie" *Back to Britain

Justin Yang

This guy came to the gorgeous institute of SMU in gr. 9 and enveloped himself into good times and nightmares. Justin made slow academic progress at first but gradually scammed his way and produced decent marks in his grad year. In athletics, Yang was cheered for his fancy feet in soccer, patented "dummies" in rugger, and his smooth yet gentle strokes on the tennis court. This pretty boy will be missed for his pearly white smile and perfectly groomed locks - HP. Justin would like to thank "BJ" for all the good times, and wish his grad class all the best in their useless pursuits (sooner or later you will be all working for ME!) His future aspirations include being filthy rich by 21, and eventually settling down with Veronica Lodge and contributing to the uncontrollable Chinese population. Justin sheds a tear for departing all the great friends he has made during his stay at SMU. Next year he plans to attend McGill or UBC eventually launching his career as a businessman. Best of Luck Kid.

Eugene Yeung

"Things that make you go hmmm . . ." Eugene mysteriously entered the SMUS scene in the middle of Grade 9. His quick adjustment to SMUS life, including boarding, allowed him to impress many people and make a lot of friends. His hobbies in the final year were; Rita, Olivia, AP courses, Rita, Olivia . . . more Rita . . . , more more Olivia. His illustrious sports career included a bit of everything: X-Country, Track & Field, Rugby and Soccer. Although he was unsuccessful at the latter, he was then focused on swimming, where he found his most success. Boarding life has been kind to the two time prefect. He made many friends throughout his school years: - that's because some of them either ran away or were expelled. Thanks to RW, ES, AL, JO, TT, GH, RJ, JF, AV, IK, IL etc. as he seeks similar friends down in the states next year.

Joshua Yoo

Josh joined SMUS late, but with his ability to create, his academics soon fell into line. His music on guitar w/ jazz band did not go very far - he found that it destroyed his beauty-sleep. Some nights at Johnny Z's he was difficult to please, especially when some guy disrupted his game - the matter was taken outside. Tempers became frayed in the merry month of May when doubts arose about a certain girl. Calculus was missed to the chagrin of Mr. Smith, and no show for duty aroused Mrs. G's ire. LK's return from East seemed to brighten up his life and now there's no more strife. He's feeling pretty cool, now his friends know he's no fool, for he won the lovely lady from afar. (Too bad, YK, ML, and DK) So while he's at UBC his lady love will constant be and Josh will feel like singing to the MOON.

Alistair Zacks

Known for his musical gift, extraordinary skiing ability and cunning wit, which has been known to make people run away from him very fast (it took time to develop his talent (JS), Alistair has been whinnying along with us, here at SMU since the sixth grade. Not too much happened to Ali until the end of tenth grade, when the notorious five SMU crazies: AZ, AM, GD, SD, and GHG, reached the climax of their high-school careers and haven't been seen down ever since. Not to say that Ali has never sang any blues (he actually sings them quite well). Zacks has earned his income by leading small children off of mountain tops and turning light switches at the MC Pherson. Normally a quiet and reserved sort of fellow, Ali, sometimes has outrageous outbursts. Famous quotes of his include (shhh, be quiet, Ali, the good enforcers of the law are here) $*/&*% The COPS. "Down with the ref". ("Hit the showers Mr. Zacks.") "follow me, for I am oh, so bright", Ali wants to go to McGill next year to make music that people can sing to while in the shower. Alistair Zacks never could keep his hand out of the cookie jar.

Jake Zwaan

Jake came to SMU in grade eight. LAME! Once reaching Senior School status he became a proud member of the Bolton Buds. No other explanation needed, except: "We rocked that mountain!" In grade 12 Jake managed to achieve prefectship, only to have it snatched away the next day setting a SMU record. Car rallies, as well as Whistler were awesome. "Horse, we'll have to do that again sometime." Jake would also like to thank the 2nd floor girls of Winslow for reminding him of his sister. "Thanks for the great times Now take me from this sterile place and travel me till I'm dead, or maybe just U of C." Snowmobiles are fun.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Someone once said "if it wasn't for bad luck, we'd have no luck at all." An interesting thought, and, in some ways, one that applied to the many athletic teams this year at SMUS. Indeed, of the ten provincial tournament appearances made by school teams, a full three reached the semi-final stage, while another four were knocked out in the quarter-finals. At crucial times, the necessary break just never seemed to materialize, as penalty shots hit the post or crossbar, kicks drifted wide of the posts, key players were injured or 50/50 decisions went the other way.

Nonetheless, there was much in which to take solace, beginning with numerous excellent individual performances. There was a ninth straight Island A Field Hockey title, a first ever win over Lambrick park in Girls Basketball, and a thrilling Island AAA Boys Basketball championship (4th in 5 years) courtesy of an Ali Wilmott jumper with .6 seconds to play. The Senior Cross Country team, operating in the toughest zone in the province, consistently overachieved, while, in Badminton, the school not only hosted the BC Tournament, but achieved a best ever 3rd place finish. To cap things off, Matt Turner set an Island Junior Boys record of 52.5 in the 400 meters. A small band of determined cyclists finished City runner-up, and the Cricket XI recovered "the Ashes" from St. Georges in comprehensive fashion. The tennis squad also performed soundly, before losing no fewer than five tiebreakers in the BC tournament to finish ninth. The 1st XV, though losing narrowly twice to Oak Bay, and going down 10-9 to St. Georges in the provincial quarter-finals, did have the satisfaction of drawing 17-17 with eventual provincial champion Semiahmoo.

With the New Gym operating efficiently, and with the surface of the playing fields continuing to improve, scheduling for both PE and Games was much simpler than in past years. Of course, the significant efforts of a talented group of coaches must not go unrecognized.

Likewise, may I thank all the parents for such fine support of the programs and also extend gratitude to the ground, bus, janitorial, office, kitchen, laundry, and nursing staff who toil so unselfishly behind the scenes.

To the graduates, the best of luck in the future. Maintain ties with the school. Continue to work hard and enjoy yourselves.

Getting back to "luck," to those returning, perhaps it is better to ponder golfing legend Gary Player's comment "... the more I practice, the luckier I get." Indeed, next year, let us make our own breaks by being more resilient, tenacious, disciplined and dedicated. Let us leave nothing to chance!!!

BADMINTON

B.R: Mr. P. Gardiner, L. Gordon, J. Wong, T. Stevenson
F.R: M. Pang, M. Cheng, W. Chen, S. Tjandra, I. Wong, C. Rueckert
MISSING: N. Judson, Z. Charania, C. Lee, M. Miller, A. Lee

The combination of an early start, made possible by the New Gym facilities, a core group of talented, dedicated players and the opportunity to host the BC Tournament made for the most successful season in school history.

League games proved to be almost a formality, as the team moved easily to the top seed in the local competition and then secured the South Island #1 berth for the BCs. This event, played the first weekend back from Spring break, and featuring the best 16 teams from around the province, was absolutely riveting, with some of the skills shown by the top players quite breathtaking.

In Pool play, the team easily won its first two matches vs Crawford Bay and North Island SS, before defeating highly regarded Maple Ridge 7-4 in what was considered the day's first upset. This guaranteed a semifinal place vs perennial power Vancouver Technical, with the winner to likely play tournament top seed Sentinel in the final.

This was a nip and tuck affair throughout, and turned on the strangest of events. Unfortunately, in the middle of a doubles match, Surya Tjandra was accidentally cut above the eye by teammate Wayne Chen, and had to retire as the wound required 8 stitches. Tournament rules did not allow for a substitute, so the match was lost, and though the final result was a 7-4 defeat, the default proved to be a real momentum shifter.

Happily, with bandaged Tjandra back from hospital, the tea, bounced back to defeat Queen Elizabeth of Surrey 7-4 to claim the tournament bronze medal. The third place finish was the best ever for SMUS.

Congratulations to all team members on their attitude, work ethic and sportsmanship. To the grads, best of luck in the future. To those returning, set your sights on another rewarding season.

JUNIOR GIRLS BASKETBALL

B.R: C. Jones, J. De Hahn, E. Clough, K. Kerr, K. Wynn
M.R: A. Horsman, K. Lobb, K. Larsen, A. Browne, Ms. Poland
F.R: L. Aitken, J. Reed, L. Van Gyn, J. Nash, J. White

It was another exciting, action and pressure packed season. Ultimately, despite fine talent and a good work ethic, a lack of consistency resulted in a heartbreaking 39-38 City Tournament loss to Arbutus which denied the team an Island, and likely BC Tournament, berth.

The team placed second in the super competitive City league, second at the prestigious Police Tournament, and won the Esquimalt Invitational. Other notable games included a five point league victory over nemesis Arbutus.

Point guard Joann Nash showed many touches which suggest she will follow in the family footsteps as a terrific player. Post Emily Clough was one of the league's highest scorers, and was well supported by forward Carys Jones. Guard Kristina Kerr was also an effective scorer, while Grade 9s Kim Lobb and Alison Browne played many valuable minutes.

Thanks to all the other players who also practiced with great enthusiasm, and improved tremendously. As a result, the Girls Basketball program is on solid footing.

JUNIOR BOYS BASKETBALL

B.R: Mr. Jones, A. Johnston, E. Fairhurst, J. Pollock, M. Pettinger, S. Desember
F.R: T. Spicer, I. Wan, S. Hirao, C. Parrott, M. Danskin

Fully 45 players attended tryouts for the team, which made the task of selecting a final squad difficult.

Unfortunately, both size and experience were lacking and despite a few narrow wins early in the season in exhibition play, it soon became apparent that victories at this most competitive of levels would be hard to come by. So it proved, with close losses to Oak Bay and Arbutus effectively scuttling any hopes of making the City Tournament.

Happily, many talented Grade 9s will return for another season, and join forces with a particularly big and talented group of Grade 8s. To the others, best of luck in your quest to make the Senior team in the next two years.

Special thanks to assistant coach Damian Grant, who as a former Blue Devil star, brought a great deal of knowledge and passion to both practices and games.

SENIOR GIRLS BASKETBALL

B.R: Ms. Poland, R. Boulton, O. Ross, K. Edgell, C. Ezzedin, J. Appleton
F.R: S. Perry, H. Lamala, J. Holdsworth, D. Age, T. Boteju

Expectations were high from the start of the season, as a number of very talented and hard working players were available. So it proved to be, as the team enjoyed its most successful ever campaign, winning the City title, finishing second on the Island, and then reaching the BC quarter-finals before bowing out in a bitterly contested OT game against host Britannia.

The team competed in the local Premier League (AAA and AA), finishing 7-2 and finally defeating Lambrick Park (80-60 in their gym!!). In the Island Tournament, foul trouble and a rib injury to star guard Joanna Holdsworth made for some interesting early games, though the team did claw its way to the final. In this game, again against Lambrick Park, despite 33 points from tournament MVP Karen Edgell and fine performances from Tanya Boteju and All-Stars Holdsworth and Deanna Age, the opposition secured a 9 point win.

At the BCs, held in Vancouver, a hard fought 60-40 opening round win ensured the expected quarter-final encounter with host Britannia, led by 6'-3" superstar Amber Hall. In easily the most thrilling game of the tournament played in front of college scouts, incredibly noisy fans, and shown on Cable TV, Britannia scored a 71-68 OT win. Though the team had led in early going by as many as 15 points (due mostly to Hall being in foul trouble), it still required two gutsy free throws by Holdsworth with one second remaining to force the extra session.

The final two games of the tournament were, not surprisingly, anti-climatic, with the team eventually finishing 7th. Karen Edgell, who will continue her hoop career at SFU, was named to the All-Star team.

A special thank you to all the players for considerable sacrifice, and also to surrogate assistant coach Mrs. Jean Ives, manager Jen Appleton and stats persons Michelle Cheng and Ivy Lam. Further thanks to Mrs. Heather Hughes for all her work behind the scenes.

To the grads, best of luck in the future, To those returning, look forward to what will assuredly be another extremely competitive, exciting season.

SENIOR BOYS BASKETBALL

B.R: B. White, J. Osei-Tutu, J. Mills, O. Schmidt, P. Beatty, C. Dyer, E. Kerr, W. Chu, C. Loveless, Mr. Hyde-Lay
F.R: Mr. Greenwell, S. Ibell (manager), S. Gingles, J. MacIver, M. Greenwood, A. Wilmott, D. Fairhurst, V. Gill, H. Thompson

With a good number of talented players returning, it quickly became apparent, especially after an early season win over #1 ranked Terry Fox, that anything less than a provincial AAA title (to match that of the 1992 season) would be a disappointment. So it proved to be, as a final 38-4 record, an unbeaten Christmas tour of California, and a third Island championship in four years did not take away the bitter taste of an 88-87 BC quarterfinal defeat to McNair.

Nonetheless, much was accomplished, and no season must ever be judged solely on the merit of one result. At times, the team played superb basketball, led by the dynamic 1-2 punch of forward Ole Schmidt and point guard Ali Wilmott, both of whom carried off tournament hardware in every event in which the team participated.

These two were well supported by high flying cornerman Mischa Greenwood, and the heady Jamie MacIver, while fellow seniors Scott Gingles and Jeremy Mills invariably provided solid minutes off the bench. Likewise, returnees Dave Fairhurst and Vinnie Gill performed well when given the opportunity.

Of the other underclassmen, guards Cam Loveless and Hayden Thompson shared a starting backcourt position, while 6'6" post Peter Beatty showed some of the flashes which, with consistency, could make him one of the premier players in the province in his senior year. Also, in a limited role, forwards Colin Dyer and Alex Millar, and guard Rob Connolly, displayed the grit and work ethic necessary to succeed. Indeed, this sextet, along with talented posts Ben White and John Thomson, could surprise next season.

My sincere gratitude to co-coaches Ted Anderson and Bill Greenwell, both of whom put in, without complaint, the countless hours necessary to be successful at the AAA level. Indeed, it was gratifying to see "Billy G" rewarded at a special BC High School Banquet in honour of those who have coached more than 25 years at the secondary level.

Further thanks to all those who worked so diligently in a supporting role, particularly the scorekeepers and gym set up crew, and to Maintenance Head Mr. Doug Park, for whom no problem ever seemed to difficult to conquer, whatever the time line.

Finally, a big thank you to all the fans, who again, in numerous close games, but especially in the Island Final vs Mt. Douglas, made the difference!!! We hope to be able to provide you again next season with the type of basketball you have become accustomed to watching!!

F.R.: P. Davis, M. Turner, T. Chiu, E. Huddart, R. Angline, D. Wilson

The team enjoyed its most successful season in the past five years. The Grade 9 Girls, led by Gillian and Lindsay Van Gyn, were not only talented, but extremely energetic and enthusiastic. As a result, the group placed first in both the City and Island competitions. The Grade 9 Boys, sixth in the City and then fourth on the Island, were led consistently by Chris Noel.

At the Junior Boys level (Grade 10), the team finished a very competitive second in local competition, but only sixth in the Island meet, due to the fact that Dave Wilson, one of the squad's finest runners, was injured. However, Matthew Turner, one of the most talented runners ever at SMUS, did everything in his power to compensate, turning in a brilliant season to place at both City and Island level. Finally, the Grade 10 Girls, who struggled to consistently fill a team during the City races, miraculously placed second at the Island Championship. This superb result allowed the combined SMUS team to finish second overall on the Island, a simply terrific result.

Thanks to all the athletes for their commitment and dedication. Best of luck next year to those moving to the senior ranks.

B.R: Emily Scarfe, Kristen Wilson, Robert Mazuch, James Peacock, Emil Burdett, Jeremy Mills, Brad Stevenson
F.R: Genny Burdett, Vinita Singla, Natasha Schorb, Ernest Salcedo, Samantha McKay, Patrick Gill, Ailsa Lenk, Jessica Fitz (manager)
MISSING: Lorelei Wey and coach Ms. Keziere

The Cross Country team enjoyed another successful season. Led by Lorelei Wey and Genny Burdett, The Girls team placed third locally, and then fourth in the Island Championships. Qualifying for the Provincials in Abbotsford, where the race took place in miserably cold, wet and windy conditions, the team finished 18th over (a fine result) and gained invaluable experience for future years.

The boys, led by the very committed duo of Kristen Wilson and Emil Burdett, competing in far and away the province's toughest zone, finished fourth locally and sixth on the Island. Kristen is to be commended on his individual qualification for the BCs, where he placed 96th out of 400+ competitors.

My thanks to the group for its wonderful commitment and enthusiasm.

CRICKET

B.R: C. Dyer, L. Hassett, E. Burdett, M. Johnson, D. Woodhouse, E. Wang, R. Wong, S. Cameron, B. Luckhurst, Mr. Fisher
F.R: M. Wenman, S. Chinoy, J. Hodgson, B. Daibo, P. Bazzard, P. Frisby, I. Wan, R. Ingle, B. Sohail

The season began early this year, with two matches in the early fall. Both resulted in narrow losses, the first against St. Georges, despite three superb "sixes" from Bulent Sohail. The second, against a GNS XI, was by only two runs, and in no small measure due to bowling thirteen wides!!!

The team then hibernated in the gym for six months, working on skills and playing several indoor games, one of which produced a convincing victory over a rusty staff squad.

In the summer term the 1st XI played three fine games. On a slow wicket, at home, the team bowled St. Georges out for 101 (Emil Burdett 2 for 14, Bulent Sohail 3 for 7). The top half of the order then responded well with Richard Ingle (22), Sasha Cameron (19), Bulent Sohail (23) and Patrick Frisby (14) all scoring well. Unfortunately, a sudden collapse produced a very exciting finish with Bawo Daibo scoring a single on the last ball of the match to ensure the first ever tied game between the two schools.

Against the Alumni, good bowling saw the opposition struggling at 85 for 9 before lady Luck intervened. John Wenman actually played a ball between the centre and off stump, and while the stumps splayed the bails they did not dislodge-thus "not out". Not one to miss taking advantage of such an opportunity, John then belted a quick 41 to push the Alumni to a total of 138.

The school innings fell apart almost immediately, with normally steady batsman falling prey to ill advised shots. Only a majestic 64 not out by Bulent Sohail brought the final tally to a respectable 110.

On the return to St. Georges, everything fell into place. Several batsmen actually retired not out and a final total of 151 for 2 was impressive indeed. Happily, the bowling and fielding were equally effective, with St. Georges all out for 72. Fine play by debut wicket-keeper Russell Wong and two superb catches by Duncan Woodhouse were the highlights of "The Ashes" returning to Victoria.

The 2nd XI enjoyed two games with Stellys School, with each side winning once. Congratulations to Britt-Marie and Ailsa Lenk who became the first ladies to play cricket for the school.

Thanks to all who took part, especially to captain Richard Ingle and Messrs JJ Goodwin, Mike Walsh and Tony Cordle for their assistance. May next year be as enjoyable.

- Mr. David Fisher

CYCLING

LEFT TO RIGHT: Mr. Alan Jones, B Leong, R Morton, J Peacock, E Burdett, P Mazuch, C Crawford (manager), Mr. Bill Buckingham

1995 saw last year's strong Junior team move on to its first season in the Senior ranks. Through quiet persistence and consistency, Emil Burdett, Brock Leong, Patricia Mazuch and James Peacock lived up to their potential, finishing second overall in the league.

In the Girls division, Patricia Mazuch placed second in both the road and mountain bike categories behind Candace Farrell of Belmont.

Brock Leong was also second overall in the road race series, but unfortunately suffered a steady stream of bad luck in the mountain bike races. James Peacock was fifth overall, and will do better next year if he does not break as many bike frames, while Emil Burdett's calm, unflappable approach will take him even further in his Grade 12 year.

The Junior team was composed largely of novice riders, who all found out just how demanding sport Cycling can be. Congratulations especially to John Breasail, Alec Johnston, Andrew Williamson and Russell Morton for their steady improvement and positive attitude.

The season was especially pleasing given the team's positive and cooperative nature. Thanks to all the riders and also to the team's manager Curran Crawford, who assisted so competently and reliably.

JUNIOR GIRLS FIELD HOCKEY

B.R: Ms. Poland, C. Wenman, K. Lobb, R. Anglin, K. Kerr, D. Age, R. Gardiner
F.R: J. Reed, R. Mavrikos, W. Davis, C. Tearoe, J. Bradbury, R. Black, L. Winters

A thirteen team City league ensured that there would be action aplenty this season, and so it proved to be. The team, ably led by Carys Jones, Ria Mavrikos, Deanna Age and Kristina Kerr and Whitney Davis, just to name a few, moved through early matches unbeaten, and then won the ISA tournament before taking part in a fantastic City Tournament at Lansdowne JJS.

In this grueling event, a superb semifinal vs Oak Bay went to a shootout, from which the team emerged victorious, thanks in part to the superb goalkeeping of Ria Mavrikos. Unfortunately, the final saw the reverse, as Arbutus ended up victorious after a shootout.

Thus seeded South #2, the squad felt confident of a good performance and of achieving the school's best ever finish in the Island Tournament. Unfortunately, upon arrival in Duncan for the weekend, everything that could have possibly gone wrong did go wrong, with two one goal defeats and an unsatisfactory 1-1 draw placing SMUS 11th.

My thanks to all the players, and particularly to alumnus Jeff Hunt, whose patience and skillful coaching were much appreciated. A final overall record of 11-3-1 and some excellent team play were most encouraging, even if the last weekend proved so disappointing.

SENIOR GIRLS FIELD HOCKEY

The team enjoyed a wonderful season, in what had to be the most competitive hockey season locally and provincially for many years. In Victoria, the union of the AA and AAA leagues provided the needed stimulation for all schools, and it was no mean feat to finish this round robin portion of the schedule unbeaten. This, allied to a solid 9th (of 20) finish at the UBC Early Bird Tournament, a respectable 7th (of 16) at the prestigious Bridgman Cup, and a 1st place tie with powerful Brentwood at the ISA's, all proved invaluable preparation for the rigorous playoff matches which lay ahead.

The Island AA tournament was the tightest in years. As eight time defending champions, the team was under pressure from the outset, but managed to weather two shootouts to again claim the title. Goalie Caroline Fric was virtually unbeatable, while Meggan Hunt returned from receiving stitches at the hospital to score the winning goal on a crucial penalty stroke.

Due to inclement weather, the BCs were held on artificial turf at Eric Hamber SS. Two wins on the first day of play were only a prelude to a wild second day, with snow delaying play for several hours!!! The semi-finals vs Rossland was tied 1-1 after regulation and overtime, forcing the dreaded shootout. Unfortunately, having won twice the previous week in the same format, the final shot rang off the post and away. The bitter disappointment faded somewhat with a win over Agassiz for 3rd place (another shootout) the next day.

Many thanks to all the supporters and especially the players. Best wishes to graduates Jo Forbes, Stephanie Olsen, Sheila Campbell, Jeannie Norris, Jen Appleton, Britt-Marie Luckhurst and Adreinne Watt. To those returning - "pitter patter".

GRADE NINE RUGBY

B.R: Mr. Ian Hyde-Lay, B. Soderberg, G. Pemberton, C. Smith, C. Noel, A. Dowhy, A. Dewar, P. Kim, B. Heller, Mr. Peter Tongue
M.R: A. Dawson, V. Chu, B. Lim, B. Chiu, C. Kirk, D. Lynch, C. Stolarski, J. Chiu
F.R: C. Parrott, R. Large, R. Knott, R. Munroe, T. Kim, T. Freeman, V. Drohomirecki

Some 38 (about 85%) of the grade represented the A and B teams this season, and combined to play some useful rugby. Unfortunately, huge and talented opposition at Shawnigan, Brentwood and St. Georges meant that wins were hard to come by, with lack of physique invariably proving our undoing.

Nonetheless, many useful players emerged, and, living on sometimes only a beggar's ration of possession, combined to produce some fine tries. In the A XV, jack of all trades Chris Stolarski played well in several different positions, while flanker Chris Noel, prior to his departure to bolster an injury ravaged Colts squad, was a tower of strength. Up front, Jordie Thome, Ben Heller, Chris Smith and Gavin Barry laboured diligently, while behind the scrum, wings David Lynch and Colin Parrott and centre Ryan Knott were constant threats.

In the B XV, centre Victor Drohomirecki always played purposefully, as did scrum half Ryan Munroe. In the pack, the front row of Jack Chiu, Craig Kirk and George Pemberton, and lock Peter Kim invariably worked well.

Hopefully, the group will develop physically, so to better combat the rigours of a demanding Grade 10 campaign. Other less reliable, less committed members of the group must look to better support their peers, so all may enjoy the benefits of this marvellous sport.

Special thanks to Mr. Peter Tongue for his assistance, and of course to all the referees and supporters.

GRADE TEN RUGBY

B.R: V. Law, M. Preston, B. Nelson, N. Stanger, J. Hammeken, C. Mavrikos, S. Lau
M.R: Y. Soegio, D. Wilson, S. Grant, K. Philips, S. Kim, E. Callendar, M. Jung, Mr. Kuklinski
F.R: E. Hung, D. Tang, S. Hirao, I. Wan, R. Morton, A. Vaidovits, D. Evans

The 1994 Colts Rugby season was a most successful one for all involved. Over 50 players took part in 29 games, with 95 tries being shared by 32 players.

The ISA campaign was extremely arduous, with A, B, and C XV's all involved in exciting matches with rivals Shawnigan, Brentwood, Glenlyon-Fortfolk, Collingwood and St. Georges. All three teams were usually struggling to match the opposition for size, but were often able to scrape home by virtue of great enterprise. A typical example came in the A match at Shawnigan, where despite the season ending loss of star fullback Jamie Pollock to a shoulder injury, the team came back to snatch a 21-17 win in the last minute.

In the City competition, it quickly became clear the team was on a collision course with Oak Bay, and so it proved to be. Unfortunately, decimated by further injuries to Ed Fairhurst, Shingo Hirao and Matt Turner, the A XV went down 33-12, recovering later in the week to defeat Parkland and so secure a place in the Island tournament.

Prior to the Islands, the 12th Annual Captain Beaky's Rugby League Challenge was played. Led by Ivan Wan, Simon Grant, Keith Phillips and Chris Mavrikos, the Artful Owls outclassed the Reckless Rats and the Timid Toads to capture hardware.

Also of note was a match vs Coopers Coburn from England. This proved to be an excellent encounter, with the SMUS forwards slightly gaining the upper hand over the visitor's slick backs.

The Island Tournament provided the one real disappointment of the season, as in a quarterfinal matchup with Dover Bay, an avalanche of possession was not converted into points. Instead, two bad mistakes led to breakaway tries by the opposition from which the team could not recover. A victory over GNS the next day in bitterly cold and miserable conditions was of little consolation.

Without wanting to take away from the team effort and performances, certain individuals merit mention. Ed Fairhurst and Jamie Pollock (17 tries) both scored over 100 points, while Matt Turner and Danny Tang also reached double figures on the try front. The consistent play of Gary Tongue, Ivan Wan, Nick Stanger, David Wilson and Vincent Law was also praiseworthy, as were the efforts of B XV captain Chris Mavrikos.

Thanks to coaches Mel Jones and Jim Chestnut for their encouragement and assistance, and to all the parents who supported all three teams so enthusiastically.

To all the players, further thanks for a great effort!! Well done!!

F.R: P. Miller, M. Repicky, E. Wang, J. Thomson, S. Choi, J. Liang, O. Gervais-Harreman, Y. Saito, R. Connolly, E. Fairhurst, A. Millar

It was both an enjoyable yet frustrating season for the Senior Rugby squad. On one hand, over 60 players turned out during the year, enabling three XV's to function, and giving anyone interested more than enough opportunities to play. On the other, several narrow defeats, including a 29-28 heartbreaker to Oak Bay in the Howard Russell Cup Final, and then 10-9 to St. Georges in the provincial quarter-finals, put paid to what might have been a quite successful year.

There were several highlights during the season, including wins over ISA rivals Brentwood and Shawnigan, and a dramatic 17-17 draw with top ranked Semiahmoo, who later went on to capture the BC title. The Howard Russell final notwithstanding, the 1st XV played two other extremely exciting games with archrival Oak Bay, winning 24-23 in the inaugural "Boot Game" before losing 15-8 in league play. Furthermore, the 1st VII reached the semifinal stage of the BC School Sevens, though for sheer spirit, excitement and Herculean defence in the face of gigantic opposition, had to take a back seat to another "magnificent seven", captained by Ryusuke Matsui and affectionately known as the "Cathy Pacific Flyers".

The 2nd XV also turned in some excellent performances, especially in defeating Shawnigan away 31-11, and producing a magnificent forward performance for 60 minutes vs a talented Lambrick Park side (AA#2 in BC), before two horrendous backline errors resulted in a 33-12 defeat.

Nonetheless, while many players gave spirited game performances, against the very best opposition there probably was just not enough abrasiveness, size and sheer athleticism to consistently cope. Likewise, too few players were prepared to spend the extra time necessary to develop individual unit skills and practice the "little things" which in tight, pressure matches make the difference. In that sense, though the team was nothing if not resilient through the season, often making tremendous come-backs when all seemed lost, the final results were probably justified.

Injuries played a crucial role as well, no more so than in season ending knee damage to Gethin Jones. The BC U17 scrum half, who had worked so hard to get ready to play after first term surgery, thus was not able to dictate play from the crucial halfback position. Replacement John Upton was then also sidelined by a mysterious virus, so leaving Grade 10 Ed Fairhurst in the #9 jersey. It said much for his ability that he was able to handle the inevitable pressure, but the loss of Jones, who perhaps could also have played the equally demanding flyhalf position, was too much to overcome.

Up front, captain and No. 8 Dave Fairhurst played many useful matches, as did fellow backrowers Jake Zwann and Jon Horsman, and the front row union of Matsui, Ryan Sinclair, Dave Murray and Andrew Middleton. Behind the scrum, fullback Chris Pollock scored a number of good tries and also kicked some useful goals, while left wing Scott Gingles capped a solid season by being named to the BC Schools Commissioner's XV. In mid field, vice captain Eric Kerr also performed bravely, especially in a defensive role.

The 1996 squad, on paper, looks more useful, with prospects of an Easter tour to the UK as good preparation for the season. Up front, Phil Bodley-Scott, Jack Wong, Alex Millar, John Thomson, Colin Dyer, Steve Lobb, Ben White and Cam Loveless have the potential to form an exciting backline. However, a more ruthless and dedicated approach will be required if the team is to match the best sides in the province.

Thanks and best wishes to all the players, particularly the grads, who hopefully will continue their rugby careers at university and beyond. Further thanks to Mr. Peter Tongue, Mr. Mike Walsh, and Mr. Ian Hyde-Lay for their assistance throughout the year.

F.R: C. Tearoe, J. Nash, J. Angus, A. Staseson, E. Huddart, J. Ford

The girls enjoyed a fine season, displaying talent and panache in fighting through a league draw which ultimately included both playoff finalists. Despite starting late due to a long Spring Break, the team captured the final playoff berth before going out in the quarter-finals to Colquitz.

Defensively, the team was quite strong with Andrea Horsman in goal and Emily Clough, Emily Huddard and Kanoux Larsen on the backline.

An ever changing midfield solidified late in the season, with Ria Mavrikos and Kim Lobb as the experienced outside halves, and Cara Yeates displaying field hockey style aggression in the middle. Recent news is that all of her midfield opponents have recovered from their injuries and are resting comfortably.

Up front, Joann Nash demonstrated extraordinary virtuosity with the ball, and was responsible for more goals than could be counted-indeed, even more goals than were counted!! Chantelle Tearoe, Jen Angus and Alison Browne also were dangerous in the opposition goalmouth, while Bailey Harang and Anna Thomas shared wing duties. Amy Karchut and Kristina Kerr were invaluable utility players, performing well in several different positions, while the Van Gyn twins, Gillian and Lindsay, provided confusion in opposing ranks simply by running towards each other!!

My thanks to all the players for their maturity, courage and high spirits. Thanks also to "the Commish".

F.R: C. Marikos, Q. Bregg, R. Large, M. Danskin, M. Turner, I. Wan

Some 35 students tried out for the team this year, making final selections more difficult than ever. Making the task even more difficult was a highly competitive City league, in which, though the squad began strongly with a hard fought win at Oak Bay, victories were at a premium. As a result, a quarter-final playoff defeat was a fair reflection on ability.

While not singling out any specific individuals, there were a number of fine performances, many by players who will challenge for Senior squad places in the fall. Best of all from a coach's perspective was the enthusiasm, work ethic and team-work of all the players. Indeed, it was a pleasure working with the group.

F.R: J. Nash, C. Brown, V. Fera, P. Sanglap, T. Boteju, A. Watt, J. Forbes, B. Smith, D. Bradford

The squad battled through a tough season, hampered by a slow start following the return from Spring Break and a lack of games due to a late schedule change which split the league for the first time into AAA and AA sections. With only one AA berth available to the BCs, it was apparent that only a real upset would derail a powerful Claremont team from representing the City, and so it proved to be.

Following four consecutive losses to start the season, the team rebounded to win six in a row. Unfortunately, two of the league losses had been to Stellys and Lambrick Park, both games that really should have been won. This resulted in a playoff semifinal with Claremont, and though the team played extremely well (going down 6-3), a distinct improvement on the 7-1 league loss), the defeat signalled the end of the season.

A sincere thank you and best wishes to all the graduating players, most of whom worked diligently for at least two full years. A useful group of returnees, and some good talent coming up from the Junior XI should ensure a solid season in 1996. Thanks also to Mr. Rob Cameron for all his assistance.

SENIOR BOYS SOCCER

B.R: Mr. Nash, P. Bazzard, A. Wilmott, C. Pollock, E. Kerr (captain), D. Fairhurst, S. Gingles, K. Towler, R. Ingle, Mr. Cordle
F.R: A. Cameron, C. Loveless, A. Crawford, E. Frew, J. Thomson, P. Miller, R. Connolly, S. Bonet, A. Millar, B. Daibo

Despite some inconsistent exhibition and league performances, everything nearly came up smelling roses for the 1st XI, as only the width of a post in the provincial semifinal shootout vs local rival Stellys deprived the team of a chance to play for the BC AA title.

Thanks to goalie Dave Fairhurst, who played solidly throughout, and on occasion, made some brilliant saves. He was ably backed up by Dave Crothall, who also performed well for the ISA XI.

Defensively, simple resolve and a number of different formations kept the team in many games against more experienced, skillful opposition. Kevin Towler, John Thomson, Bawo Daibo, Pip Bazzard, Euan Frew and captain Eric Kerr all battled bravely throughout, as did Mischa Greenwood and Chris Streeter when not sidelined by injury.

The midfield was led by provincial All-Star Ali Wilmott, ably assisted by skillful Sasha Cameron and Seb Bonet. Complementing these artists were Andrew Crawford and Alex Millar, who displayed great courage competing for possession on the ground and in the air.

Up front, Scott Gingles (also a provincial All-Star), Chris Pollock and Cam Loveless competed tirelessly and scored numerous valuable goals. Utility man Richard Ingle also proved extremely valuable.

Some 35 players represented the school XI's, with some playing in a reversed ISA schedule. From this ISA group emerged Rob Connolly and Philip Miller, both of whom moved up to the main squad for the BC Championships.

In retrospect, considerable progress was made over the course of the year. Many players return to what could be an equally successful team next season.

My thanks and best wishes to all the graduates, and especially Mr. Tony Cordle for his assistance

F.R: D. Hahn, C. Yeates, B. White, M. Turner, D. Wilson, J. Van Gyn

With the arrival of the Spring Term came sunny skies and the 1995 Track and Field season. This year's team included athletes from a wide spectrum - from those who spent many hours training seriously to others who came out to try new events or help bolster the squad by filling a few empty spots. Once again, SMUS made a strong showing in the various competitions, including the All School Relays, a tri-meet with Oak Bay and Ridgeway, Oregon, and of course the City, Island and Provincial Championships.

Standouts included sprinters Bernie White, Devon Hahn, and Matthew Turner, jumpers Jamie Pollock, Matt Pettinger and Mischa Greenwood, steeplechaser and middle distance runner Dave Wilson, and top distance runners Lorelei Wei and Chris Noel. This young and talented group produced two qualifiers for the BCs, held in Port Coquitlam. Mischa Greenwood earned a place in the long and high jump, and had an excellent chance to medal in both, but unfortunately was unable to take part due to a hamstring injury. Matthew Turner, only in Grade 10, did superbly well to gain a 12th place finish in the 400.

The final meet of the season was the inevitable marathon Junior Island meet, held this year in Port Alberni. Departing at 5:30am, and returning home a mere 17 hours later, did little to diminish the high spirits and excellent performances of the athletes. High points included Matthew Turner's PR and Island Junior Boys record equalling time of 52.5 in the 400, and excellent team work to maintain the school's tradition of producing the best 4 x 400 squad.

Indeed, the junior group of athletes possess a tremendous amount of potential, and should do extremely well next year at the Senior level. Thanks to all this season's participants for such wonderful commitment and overall effort.

TENNIS

B.R: E. Hung, J. Yang, I. Schnieder, B. Sohail, J. Hammeken, P. Miller
F.R: M. Miller, J. Holdsworth, Z. Charania, C. Lee, Mr. Featherstone

The team enjoyed a most successful season, winning the City championship, finishing second on the Island, and then ninth in a hotly contested BC AAA Tournament.

In this latter event, hoping for a semi-final berth, the team was haunted by an inability to win tiebreakers, losing five in a row en route to first round defeats by Richmond and Vancouver College/Little Flower Academy. Placed in the consolation side of the tournament, the team could thus only achieve ninth place - it certainly was frustrating to see both Brentwood and St. Georges, teams of similar ability, finish second and fourth!!

Though the team was handicapped by the non-availability of Tim Stevenson, a 1994 colours winner, numerous others came to the fore. Ian Schnieder, as the A singles player, and Phil Miller and Bulent Sohail as the A doubles pair played superbly all season against a talented opposition, and received solid support from Justin Yang, Sebastian Elawny, Eric Hung and Jorge Hammeken.

Mariko Miller, winner of the Girls Sportsmanship award at the BCs, led the girls team, ably supported by Zareen Charania and Joanna Holdsworth, who became the most competitive doubles team. Also, Sarah Danzo, Alisa Cooper and Carol Lee played with determination.

Indeed, despite the fact SMUS has no tennis facilities of its own, the team played with real style and commitment. My thanks to them all for being such excellent ambassadors for both the school and the game.

F.R: J. Williams, L. Aitken, A. Holtham, N. Arnett, M. Bigwood, H. Gibson

The team enjoyed an exciting campaign, for although finishing 16th out of 22 in league play, a strong sense of spirit and fun ensured no little improvement and some big upsets over highly rated opposition late in the season. The team was ably captained by Kathryn Wynn and Michelle Butler, while Andrea Horsman, Alison Browne and Jen de Hann also gave solid performances.

Thanks to everyone who took part. A very positive standard was set from the outset, which can result in a playoff berth next year.

SENIOR GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

B.R: A. Harkness, K. O'Neill, L. Preston, Ms. Tabacco
F.R: A. Norheim, L. Gordon, T. Boteju

The 1994 team was young and inexperienced, and up against it in the super competitive City league. Nonetheless, hard work saw skills and understanding develop impressively, and lead to a 5th place ISA finish, and wins over talented Reynolds and Oak Bay squads. Unfortunately, a somewhat depleted team finished 7th in the City playoffs and so failed to reach the Island Tournament.

Karen Edgell had a superb season, and was much relied upon for leadership as well as her defensive and attacking qualities. Three setters, Tanya Boteju, Leslie Preston and Olivia Gamache, all played this most demanding of positions most effectively, while power hitters Kerry O'Neil, Lindsay Gordon, and Alison Harkness keyed the attack. Lastly, Ashlie Norheim practiced with great verve throughout the season, and developed tremendously.

Next year's squad should be successful through the same combination of hard work and enthusiasm. Best of luck to the returnees, and of course also to the grads in all their future endeavours.

GOLF

Despite the June 1994 retirement of Mr. Stewart Dunlop, the “Father of Golf” at SMUS, the team still participated fully this season in a number of high school competitions. A number of mid table finishes in the Police, City and ISA Tournaments, during which Surya Tjandra’s second place net 67 in the Police event and Richard Ingle’s second low gross at the ISA’s were the individual highlights, were, of course merely warmups for the big test-namely, the year and Staff vs Student challenge.

This latter competition was held as usual at Uplands, and the day after the completion of the Payless Open. Needless to say, the course played extremely tough, made even more so by a strong wind. Seven matches were played, with both sides winning two and three being halved.

Nine students represented the team this season. To all of them, my thanks on a job well done.

A Picture

Anger, envy and pride,
The turbulent sky never takes
A person in mind but
Trusts the bright, virtuous sun away,
Embeds it in the profound sea,
And blurs the way of the miserable sail.

The fierceness of the cloud
Stroms the golden sunset
Weathers the iron courage of its enemy,
Deposits a gloom of despair
On the sheet of shimmering waters.

Burning passion of the bronze sun,
outbursts a grin of delight,
Kisses the wreck and torment
Brought by the arrows from the sullen sky,
And smiles on clam carpet of liquid blue.

At times
A buffer escapes the gnawing pains,
Buries itself in ditch water.
Buoy up with new hope,
Victor melts the pitiless cold.
Wipes the last tear stolen down the creek,
Sails towards the crystal beam.

Everfresh

A glass bottle lies on a window sill,
The picture of a shiny red apple and
The logo of the Everfresh Juice Company
Immortalized in print on its front.
In the background a lawnmower buzzes
Amongst the red-leaved trees and the sunbeams,
Of which one shines through the window itself.
The sunbeam lands on the orange peel
That is nailed to the wall.

The curiosity of this sight allows attention to wander
And in this moment of distraction a gust of wind
Blows the bottle of the window.
It falls and shatters into a thousand pieces.
At the same time a small star in a distant corner
Of a not-so-distant galaxy explodes forever,
And no one notices except those who lived there.

Welcome to Life

It was kind of funny. I walked into a bar the other night. How cliché. It was really kind of a weird place, there was a sign above the door that said "Welcome to Life. 3 Drinks Minimum." Maybe I dreamt it, but I don't think so. It was real. I could touch things. I could smell smells. I could see sights. I could hear sounds. The bartender was a Hungarian guy. I didn't speak to him much. I can never understand people with bad accents. There was a sign above the drink cabinet that said "Women are not permitted to have children in the bar." As if a pregnant woman would want to come to a bar anyway! In one corner there was a musician. He was one of my favorites but I didn't recognize him at first because the last thing you expect in the corner of a small bar you happen to wander into the middle of the city is Terence Trent D'Arby singing "She Kissed Me." In the other corner there were two guys. They were obviously pissed to the gills because they were having a sword fight with those light sabers from Star Wars. In the middle, there was a huge rink where a couple of midgets were Mudwrestling. The tall one was winning. Then I noticed this incredible woman sitting at a stool. I went over to say hi but when she turned around I found out that she was a He. I ordered a beer and went to sit down. A hippie came to sit with me. We spoke for a long time but I have no idea what the conversation was about. I think it had something to do with being naked and the benefits of Chinese medicines, but something about a giant gazebo. Might have also figured into it. After he left I stayed there alone for a couple of hours, but I only had one other drink. The bartender gave me a rum and Coke even though I had ordered a Long Island ice tea. It tasted like p---. I tripped on the owner's Chihuahua on my way out. I broke its spine. The owner walked over to me, but he didn't say anything. He didn't even say anything about the fact that I had only had two drinks, so I quietly walked past him without saying anything, either. When I turned around he was gone. But then, so was the bar.

Was it Worth it?

Jane Vallette sat quietly, her attention focused on a spider's web in the corner of Mr. Mann's English classroom. Her attention returned when Mr. Mann asked if she would like to rejoin the class. She blushed and chewed her thumbnail while her classmates laughed. Mr. Mann reprimanded them and carried on with class. He assigned them a short story.

Henry Pismus was drawing a picture of Mr. Mann, when he overheard him tell the class that they had to write a short story about something that had affected their lives. Henry immediately looked at his long time friend, Jane Vallette. They had gone to school together since Kindergarten. Jane has always been quiet, kind and had never liked attention. He never understood this, because he was quite the opposite. They had remained good friends, most likely due to the fact Henry was always aware of how sensitive Jane was. He'd never tried to hurt her feelings or embarrass her or anything like that. He knew she respected him for this. Being the center of attention was fun for him, but lately he was more cruel than he remembered having been. Henry stopped standing up for Jane and instead started bugging her more.

Jane could sense that she and Henry were growing apart. Still in Mr. Mann's class, she finally returned his gaze, for Henry had been watching her for a long time. She felt the corners of her mouth begin to rise. First the left, then the right. Jane saw Henry start to return her smile. But when Louisa, or Weeza as she was called by her many friends, looked in his direction Henry smirked at Jane and nodded to "Weeza". She was hurt, yet not surprised. Jane silently reminded herself to ask Henry about his attitude towards her.

Several minutes later, Henry asked Jane what she was going to write about. "I don't know, maybe the day we started school, I guess" she replied. Henry thought what a good idea this was. He wished he had thought of it. He said jokingly "Good idea Jane, maybe I'll do it too."

Jane didn't believe he'd really do that, so she frowned, then attempted to smile. She tried to rid herself of an anxious feeling in her stomach. Then she heard Mr. Mann ask Henry what he was planning to write about. He replied that he might describe the day he started school. "Great idea Henry, you could really go somewhere with that" encouraged Mr. Mann. Jane was instantly filled with rage. "Henry Pismus, you creep, you stole my idea" she exclaimed. Mr. Mann asked Henry if he used Jane's idea.

For a very brief moment Henry looked as if he was going to confess. That quickly changed, however, and he began to defend himself. "I told Jane my idea and she said she wanted to use it and then she told me she was going to make all this up just to get me into trouble, but I never thought that she'd stoop this low." lied Henry. "This is ridiculous, both of you. Do the same thing if you want" said Mr. Mann. Only now both of them wanted to hurt and embarrass the other.

Jane wrote her story and saw Henry writing his. They were both writing stories intending to hurt the other. Jane wrote about the time Henry wet his pants in grade 5. Henry wrote about the first day of grade 4, when Jane was crying because her mummy left. They both read their stories aloud to the class. The class roared with laughter and although they both intended to feel better after reading their stories, they felt worse. They were both embarrassed. Not embarrassed that the class knew these personal things, but embarrassed that they both had gone against their morals and principals, simply to protect their egos. Class ended and they left, glaring at each other.

Later, Jane was going to fetch her books from her locker. When she got to it, someone had written on it "Why don't you go break someone else's arm?". Now to someone unaware of what this referred to, it would seem like nothing, but to Jane, it was everything. A week ago, Jane's good friend had been teaching her how to wrestle. Jane had been trying to do a move that her friend had taught her, when she heard something in her friend's arm crack. Mary, Jane's friend, had a hairline fracture to her humerus. Jane still felt awful and had only told Henry about it. Jane felt betrayed and angry that Henry had written about it on her locker. All day he had been doing these sorts of things to Jane to hurt her feelings. She was tired of going out of her way to avoid him. She was tired of having him treat her this. She knew she could never act the way he was, but she could show him how much he hurt her.

The next time Henry saw Jane he was about to put her down, when he saw the look of hurt in her eyes. He turned around and didn't say anything, but he too felt hurt and embarrassed. He tried to shrug away this guilty feeling, but he couldn't. He kept seeing her face in his mind's eye. He had always thought that as long as he was insulting her, and she was insulting him, that he would be fine. But his conscience kept telling him he had been wrong. He knew Jane would never trust him again, even if they did rekindle their friendship. This made him miserable.

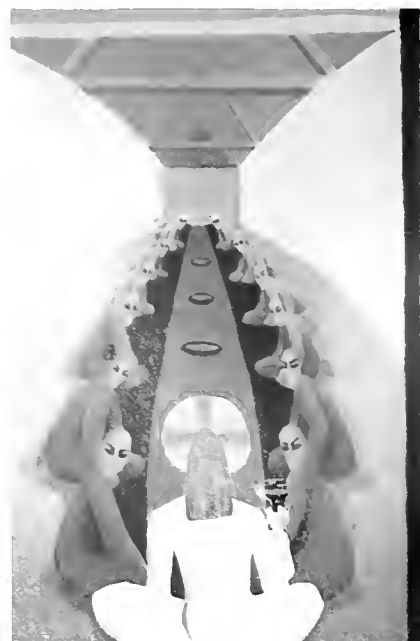

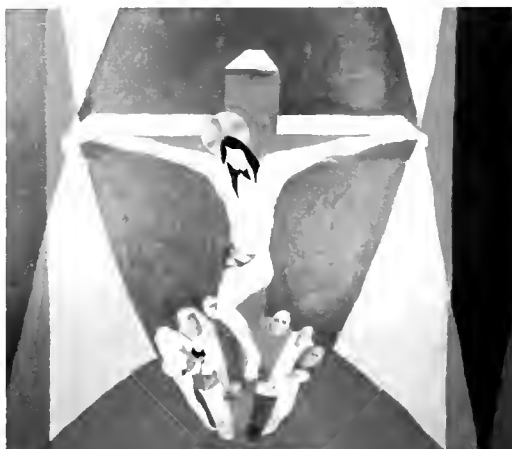

Jane was hurt. She could never trust him again. She left school feeling as lost as Henry.

Although they apologized to each other, they were never close friends again. They talked once in a while, but gradually grew apart. Henry often thought about Jane and she, him, but after that day, they both felt as though they had left something behind. They probably did, but they never spoke of their sense of loss or tried to understand what they had lost. Instead the question they both constantly asked themselves was, "Was it worth it?"

DRAMA FESTIVAL

MISSING: Mr. Colin Skinner

This year for the Victorian Drama Festival, St. Michaels entered two plays. One was a comedic, student-written play performed by several students in grades 11 and 12. The other play, entitled "Never Swim Alone" was performed by David Murray, Milos Repicky and Tanya Boteju. Directed by the ever resourceful Colin Skinner, "Never Swim Alone" was a grand success. Everyone who saw it in Esquimalt School's theatre enjoyed the wit, humour and competitive theme of the play. Unfortunately the trio did not move on to the provincial level tournament (but who wants to go to Kamloops anyway!). They had great fun however and were especially grateful for the unexpected standing ovation they recieved from the entire school after a special morning performance.

Dave and Milos should be truly admired for their hard work and dedication. Their determination to "become their characters" lead to a scary resemblance in their real lives! Tanya should be noted for the courage she showed in standing before the entire school with nothing but a "blue bathing suit!"

Special, special thanks goes to stage managers Erin Crystal and Emily Scarfe. And of course, no 'thankyous' would be complete with out a big one big one to Colin Skinner who not only made this play work but who also managed to build a 10-foot-tall lifeguard chair in his precious, spare time! Also, thanks to all who watched "Never Swim Alone" and enjoyed it!!!

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Yearly, the Victorian chapter of the international English-Speaking Union organizes their "Shakespeare on the Platform" competition, an invitational contest involving elocution and drama students from many schools.

The competition presents a unique challenge because the student is required to perform a soliloquy and a soone without using props or costumes. This year's competition included the winner from last year, and students who had performed in local Shakespeare productions.

Although several students were interested, Britt-Marie Luckhurst was chosen to represent the school, and performed brilliantly in Claremont's theatre to take an unanimous first place. Her transvestite Rosalind giving lover's advice to a rustic couple won laughter from the audience for its humour and irony, and a carefully detailed sonnet of mutual blame was made moving and comprehensible despite its deliberate complexity.

Britt-Marie has added to her many accomplishments by achieving the trophy in the E.-S. U. competition as a representative of S.M.U.S.

SOUND AND VIDEO CLUB

In the beginning there was Chris Hibbins, Andrew and the uncompromising Don MacKay. However this year Alistair Zacks, Alex Lisman, a guy named Russ (Russ Wong), and of course Jamie Genge have taken over . . . literally. With the grateful assistance of Mr. MacKay, the Tech Crew has grown, improving its equipment and cables dramatically. This superior crew gave their heart and soul to light, amplify and videotape the events of the last year. Through Gondoliers, Love of the Nightingale, Grad Fashion Show, Mesmer, Choral Concerts, Art & Music Evenings, Grade 11 plays, 4 hour Dances and various other productions the crew along with help from Andrea Leung, Geoff Adams, Bradley Hanson and Video Club members Pat Davis, Patrick Frisby, Ivy Lam, Alex Martin, Nick Jupe and intermittent others have done their best at helping SMUS. We all thank Dan, Bruce and Hibbins from Westcoast A/V, Ailsa Lenk and the Dance Committee, Doug Parkes and the Janitors, and the kitchen Staff from Brown Hall for their assistance with the School Dances. Fortunately this year no video members were hurt during the French Video rush, no speakers exploded and no lights fell from the sky . . . but there is always next year.

MUSIC

The 1994/1995 school year for the senior music department was exciting, challenging, busy and fun filled. The classes included: grade 9, 10, 11 and 12 bands, choirs and strings, music composition in grades 11 and 12 and music history in grade 12. Again, this year, cross grade concert band, jazz band and orchestra were held at 7:30 A.M. and we thank those parents who diligently got their children to school on time for those rehearsals.

We started out the year by taking 60 students to Vancouver to see "Cats" This was an exceptional show and our thanks go out to Mr. Keith Murdoch for arranging it.

This was followed by the Thanksgiving Harvest Service where the choir and strings performed wonderfully under the direction of Mrs. Humphreys and Mrs. Williams. Shortly after was the chapel mural dedication where the brass ensemble, strings and choirs added a nice touch to the event.

November saw the Remembrance Day Service at which the orchestra and concert band performed together and separately. We were again privileged to have Mr. Buckingham play the pipes and Stephanie Gill play a very expressive version of "The Last Post" and "Reveille".

During term 2 auditions were held for the B.C. Music Educators Honour Choir and for the U.B.C. Honour band. Angela Tongue, Jong Taek Ban, Surya Tjandra, Tessa Anglin, Christina Haldane and Stephanie Gill were picked for the choir while Sean Carrie and Meredith Grey were picked for the U.B.C. Honour Band. Also, several of our senior choral students were asked to join the Victoria Prima Choir ages 16 to 25 which is conducted by Dr. Bruce More of UVIC. Our congratulations to all these fine players and singers for their outside musical achievements.

On Dec. 1 the bands and strings and choirs held a Fall Concert in the old gym. This event was well recieved by all with some of the highlights being solos by Alex Henri-Bhargava, Olivier Gervais Harreman, Chantel Nowak and Paula Sanglap. This was also the first appearance of the newly formed Alumni Choir which Mrs. Humphreys rehearses Wednesday evenings. Our thanks go out to Alistair Zacks, Alex Lisman and the members of the Audio/ Video Club for setting it all up.

Following our Fall Concert was the Carol Service in our Chapel where the Brass Ensemble played an arrangement of Mozart's "Ave Verum" as well as accompanying the carols. The choirs sounded excellent and added a fine touch to the service.

February was musical time again with this year's production being "The Gondoliers". Mrs. Humphreys was musical director and along with the help of Mr. MacKay and Mrs. Skinner turned the show into a very fine production. Our video arts club, put together a very acceptable video show. Special thanks to Alex Lisman, Andrea Leung, Geoff Adams and Alex Henri-Bhargava for all their technical assistance. A good time was had by all.

Music festivals results for this year included the concert band receiving an overall good rating, the brass ensemble an excellent and the jazz ensemble a silver medal rating. The choir results were 9/10 choir, good and 11/12 choir, excellent. The full orchestra and the string orchestra each recieved excellent ratings with the strings being invited to play in the strings highlight concert. Congratulations to all the participants in the various music festivals.

Our spring concert and art show this year was held May 31 and was a very successful event with all the musicians in the school participating. Everyone enjoyed the music, staging and lights but again went home wondering what it would be like to have a real performing arts centre. We were all pleasantly surprised by the quantity and quality of works presented by the art and music departments. Mrs. Humphreys' choir again included members of the new Alumni Choir, Mrs. Williams' orchestra played a memorable rendition of the Symphony in C major by Franz Schubert and Mr. MacKay's bands were in fine form with highlights being Gustav Holst's "Eb Military Suite" and jazz band soloists, Alex Henri-Bhargava, Adam Molineux, Patrick Gill, Jamie Genge and Russel Wong.

This was followed a week later by our second annual "Composer's Concert" featuring the works of Mr. MacKay's music composition students. Many of the works were played by computer, however, we also had a string quartet, brass quintet and solo exploration pieces for French Horn, electric bass and electric guitar. We hope this opportunity continues to present itself every year.

The last events of the year were prize day and grad. The orchestra played for prize day with the highlights being the premiere of a piece of original music by Alister Zacks, a grade 12 music composition student. His work for string orchestra, "Weathering the Storm" was very well recieved by all.

The jazz band and the concert choir reassembled for grad with the gracious assistance of several students who postponed their trips home to play grad. Again we had some original music from Alistair Zacks. He conducted his band work "Spankin' New Shoes" which provided a nice break in the ceremonies.

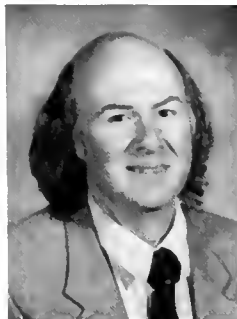

This year's winner of the Blencoe Cup for best all round music student was Jong Taek Ban whose contribution to band, orchestra, musical chorus, pit band and various ensembles over the years made him well deserving of this award. Our congratulations go out to him.

With memories of all the great performances along with hopes for an equally successful coming year we leave 1994/95.

As always, the students of this school have been fortunate in the quality of their representatives on the Student Council. The Council has met on a regular basis throughout the year in order to present ideas and suggestions from their peers. Many minor concerns have been resolved and this year has seen some innovations as well. For example it is thanks to the Council that numerous extra curricular activities have taken place. These range in variety from Ukranian Egg decorating to Car mechanics and Self defence. We hope that the scope of program will grow next year for the benefit of our student body.

On campus we have been successful in having a bike rack installed, thanks to the generosity of the Parents' Auxiliary and we hope that the fencing of the fields along McRae Avenue will be completed later this year.

My thanks to the council members for a job well done.

F.R: J. Ivany, V. Singla, B. Smith, R. Ivany, S. Inouye, R. Green, P. Andrachuk, J. Singh, K. Wilmott

This school year saw some remarkable accomplishments in the school debating program. A record number of debaters began polishing their skills and attended many tournaments with admirable results. Senior debater Ben Young and junior Keir Wilmott succeeded particularly admirably, at BC Youth Parliament in the former case, and at the International Independent Schools Public Speaking Tournament in the latter. This tournament also showcased SMUS debaters Robin Featherstone and Rohanna Green, each of whom performed most commendably.

Many other seniors and juniors participated in the Ravenhurst debates in Nanaimo, in the Newman-FISA debates at Brentwood, and the Regional elimination tournament at Glenlyon-Norfolk School. To them go our thanks. Several SMUS debaters also proceeded to the Provincial tournament, held this year in Burnaby, and to them we send our congratulations. We look forward to a season of further successes next year.

LEFT TO RIGHT: Mr. K. Murdoch, Ernest Salcedo, Richard Johns, Caroline Rueckert, Marc Elbers

The regional Commonwealth Conference was held this year at St. Margaret's School on the weekend of February 25th and 26th. The students from S.M.U.S. were: Caroline Rueckert and Marc Elbers who represented Nigeria, and Richard Johns and Ernest Salcedo who represented Australia.

As always the conference was a great success with the delegates debating topics ranging from the power of the multinational corporations to concerns over the world population explosion. Richard and Ernest recieved the compliment of being unanimously selected, by the conference delegates, to chair one of the topics.

The occasion provided a tremendous learning experience for our four representatives as they debated international affairs with a number of their peers from other schools on Vancouver Island.

This is the fourth year that S.M.U.S. has had a peer counselling group, but the first appearance in the year book. Until now the PC's have been unsung heroes, quietly doing their thing supporting friends. It is an eclectic assortment representing different groups and grades throughout the school.

Peer counsellors at S.M.U.S. follow a code of friendship; they care about people, are available to listen, are informed about a lot of issues and services, and they don't pass on private information. Peer counsellors don't take on other people's problems, nor do they provide solutions. They listen, they help to clarify, and they help with information and decision making strategies. They also encourage people to get professional help when necessary.

Stephanie Olsen is the longest serving veteran of the group, in her fourth year as a PC. Other grads with several years of commitment are Erin Cristall, Emily Scarfe, Adrienne Watt and Oona Ross.

Cathie Loiacono, Rina Chadha, Jo Holdsworth, Meggan Hunt, Jack Wong, Ben White have been involved since they were in grade nine.

First time PC's this year are Samantha MacKay, Allison Harkness, Johnny Chao, Gabe Borzoni, Sara Perry, Jono Liang, Curran Crawford, Amy Boulton, Tanya Boteju, Matt Turner, Mahat Johnson, Sarah Inouye, Rohanna Green, Michelle Butler and Rachel Boulton.

Many thanks to all these students for adding 'caring and sharing' to their busy academic, athletic, and fine arts lives. PC's meet every week all year round, a huge commitment.

The Legend of the Sassenachs

Once upon a time, Johnny, in a land far away, there was a group of people known as the Sassenachs.

Who were they, Grandpa?

Well, Johnny, they were a race of strong intelligent, good-looking men, who inhabited a big building known as "Symons House". They all lived together, with only a tribe known as the "Tommyknots" to keep them company on the weekends.

Were they really all that good-looking, Grandpa?

Well, no, Johnny, they weren't really except for maybe one or two. But most of them had to get by on intelligence and strength. The leader of the Sassenachs was known as Jong Taek, and he was such a good leader that sometimes he stayed awake all night just to think of new things for the Sassenachs to do.

Wow, what did he think of?

Well, in the end, all he could come up with was basketball but there were so many Sassenachs who were good at this, like Scott and Jassie, and the famous "Wayne", that there was never a time when there wasn't a Sassenach playing basketball! And smart, too - the leader's assistant was called Eugene, and he was known for two things. One of them was from Winslow Tribe, and the other was extremely good marks.

What else did they do, Grandpa?

Well, it turned out that there were some Sassenachs, called Ryan and Duncan, who were very good at making silly voices, so naturally these two lived together, and forever after, anyone who wanted to hear a silly voice just visited those two. There were also Sassenachs who could play cricket, squash, or badminton, and another Duncan who was pretty good at poetry and music. So you see, Johnny, the tribe of the Sassenachs was a very talented, diverse tribe, and far far better than all of the neighbouring tribes. However, sadly, in the end it came time for the oldest Sassenachs all to go away to University.

Oh, how sad.

Well, yes, Johnny, but in a way it was good, because we know there are many young Sassenachs who are just waiting to be the leaders of the tribe themselves, and although the older ones are gone, the story will always continue.

Hooray!!! That was great! Can I hear another story?

No you can't. It's time for bed. Good night, Johnny.

Oh well, good night . . . Grandpa Jones.

- Mr. Frazer Hannah

TIMMIS HOUSE

I will long remember 1994/1995 as a happy year in Timmis House. Much bonding and chummy behaviour made this a pleasant place to live and work. With only five prefects, this atmosphere was a blessing as their role, while challenging and purposeful, required less patching up than one would expect in a girls' residence. The staff, too, have found the house to be a cohesive one - a sort of sisterhood which can only be created by the girls themselves, girls who know about sharing and supporting.

It has, indeed, been a peaceful year, despite the frequent hair dyeing incidents and late night talk sessions. We, the students and staff, have learned much about life and friendship and living together. We have learned that placing all Grade 9 girls on one floor could well be a mistake. We have learned that Safeway delivers groceries and that Dairy Queen ice cream cakes melt in thirty minutes. We have learned that Manic Panic hair dye has a shade that precisely matches Roland McDonald's hair colour and that Mrs. Cook's hair dresser knows how to cover it up nicely! We have learned that in living together with people from all corners of the globe, there will be moments of extreme happiness and moments of despair. Most importantly, we have learned that living together in harmony can be a terrific experience.

As the year ends it is obvious that this has been a good one. The girls have indeed bonded. They have made friends that will undoubtedly last a lifetime. As a group, their good natured attitude and willingness to contribute has made this a year to remember.

The prefects must be thanked for, although they have had to mop up this year, their gently leadership certainly set the tone for us all. To our Head of House, Ann Valikoski, to Wendy Hung, Erin Cristall, Nafisa Fera and Caroline Brown, we thank you. You have been appreciated.

To Mrs. Hyde-Lay, Ms. Rees and Mrs. Hart goes my sincere thanks for their love of the girls, for their dedication and their support. As the last Grade 12 leaves I sadly bid them farewell. I wish them much happiness and success as they enter the real world. I hope that the experience they have had here, in this house, has prepared them for what lies ahead. They will be missed.

To those who return to sisterhood, I look forward to another year of fun and frivolity, safe in the knowledge that the Grade 9's will now have matured nicely into Grade 10 students! Have a happy summer with your families.

- Kathleen Cook

BARNACLE HOUSE

This year whistled along the tracks like an Express train. There were one or two whistle-stops and minor derailments, but, on the whole, things progressed fairly smoothly. Everyone grew, some more than others, in many different ways. There was a lot of laughter and a few tears, but nothing too drastic occurred, and the train arrived at its pre-arranged destination virtually on time.

Considering the assortment of cultural backgrounds, our boys settled in rapidly, and quickly made friends. This year our boys hailed from Alaska, Korea, Taiwan, Hong-Kong, Indonesia and Mexico, as well as the Yukon, Alberta and B.C.

Unfortunately we did not excell in house games, but there are happy memories of barbecues, picnics, pizza and parties and movie nights. There are stories of water balloon fights, Denny's and Dairy Queen expeditions, and inter-house raids during electrical outages (led by Mr. G???).

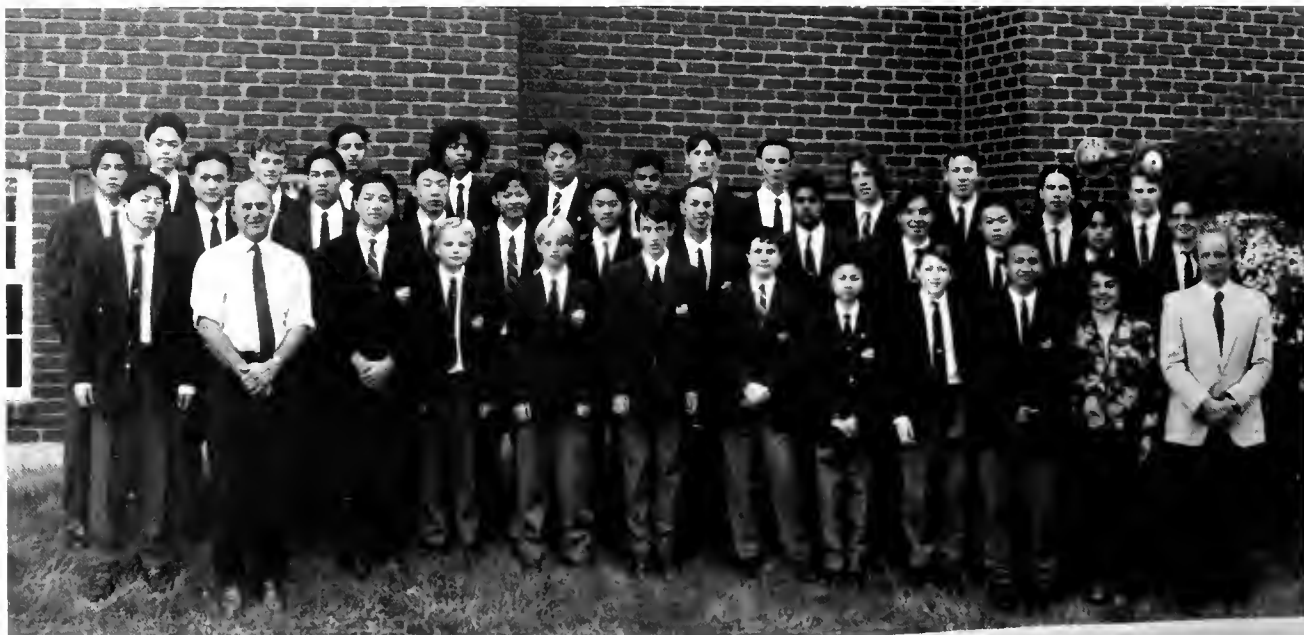

A big vote of appreciation goes to Woo-je Choi, Head of House, and Johnny Chao, his assistant, for excellent leadership, and also to Josh, Elliott, Marshall and Tim for outstanding support as prefects. Thank you also to Bruce Kuklinski, Jim Chestnut and Mario Biello for their commitment to caring for the Barnacle family.

As we say goodbye to our graduates, they leave us with many wonderful memories. We will always remember Jackson's laugh (Ha! Ha! Ha!), Elliott's wonderful smile and patience (who said Korean's had quick-temper?), and Johnny's amazing enthusiasm for everything, including St. Michaels. We'll remember, too, Justin's unflagging efforts to be good (I'm a nice guy, aren't I??), Marshall's unfailing thoughtfulness, Tim's gentlemanly tact. Josh's mediation skills (and unfolding love story with L.K.) Ryan's adaptation to "the rules" and Conroy's quiet comings and goings (does anyone know where???).

Congratulations graduates, and good luck as you stay on the main track to your various destinations. Don't get stuck in a siding! We will always remember you and hope you will return some day. Finally, to the boys of Barnacle House, thanks to all thirty-five of you, for being a family of whom we can be proud.

- Bill and Sylvia Greenwell

BOLTON HOUSE

There are two advantages to writing a house report in the July rather than when school is still in session: first, distance (and a sun dappled view over the Kent Weald) casts a roseate aura over the year's events; second, unlike the reports required at the end of each term, it is improbable that the house parent will discover that one of the more saintly of his flock has been running a numbers racket from his room and is wanted by the police on three continents, thus necessitating a re-write. Admittedly, one is apt to forget some of the smaller but nonetheless challenging crises dreamed up by some devious house committee to appear like burrs under the house master's saddle just when he is looking forward to a smooth ride, but wherein he's the pleasure in writing these reports if not assuring members of other houses that ours was trouble-free all year and that rumours to the contrary were vile canards prompted by envy? Of course Cedric did not set fire to Mount Tolmie; nor did Antonio break a leg bullfighting with the traffic, Kaz fall victim to a hormonal attack in the cinema or Vincent and Sameer find true love in unexpected places. Nobody left by the fire exits, everyone got up for breakfast (except Seb, who wanted to postpone reading about the Maple Leafs for as long as possible), and Euan and Bawo received the Goodwin Citation for Good Housekeeping, moving Mr. Goodwin to observe that never in the field of human conflict had he seen anything like their room. We did have the occasional flood, due in part to a lack of familiarity with some of the more esoteric features of Mr. Crapper's invention, such as its use of water, but are now adept in the use of the plunger and intend to press for the inclusion of toilet plunging in next year's house championship.

Which brings me to a matter which, in spirit of modesty that has always characterized our participation in the sports competition, I was loth to mention. Thanks to the leadership and athleticism of our Grade 12's, the willingness of most people to turn out regularly for house teams, the spirited contribution of the Winslow and Timmis girls, and in no small part to the energetic organization of Neal Allen, Bolton won the House Championship again. With toilet plunging a demonstration sport and therefore not counting for points! Next year's 12's have large shoes to fill, but we can look to the future with confidence, as one of our major strengths had been our depth, Bulent, Sam, Chris, Ed, Vincent and Danny to the fore, and Jonathan and David showing great promise. And no-one will beat us for participation.

No year provides unalloyed pleasure but this has been a good one in many ways. For their support, compassion (particularly towards me!), and constant readiness to give time to the house, thanks go to Messrs! Jeremy Goodwin, Todd Milford and Cam Culham. To our 12's - Richard, Euan, Pip, Seb, Jake, Bawo, Ryusuke, Tom, Surya and Sacha - our thanks for your leadership in establishing a user-friendly community and best wishes for the future.

Learning to live together in a civilized way is one of the greatest challenges facing humanity, and we seem to have managed pretty well. So would whoever took the plunger please give it back?

- Rob Cameron

WINSLOW HOUSE

Sara Parry * Danni Crawford * Amy Tsang * Betty Peng * Serena Peng * Carol Lee * Judy Lee * Kate Levering

Step aboard the Winslow House magic elevator - showcasing the world of Winslow House 1994/1995.

First stop - the office: A comfortable place to visit and to chat with house staff; Jen (Brown) Baess, Sylvia Hamilton, Catherine Payne and PKT himself.

Next stop the First Floor - home to most grade 10 girls and a lot of energy and emotion. Laughter fills the hallway as Betty Boop and company giggle from room to room. Watch out for room 106 - Becky and Connie insist it is haunted! Danni, housekeeper with a purpose, appears monthly with a new hair style - how short will she go?

Moving on up to the Second Floor: Watch your step - the hallway has transformed into an obstacle course with Vicky and Priya's "stuff" spilling out into the hall. Ivy surely owns stock in Domino's Pizza. Step softly and watch out for possessed mice. Most of the veterans of the house live on this floor and they certainly know how to shake things up. Ji-Sun, Judy and Julie dance, well, all the time (in between face masks that is). Leah and Indira's room is the gathering spot for many to study, chat, laugh, scream, perform and a place often visited by house parents!

Next stop - Third Floor - A hallway decorating party in the latter part of the year saw everything from "paper wear" to a bicycle frame become art on the wall. Music was an important factor on this floor; Emily brought out her record player and 80's records for impromptu hallway dancing, Sara never left her room without singing and skipping down the hall, and Fiona wins the prize for the loudest stereo.

The girls enjoyed many activities together including; a bowling night, movies, dance parties, dinners at PKT's, 7am's, power walking, cardio funk, gating, baking lessons, X-File nights with Mrs. H. and Pooks, midnight visits to Barnacle, chocolate chip cookies, a bridal shower for Mrs. Baess, a power outage and memories and friendships that will last a lifetime.

Getting off at this stop are the graduates, Leslie Preston (who did a great job as Head of House), Ivy, Iris, Natasha, Leah, Indira, Shirley, Betty, Amy, Ainslie, Emily, Sara and Fiona. Best wishes for a lifetime of happiness and success.

"Good Luck in the Future"

The background of the entire page is a classic marbled paper pattern. It features a complex, organic design with swirling, vein-like shapes in various shades of gray, black, and white. The pattern is dense and covers the entire surface, creating a textured, artistic backdrop for the text.
